Police Disperse Rally of Reds In Paris Battle

Bottles, Plates, Cafe Chairs Weapons in Street Fighting

PARIS, April 5 (INS).—A thousahd club-wielding policemen smashed a rally of thousands of rioting French Communists tonight in a battle on the fashionable Champs-Elysees Boulevard in Paris.

Police informants said that 120 Communist rioters were arrested. At least 20 policemen were injured, six of whom were hospitalized. Communist casualties were believed to be even larger.

Communist women joined the men in hand-to-hand fighting with the police, and also seized bottles and plates from sidewalk cafe tables to hurl at the police.

WORST IN YEARS

Faces of policemen and Communists were cut and bruised in one of the worst Paris street fights in years.

The battle began when policemen charged Communists holding a protest rally in front of the Figaro newspaper offices.

The Communists were protesting the publication of the memoirs of Otto Skorzeny, former SS (Elite Guard) Nazi colonel who rescued Benito Mussolini from an Italian prison during the war.

A previous demonstration and battle last Friday resulted in injury to scores and the arrest of 20 demonstrators.

LARGER SCALE

But tonight's battle was on a larger scale. The Friday disturbance involved about 500 Communists and 300 policemen.

An International News Photos cameraman, Allyn Baum, was severely beaten by police in tonight's battle while trying to take pictures.

Last Friday Robert Yookum, a reporter for the European edition of The New York Herald Tribune was knocked unconscious by a policeman's club.

The Communist demonstrators marched into the small part of the Rond-Point intersection in front of the Figaro offices just before the dinner hour.

FIGHT BACK

When the police decided to break up the rally and charged with their clubs, the Communists fought back and the battle swirled up the boulevard.

The Communists uprooted lampposts, made clubs by breaking up sidewalk cafe chairs, and also hurled stones. Spectators scattered, some of them getting refuge behind the closed iron gates of the swanky Claridge Hotel. The Communists hurled whole chairs at the policemen, too, in the riot.

They ransacked the cafes to get weapons to fight the policemen.

HIT FROM BEHIND

Cameraman Baum was hit from behind on the nape of the neck as he sought to explain he was an accredited photographer entitled to take pictures of the battle.

Then he was knocked down on the ground by the policemen who tried to destroy his camera.

Children Perish In Blaze

TORONTO, April 6 (Thursday) (CP).—Six children were burned to death early today when fire destroyed a frame dwelling in Scarboro Township on the eastern outskirts of Toronto.

The fire broke out shortly after 1 a.m. in the home of Roy Harding, father of the victims.

Mr. and Mrs. Harding saved two other children but were unable to help the six who perished in the flaming dwelling.

The victims were Edith, eight; Earl, ten; Tim, 11; John, 13; Davis, 15, and Ruth, 16.

DIVED THROUGH WINDOW

Harding said he awoke to find the rear of the house in flames. His wife took three-year-old Howard out the front door, battling flames, while 14-year-old Paul dived through an upper window and escaped over the roof of an adjoining house.

Mrs. Harding tried to awaken the other children by shouting as she struggled to the door with the youngest child, but was forced out by the flames.

Nearly Doubled in Year

Three-Cent Boost Likely In Retail Coffee Prices

Retail price of coffee in Victoria probably will rise three cents next week.

Manufacturers raised their price by that amount two weeks ago. Wholesalers boosted the price to retailers last Monday, and retailers probably will start passing on the increase to the consumer next week after exhausting stocks bought at the old price.

The new increase will bring the price of standard brands to between 90 and 95 cents. In the last 12 months, the price has nearly doubled from the former figure of 50 to 55 cents.

A wholesaler said yesterday that a further increase is possible. If it comes, "dollar coffee" may be general on grocery store shelves.

CROP POOR

Reasons given for the phenomenal rise in coffee prices were speculation on the New York market, higher labor costs on plantations, a light crop this year, a large and steady increase in North American consumption and the alleged monopoly position of South American producers.

An article in the Toledo Blade, condensed in the Reader's Digest and distributed by North American Newspaper Alliance, says "the big reason behind coffee prices is the United States coffee drinker."

"Today the United States coffee drinker is consuming three cups for every two he drank before the war, at the phenomenal rate of more than three cups a day for every American over 14.

"The big fact behind coffee prices is that the United States uses 56 per cent of the world's supply," the article says. "So long as we consume at this rate, coffee will never be cheap again."

MORE PRODUCERS

Other observers point out, however, that under the "free-enterprise system" high coffee prices should bring more producers into the market, increasing the supply and lowering the price. If this held true, North America could look for increasing supplies from Kenya and other producing areas outside South America. At present, the great bulk of this continent's supply comes from South America.

However, the day of cheap labor is passing in South America and may be on its way out in Africa. This is seen as a more logical reason for a price permanently higher than in prewar days, when coffee commonly sold as low as 22 cents a pound.

Communist Demonstrators Routed by Police

Worried British Government Raises Butter, Bacon Prices

LONDON, April 5 (INS).—A worried British Laborite Government announced tonight a rise in butter and bacon prices.

Food Minister Maurice Webb told the House of Commons that to keep within the ceiling on food subsidies, the price of butter will go up 5 cents a pound on April 23, and bacon will go up 2⅕ cents a pound, May 21.

With the increases, butter will cost the equivalent of 36 cents a pound and bacon 34 cents a pound. The subsidy for butter is 14 cents and bacon 18½ cents.

SEEK HIGHER PRICES

Farmers have been seeking higher prices for milk, potatoes, meat, eggs and grain to compensate for the loss of the subsidy on feeding stuffs and fertilizers.

The cost of the feeding stuffs subsidy is some $100,000,000 and it was withdrawn by the last Parliament. Although the subsidy for fertilizers will not be withdrawn until July 1, half of it—some $21,000,000—must be borne this year either by the farmers or the public.

Prime Minister Attlee's Government is very worried about the rising prices, for political reasons as well as economic ones. It holds only a four-seat majority in Commons, picking up another seat tonight by a by-election at Sheffield.

HALF-POINT BOOST

Webb said the butter and bacon increases would involve an increase in the cost-of-living index of a little more than half a point, and he added:

"We hope we will not have to make further increases, at any rate for some time."

The Government faces many dilemmas in its dangerous economic plight.

In the case of food costs, the Government does not want to offend the farmers, whose support will be needed desperately in the next general elections. Rural areas voted heavily for the Conservative Party in the February election.

But forcing the consumers to absorb new sacrifices through higher food costs is likely to cost the Laborites many votes in the cities.

Labor Retains Sheffield Seat In By-Election

LONDON, April 5 (CP).—Labor today won the first by-election of the new Parliament, raising its precarious over-all majority to four by retaining the seat at Neepsend, Sheffield.

However, Labor's majority was reduced to 12,996 over its opponents from the winning margin of 16,006 in the February 23 general election.

Sir Frank Soskice, Labor candidate, polled 22,080 in the traditionally-Labor constituency in the big steel city. The Conservative-Liberal candidate, James P. Hunt, got 9,385, while E. L. Moore, school teacher running as Communist candidate, could muster only 728.

Labor's majority in the House—not counting casualties—had been three before today's by-election, held due to the resignation of Harry Morris, who won the seat for Labor in the February 23 election. Morris resigned to open a seat for Sir Frank, who was appointed solicitor-general although he suffered a personal defeat in the February 23 election.

The standing in the Commons now is: Labor 313, Conservatives 297, Liberals 9, Irish Nationalists 2, Independent 1, vacant 2. The neutral speaker completes the 625-seat House.

Reports on Coast Guard Puzzle Ottawa Sources

OTTAWA, April 5 (CP).—Plans for a coast guard-type service in Canadian waters have not yet been dealt with by the Government, informed sources insisted tonight, despite Vancouver statements of Fisheries Minister Mayhew that a coast guard service might be in operation on the West Coast this year.

Best information available here was that Mr. Mayhew was anticipating Cabinet action on recommendations—not yet presented to the Government—of an interdepartmental committee which for several months has been studying means of improving search and rescue facilities on Canada's coasts and inland waters.

This committee was set up by the Government to make recommendations dealing with the creation of a full-fledged coast guard or the co-ordination of existing facilities such as those of the R.C.A.F. and the R.C.M.P., now under various agencies.

Informed quarters said it was probable the committee, rather than recommending establishment of a relatively expensive new coast guard, would advocate a system of co-ordinating the search and rescue operations already available.

However, they expressed some puzzlement at Mr. Mayhew's statements concerning a West Coast setup, in view of the fact that the committee was still considering the problem.

Grants Slated For Province

OTTAWA, April 5 (CP).—More than $11,500 in health grants have been earmarked for development of British Columbia Public Health Laboratory Services, the Federal Health Department announced tonight.

A $6,600 grant has been approved for laboratory equipment to increase training facilities and $4,900 will be used to buy additional equipment for B.C.'s Public Health Laboratory Services.

The department said surveys had shown "a great shortage" of laboratory technicians in the west coast province. Training facilities were being increased immediately by 30 per cent with the training of technicians to be carried out mainly at the Vancouver General and St. Paul's Hospital, Vancouver.

Children Find Drugs Cache

VANCOUVER, April 5 (CP).—A large quantity of narcotics, of little value on the underworld market, was turned over to police today after it was found in a ditch by school children.

Genuine Celestial Flying Saucer

This is said to be one of the clearest photographs ever made of the planet Saturn with its beautifully defined rings. It was made on the 100-inch telescope at the Mount Wilson Observatory in California. In these days of "flying saucer" stories, the planet could pass for one of these fabulous gadgets, provided, of course, that it was observed with a 100-inch eye.

Oak Bay Mill Rate Unchanged

Oak Bay's 1950 mill rate will remain the same as last year but the taxable assessment on improvements has been raised by five per cent—from 50 to 55.

Meeting in committee late last night, the municipal council wrestled with the estimates and became the first Greater Victoria municipality to strike the 1950 mill rate.

It is estimated that the increased assessment on improvements will represent about three mills.

BOOST FORECAST

Oak Bay taxpayers had been bracing themselves for a boost. Reeve P. A. Gibbs said about three weeks ago he was hoping to maintain the 1949 rate but thought a slight increase might result from increased school costs and salary boosts awarded municipal employees. Ratepayers, therefore, had their fingers crossed.

WITHHOLD DETAILS

Details of the estimates could not be released last night because municipal officials had to finalize the much-changed original budget. It is hoped detailed estimates can be released today, showing the complete breakdown of the cost of running the municipality.

Oak Bay this year faced a $13,000 increase in school costs, an estimated $10,000 bill for Winter road damage, $25,000 in debt charges and $12,000 in wage boosts.

Cheap Cement From Japan Feared in B.C.

VANCOUVER, April 5 (CP).—It was reported here today that city cement manufacturers "fear an eventual invasion of their market" by Japan.

The report quotes Harry Isler, port manager at Bellingham, Wash., as saying a big shipment of Japanese cement is en route to Vancouver aboard a British ship for shipment by rail to Bellingham and Seattle.

The cement, it is stated, was purchased and transported on a sterling basis and therefore could be sold in the United States much cheaper than cement can be manufactured there.

"We will fight this to the fullest extent," said the manager of one local cement firm. "If Japan tries to flood British Columbia with cheap cement we will immediately demand that the Federal Government invoke the Anti-Dumping Act."

Court Upholds Jail Terms

NEW YORK, April 5 (INS).—The United States Court of Appeals upheld today the contempt of court sentences imposed on five attorneys and one defendant during the trial of eleven top United States Communists.

Halt in Building Set for Today By Contractors

Major Projects to Be Closed: At Least 400 Workers Affected

All major city construction projects will be closed down tonight owing to building supply shortages resulting from the now seven-day-old strike of 71 employees of Evans, Coleman & Johnson Ltd., principal city builders' supply agency.

The decision, expected to affect directly a minimum of 400 city construction workers, was announced last night by officials of the Victoria Building Industries Exchange following a special meeting of some 25 major local contractors.

The shutdown will last until "it is possible for contractors to obtain materials and carry on building operations without interference," it was stated in a statement issued by the exchange.

Major projects affected by the work stoppage will be all new local government buildings, including the Post Office and the new Provincial Government buildings, schools and the new addition at St. Joseph's Hospital.

Not only will building contractors be affected by the strike, but work in other trades will slowly grind to a stop.

George Langdon, president of the Victoria Electrical Association, said last night that in most cases electrical contractors could carry on for a few days until they caught up with the builders but then they would have to quit too.

"We are working on the same jobs as most general contractors," he added, "and if they close down we will have to do the same."

Plasterers and plumbers will be affected in a similar manner.

TEXT OF STATEMENT

Text of the statement made by the builders' exchange follows.

"The strike of the Evans, Coleman employees is not our strike and we do not wish to take sides in the dispute, but the strike action has not been confined to the Evans, Coleman plant.

"Construction jobs throughout Victoria using building materials obtained from sources other than Evans, Coleman have been picketed and any materials obtained from sources other than Evans, Coleman have been picketed. Any materials ordinarily sold by Evans, Coleman can be declared 'hot' and made subject to picket action.

"This policy has been endorsed by the Building Trades Council, with the recommendation that building tradesmen respect picket lines so established.

"A number of work stoppages have already occurred and every job now operating is under constant threat of picket action and a resultant work stoppage. The situation is, of course, intolerable.

"It should be pointed out that the building industry is not dependent solely on Evans, Coleman for its supplies. The company does not manufacture or produce building materials, but merely distributes and delivers. The contractors have no desire to obtain material from Evans, Coleman, either directly or indirectly, while the strike is in progress there.

"They do claim the right to buy material from other suppliers or from any other source where it may be obtained.

"If allowed to do this without interference, the contractors could and would keep most construction jobs running and our building tradesmen could be kept employed almost 100 per cent.

"Unfortunately, the present policy of the Building Trades Council does not permit normal, or economic operation of construction jobs in Victoria. We are, therefore, obliged to close down all construction jobs in the Greater Victoria area until it is possible for contractors to obtain materials and carry on building operations without interference."

"We can't run half going and half shut-down," commented exchange official and city contractor George Wheaton.

"We hope the next action will come from the unions themselves," he added.

Mr. Wheaton also stated that the contractors were prepared to pledge that any building materials "obtained from other sources would in no way accrue to the profit of Evans, Coleman and Johnson Bros. Ltd."

Duke to Visit Alberta Ranch

PALM BEACH, Fla., April 5 (CP).—The Duke and Duchess of Windsor will end their Florida stay and leave tomorrow for their Alberta ranch near Calgary, a member of the Duke's party said tonight.

The Duke will leave by train at 3 p.m. for the trip to Canada. The route the party will travel on the way to Calgary was not available.

It has been reported in Calgary that the Duke plans to sell his E.P. Ranch, situated about 65 miles from the prairie city.

However, this report was denied by the Duke's secretary, V. G. Waddilove, on his arrival last night in Halifax aboard the liner Empress of France.

"There is no question of a sale as far as I know," he said.

Ten Top-Ranking Priests Jailed by Czech Court

LONDON, April 5 (INS).—Ten high-ranking Czecho-Slovakian priests who refused to take Communist orders were sentenced by a Prague court to jail terms ranging from tow years to life and fined a total of $4,200 tonight on treason charges.

This hard blow dealt by the minority Communists ruling predominantly Catholic Czecho-Slovakia may be a prelude to trial of Archbishop Josef Beran, the primate.

A life term and $1,000 fine was given Dr. Frantisek Mastilak, Dominican rector of the Theological Institute of Oboriste, who apparently caused an uproar in the Prague courtroom last Saturday when he pleaded innocent despite a pre-trial "confession" ascribed to him.

WESTERNERS BARRED

The screened reports of the official Ceteka News Agency were the only source of information on the trial because Western correspondents were not allowed to attend.

The charges included espionage and conspiracy to overthrow the regime.

Other sentences and fines were:

Abbot Augustin Machalka of the Premonstrate Monastery at Nova Rise, 25 years and $1,000. He had pleaded guilty.

Provincial Frantisek Silhan, who pleaded innocent, 25 years and $1,000.

Abbot Bohumil Vit Tajovsky of the Premonstrate Monastery at Zeliv, 20 years and $1,000. He had pleaded guilty except to espionage charges.

Father Silvester Braito, professor of the Olomouc Theological faculty, a Dominican, 15 years and $600. He had pleaded guilty.

Franciscan Monk Josef Urban, 14 years and $600. He had pleaded guilty.

A nine-year and two-year term, respectively, were given Jesuit Friar Frantisek Mikulasek, and Father Stanislav Bartak, provisor of the Premonstrate Order at Nova Rise. Mikulasek also was fined $300. They had pleaded innocent.

U.S. Seeking Revocation Of Bridges' Citizenship

WASHINGTON, April 5 (INS).—The Government announced today it will try to strip Harry Bridges of American citizenship and the C.I.O. launched an investigation of charges that the convicted perjurer's longshore union is Communist-dominated.

The Justice Department said it will move next Monday to revoke the citizenship of Bridges, found guilty Tuesday by a Federal court of falsely denying that he was a Communist when he was naturalized five years ago.

Department spokesmen explained that under the law the court in which a naturalized citizen is convicted of a felony, such as perjury, has the power to cancel his citizenship papers.

DECLINES COMMENT

Bridges' citizenship would have to be revoked before he could be deported. The Justice Department refused comment on whether it will seek to have the native-born Australian deported.

The Justice Department said on Tuesday that it is investigating the validity of 23 affidavits filed by labor leaders disavowing Communism, as required under the Taft-Hartley Labor Act.

The C.I.O. said hearings will be scheduled in the near future on charges of Communist domination of the West Coast longshoremen's union which Bridges heads, and against the marine cooks and stewards and the fishermen's unions.

TO HOLD HEARINGS

The announcement said special trial committees will hold hearings this month in the cases of the American Communications Association and the Fur Workers Union, whose leaders are also accused of guiding the members along the Red party line.

Three-man boards, both headed by David McDonald, secretary-treasurer of the Steel Workers Union will sit in judgment on the unions. The Communications Association will come under scrutiny April 11, with the other probe due to start April 18.

Two left-wing unions were ousted from the C.I.O. at its convention last November and four others subsequently were expelled following hearings by trail boards.

The United States may have difficulty in deporting Bridges, due to feeling in Australia that he is no longer the responsibility of that country. Australian immigration officials said a test case may be fought in the courts if the United States seeks to return him to the place of his birth.

One Australian official said Bridges may become stateless because he surrendered British citizenship when he was granted United States citizenship.

Plans Nearing Completion To Give Polio Insurance

CHICAGO, April 5 (INS).—Sister Elizabeth Kenny says that plans are nearing completion to provide polio insurance to persons anywhere in the United States who contribute $5 or more a year to the Kenny Foundation.

The Australian nurse, whose lifelong battle against polio has made her world-famous, told a Chicago audience that the plan will provide $5,000 worth of polio treatment for contributors and their families up to 19 years of age.

Sister Kenny said a Chicago insurance firm has been chartered to write $5-a-year policies. It also has agreed to pay the foundation a "sizable amount" of each premium to be used for treatment of victims.

Initial Wheat Payment Reduced to $1.40 Bushel

OTTAWA, April 6 (CP).—The Canadian Wheat Board, taking delivery of Western wheat in the crop year starting August 1, will make an initial payment to producers of $1.40 a bushel.

This 35-cent-per-bushel drop from the current initial payment of $1.75 was announced today in the Commons by Trade Minister Howe. He described it as a cautionary move to guard the board's new three-year pool against the possibility of bankruptcy.

CITES REASONS

Mr. Howe also gave these main reasons for the decrease:

1. The International Wheat Agreement, under which Canada will sell most of her exports next year, calls for a floor of $1.54 per bushel in Canadian funds.

2. The possibility of a surplus supply of wheat in Canada in the 1950-51 crop year, over and above international wheat agreement requirements. This excess over demand would not be protected by the international floor price.

OTHER PRICES UNCHANGED

He announced that the initial payments during the next crop year for deliveries to the board of oats and barley would be the same as this year.

The Government still is undecided whether to conduct another voluntary pool in flax, but in any event the initial price will not be higher than the $2.20 a bushel fixed for the present pool.

Western wheat farmers previously have been asked by Agriculture Minister Gardiner to reduce their wheat acreage this Spring by at least 3,000,000 acres from last year's 27,000,000, and sow more to coarse grains, badly needed by hog producers in Central Canada.

PRICE FOR BEST WHEAT

The new initial payment on wheat covers the top-grade No. 1 Northern variety, delivered by producers to Port William, Port Arthur or Vancouver. Mr. Howe said initial prices for other grades will be fixed later by the board under the Government's approval.

As in the past, the initial prices will be augmented by further payments at the end of the crop years if the wheat board is able to sell the deliveries at higher-than-payment prices. The surpluses in the board's account will be distributed to farmers participating in the pool to run on a year-to-year basis from August 1, 1950, to August 31, 1953.

Sixty Persons Die in Sinking

OPORTO, Portugal, April 6 (Thursday) (CP) — Sixty persons were missing today from a crowded ferry boat, reported to have more than 80 on board, which sank in the Douro River last night after it struck a rock.

Lt.-Col. Moura Bessa, commander of the Oporto police, said early today that only 20 persons, including the crew of three and the operator of the ferry, were known to be safe.

The ferry was reported to have had its full load of 80 on board, but more passengers may have embarked after it left Oporto.

The ferry left Oporto in the evening packed with people from riverside villages near Oporto, many of whom worked in the city during the day.

Officials ordered a door-to-door search in river villages in an attempt to fix the number of missing.

Crewmen Barely Escape

Fire, Blast Wreck Giant Plane

HONOLULU, April 6 (AP) — The Marshall Mars, $7,500,000 worth of flying boat, was destroyed by explosion and fire today a mile off shore. Its seven crewmen barely escaped.

The 80-ton four-motor flying boat had gone up for a test flight. It had developed engine trouble yesterday.

The pilot said that shortly after the takeoff the No. 3 engine caught fire. He had gained 1,000 feet of altitude.

ENGINE BLAZES

Watchers at the airport saw the giant craft, the engine blazing and smoke pouring from the plane, land.

The crew jumped clear in two life rafts. They wore Mae West life jackets. A distress message had been sent and the Hawaiian sea frontier had a crash boat speeding to the scene. The boat picked up the seven.

Minutes after the crew quit the flying boat, the 6,000 gallons of high octane gasoline in the fuel tanks exploded.

PRAISE PILOT

A Hawaiian sea frontier spokesman said the men "owed their lives to the pilot's quick and level-headed abandon ship orders."

Today's test flight was set ahead of scheduled take-off later in the day for Alameda, Calif., with possibly 40 passengers. The No. 3 engine which caused all the trouble, had been installed last night.

The Hawaiian Sea Frontier said a routine investigation into the cause of the explosion was in progress.

BAKERSFIELD, Calif., April 5 (AP) — The flying Frenchman, Jacques Andre Istel, 21, presumably is somewhere between here and Phoenix, Ariz., today on his transcontinental journey.

Divorce Law Proposal Hits Heavy Opposition

OTTAWA, April 6 (CP) —A private member's proposal that grounds for divorce in Canada be enlarged today ran into an almost solid wall of opposition in the Commons.

The proposal was made and then withdrawn by David Croll (L., Toronto Spadina) before the chamber adjourned until April 17 for the Easter recess. He made the withdrawal after hearing a cross-section of views of members from different parts of the country.

Mr Croll's proposal was the first private member's resolution to come before the House since the session opened February 16.

ONE SUPPORTER

The resolution was supported only by O. B. White (P.C., Peterborough), who frequently has urged that something be done to free Canadian veterans from wives who refused to come to Canada with them from overseas.

Tom Goode (L., Burnaby-Richmond), urged that action be taken to prevent Canadian Communists from attending Communist conventions abroad. He had the statement after noting that Tim Buck, leader of the Labor-Progressive Party in Canada, now is attending a convention in Hungary.

HONEST BASIS

In the debate Mr. Croll said enlargement of grounds for divorce would not lead to a flood of divorces. He wanted to put divorce on an honest basis. There was no field where the law "is a greater hypocrite than in the divorce courts."

(The present law in all Provinces except Nova Scotia allows divorce solely on the grounds of adultery. In Nova Scotia a pre-Confederation statute also provides for divorce on grounds of cruelty.)

Gunman Killed By Police In California

MOJAVE, Calif., April 5 (AP) — One of the most wanted criminals on F.B.I. records was shot and killed today after a 70-mile-an-hour case across the Mojave Desert.

The F.B.I. in Los Angeles identified him as Fred Walter Lennon, 39, "sought in many cities throughout the country and by the Federal Government for unlawful flight to avoid prosecution."

Lennon was shot by an F.B.I. agent and rookie California highway patrolman, Sam H. McDaniel, on Highway No. 466 about ten miles west of here. The F.B.I. said Lennon was killed in a running gunfight, but McDaniel said the shooting occurred after the fugitive had stopped his car.

"I was in a garage here when F.B.I. Agent Jerome J. Bount asked for my assistance," said McDaniel. "He got in my car and we took after the fellow. We finally got close enough and I blew my siren. He pulled over and Dount got out, went over to Lennon's car.

"The fellow knew this was no ordinary pinch so he reached inside his shirt and pulled out a German-made pistol. While he was trying to snap the safety, Dount yelled: 'He's going to shoot,' so Dount and I both opened up. He went down, still trying to unhook the safety and rolled into a ditch."

All-Time High Seen for Beef

EDMONTON, April 5 (CP) —Edmonton Meat Packers today said beef prices will hit an all-time high here next week. Heavy American buying, a shortage of cattle and a road ban imposed during the Spring thaw are the reasons given.

"The 10 per cent devaluation in the Canadian dollar has brought American cattle buyers in droves," said one plant manager. "Buyers from British Columbia also are active. Then, the road ban has reduced deliveries of cattle about 90 per cent."

Beef prices have risen 10 per cent during the last six weeks. The present price is about 100 per cent above the prewar level.

Youth Injured

Vernon Perry, 18, of 2743 Mount Stephen Avenue, received severe lacerations on both hands and the side of his face late last night when the motorcycle he was riding went into a skid near the intersection of Hillside Avenue and Higgins Street according to a city police report.

The injured youth was taken to Royal Jubilee Hospital for treatment.

The first aerial trip over the North Pole was made in 1926 by Commander Richard E. Byrd, an American flying explorer.

Will Restore Metal Output

MONTREAL, April 6 (CP) —As a result of strengthened demand for aluminum, the Aluminum Company of Canada plans to restore production at its Arvida, Que., smelter to 100 per cent of capacity and is studying plans for further expansion in Quebec province and British Columbia, President R. E. Powell announced today.

He said in a prepared statement that the company intends to bring the plant's 900-ton-a-day production up to 1,000-ton capacity and to add 250 employees to the present staff of 7,000.

Part of the company's facilities were shut down last year but Mr Powell said export demand for Canadian aluminum is strengthening and expanded fabricating facilities in the United States now require 3½ times as much of the metal as that country can produce.

The company was looking to the possible future development of an entirely new aluminum industry in British Columbia based on 1,500,000 horsepower.

Witness Wields Imaginary Bottle While Testifying in Robbery Case

Grimacing excitedly, a balding, bespectacled Chinese yesterday leaped to his feet in the Assize Court witness box and brought an imaginary bottle dashing down on the head of an imaginary victim.

The witness was re-enacting what he testified happened February 1, when Gunner Joseph Cloutier, Work Point Barracks, was charged with robbery with violence.

Quon Wong, taxi driver of 528 Fisgard Street, told the Assize jury that he was the victim of the robbery. Explaining the violent scene, partly in broken English, partly through Interpreter Jack Yip, he said he was driving Gunner Cloutier down Richmond Road when the soldier told him to "stop quick."

"He got his hand around my neck," the cab driver said, "and told me to give him all my money. He put his hand in my pocket and took all my money there. Then he got in my hip pocket and took my purse."

SPUN IN SNOW

The driver said then he was spun outside into the snow to the scuffle when "he pulled a bottle out of his coat and said, 'Give me some more money. Give me some more money or I'll kill you'."

It was then that Quon jumped to his feet to describe the soldier's actions in taking the bottle from an inside pocket and swinging it at him.

Quon said he managed to struggle free of the bottle's blows, escaping without about $20 and one shoe. He said the man he alleges was Cloutier then drove away in Quon's taxi.

CROSS-EXAMINED

After Quon had finished telling his story, he was exhaustively cross-examined by A. P. Dawe, Cloutier's defence lawyer — mainly on the identity of his assailant and whether the assailant was the same soldier who ordered the cab in the Fisgard Street stand.

During his cross-examination, Mr. Dawe called four other soldiers into the courtroom and asked the cab driver if he could identify them as persons who ordered a cab or lounged near it as it pulled off on the trip Quan testified ended in the violent robbery.

In each case Quan said he could not remember ever having seen the soldiers before.

Then Mr Dawe turned to him and said "You make it a practice do you not of taking long routes when you drive people?"

DENIES LONG TRIPS

Quon denied that he did.

Mr Dawe then called a soldier and his wife and alleged Quon had taken them far out of their route on March 11 when they had requested a Cook Street address.

Quan said he did not remember them.

"Why did you take off your shoe?" Mr. Dawe then asked.

Quon said he removed the shoe to defend himself in the taxi while his assailant was choking him.

"I submit to you that you took off that shoe to use as a weapon to rob the accused," Mr. Dawe said.

PHONED POLICE

Dr. Ronald A. Holtum told the court that Quon had appeared at his door at 3:10 a.m. on the morning in question and that police had been phoned from there.

John Mason said he picked Quon up from Dr. Holtum's house near the intersection of Richmond Road and Despard Avenue, where the robbery is alleged to have taken place.

Mrs. Dorothy Cornish, 1687 Chandler Avenue, testified Cloutier had appeared at her door at 3 45 a.m. and asked her to call a taxi for him. She said he disappeared before the cab arrived. She is the wife of Constable Stanley Cornish.

Ydo Patrick Admomdishem Vesey, the cab driver telephoned by Mrs Cornish, said he had cruised the streets until he found Cloutier and had then taken him back to Constable Cornish's house where Cloutier was questioned by city police.

The trial will continue today before Mr. Justice A D Macfarlane with Joseph B. Clearihue, K.C. prosecuting.

Caley Named Chairman Of Planning Commission

Benjamin Caley, former Esquimalt school board member, last night was appointed chairman of the Esquimalt town planning commission.

Mr. Calay succeeds Richard Reeve, who was acting in the place of former Reeve Thomas Hadfield.

Secretary Councillor Jack Carey reported that the commission will recommend that the council have the property on Old Esquimalt Road known as "The Transfer" surveyed and set aside as a park area.

BENJAMIN CALEY

The land is north of Lampson Street School:

The commission will sponsor a clean-up campaign in the municipality to be terminated June 15. Four prizes for the best developed property will be awarded. "Before and after" photographs will be requested.

Consideration is being given to asking the council to create a new subdivision on wooded property south of the old match factory at the intersection of Viewfield and Devonshire Roads. It will be suggested that the trees be cleared before the subdivision is made. Commission will recommend that the subdivision be laid out along modern town planning ideas with considerable room for children's playgrounds.

Next public meeting of the commission will be April 24.

Oak Bay Promises Action On Green for Lawn Bowling

A delegation representing Oak Bay lawn bowlers was promised by the council last night that their request for construction of a bowling green will be "pushed along as soon as possible."

J. H. Cattrol, C. Wood and D. Scott told the council they already have 100 signatures of persons wanting lawn bowling. They stressed they hadn't yet done any canvassing.

The bowlers felt the property near the Oak Bay fire hall was suitable but A. S. G. Musgrave, municipal engineer, advised that some of the area would not be satisfactory because it has been filled.

Reeve P. A Gibbs said the council had been considering the construction of a bowling green in the playing area of the new Willows subdivision. He added, however, that it is not planned for this year.

The delegation suggested that the municipality construct the green and the club would pay the rental. One delegate assured the council that the bowlers were prepared to give their labor to help keep down cost of the project.

Premier Congratulates Group On Empire Information Work

Edmund John Turner, 3155 Millgrove Street, convener of Empire Information in the Victoria White Cane Club, received a letter recently from Byron Johnson, premier of British Columbia, commending the club on its present work.

It is one of several letters which the club has received commending it on its activities. One was from the Rt Hon. Louis St Laurent, Prime Minister of Canada.

The White Cane Club, through "Empire Information," lets the blind people know about all parts of the British Empire. Guest speakers are brought in to give commentaries on various countries. Next week Miss Lottie Bowron will give an address on Ulster.

Mr. Johnson's letter read:

My Dear Mr. Turner:

I would appreciate your expressing on my behalf, congratulations to the members of the White Cane Club for their splendid and untiring efforts. Through Empire Information much is done to promote friendship and co-operation throughout the Empire. I trust that your organization, whose members work to bring more pleasure and happiness to our less fortunate citizens, will derive from their efforts much personal satisfaction.

Nurse Pleads Not Guilty

OAKLAND, Calif., April 5 (INS).—Mrs. Firth Band, the 23-year-old Oakland nurse charged with six counts of grand theft for cattle rustling, pleaded not guilty today at her arraignment in Oakland.

Mrs. Band was arrested March 28 with three 17-year-old boys for rustling live calves and four cows. She was quoted at the time as saying she turned cattle rustler to get money to help her mother operate a nursing home.

She was held in lieu of $10 000 bail and the three boys are in the hands of juvenile authorities

Cause and Effect Couldn't Be Clearer

IT is not often that the result of a governmental policy is measureable soon after it applies. Rental control is an exception. Having tried all Autumn to hand over rental control to the Provinces, and having failed to have its own regulations outlawed by the Supreme Court of Canada as invalid, the Dominion at the year-end gave authority for an 18 to 22 per cent increase on the maximum controlled rentals for unheated and heated premises. Some of the increase applied in February, with the result that the rentals index jumped 7.7 per cent in that one month. Of course there is more to come, for rental increase notices have been going out steadily.

At this point, however, the increase in the cost of living index for Canada can be traced directly, if in part, to the Dominion Government. The combined index had varied little for a year with a high in July last year and a steady shrinkage since September of that year. January and February of this year saw swings in the upward direction, of which the February one included the first—and only the first—of the authorized rental boosts.

As labor contracts throughout Canada are based in part on the cost of living index, the rental hike may prove to be an expensive piece of business for the country by the time the last demand has been made and the last increase paid. Taken in conjunction with a runaway market for retail meats, the "pegged" price of butter and "perpetual" subsidies for some farm products, the rental manoeuvre can hardly be deemed any kind of relief to the "little people" in Canada. Indeed it seems to have been a very long time indeed since anyone in Federal circles stopped to consider them, and yet they form the largest and must hard-pressed group of all.

Law Overtakes Harry Bridges at Last

UNITED STATES law, so often circumvented by the Australian outlaw, Harry Bridges, has caught up with this Communist agitator at last. Whatever the sentence of the court may be, the verdict of the jury in San Francisco this week should, if upheld on appeal, remove Bridges at last from any position of authority among United States longshoremen, whom he has long used as tools for the virtual domination of Pacific ports. The effect of his conviction for perjury is to brand him officially as a Communist, which means that whether he goes to jail or not he is debarred from holding office in any labor union in the country.

Few outside the ranks of the Communists and some (though probably far from all) of the workers he has led into dispute, will feel any sympathy for Bridges. The union is well rid of him, for there can be little question that what he did to disrupt the commerce of the United States year after year was not prompted by concern for the welfare of the union members. Rather it bore every mark of a deliberate attempt to aid Soviet Russia and the Communist cause by paralyzing American ports.

The irony of it now is that the United States, although it has at last succeeded in convicting Bridges on a major count, cannot get rid of him. Australia, troubled enough by its own Communist agitators, has made it clear that it will not take him back. Thus when the time ultimately comes for Bridges' release he seems destined to join the growing band of men and women whom the United States would like to deport but cannot.

Conquest of Cancer Needs Public Support

IT is by the concerted efforts of individuals, professional and laymen alike, that the common weal is advanced. This was never more evident than in the realm of human health, when scientific endeavor has been backed by the sustained and tangible interest of people as a whole. The strides made in the conquest of disease as a result of such co-operation emphasize the success likely to follow when individuals work together for the common good. Scientific research depends in large measure on public support.

The control of tuberculosis is an example of what can be accomplished by joint effort. This once dread disease, if not wholly conquered is at least within bounds, so that its human toll has been greatly reduced. An equal measure of control is the aim of the "Conquer Cancer" campaign, initiated this week in Victoria as elsewhere throughout the land. Expansion of the research, education and welfare projects of the Canadian Cancer Society is of importance in combating the incidence of a disease that annually takes some 16,000 British Columbia lives.

This development depends on the assistance which the public is prepared to give. Few there will be who are unwilling to help promote the success of the current campaign for funds, for disease is no respecter of persons and no one knows when he might himself be dependent on work done by the society to promote the control of cancer. These are some of the reasons why the current appeal for financial backing should be assured of substantial response.

MUSIC IN VICTORIA

Sir,—As a lover of music in Victoria, from Ottawa and London, may I be allowed to express an appreciation of the high quality of the music offered in Victoria.

I had the privilege of hearing one Sunday at the First Baptist Church the cantata, "Artaban," composed and directed by the conductor, Mr. E. V. Edwards, whose sincerity impressed me greatly.

From the first strains of the opening chorus to the exalted "Hallelujah" of the finale, I enjoyed it thoroughly—and as the story unfolded to the rise and fall of the music, through the beautiful solemn passages to the impassioned "Soldiers' March," one felt more and more the beauty of this inspired work.

The performers must have been similarly affected for never before have I witnessed a more sympathetic rendition, whilst the unity between conductor, soloists, choir and orchestra gave evidence of many hours of preparation under a respected leader.

(MRS.) D. A. SWAN.

HOSPITAL INSURANCE

Sir,—Your correspondent, Sqdn.-Ldr. C. S. Goode, should be complimented for his very sensible and outspoken letter on "Health Insurance," which appeared in your columns recently. Such frank expressions of opinion are becoming more rare as time progresses. Could it be that we are gradually being engulfed by another form of dictatorship, a state that we have been taught to abhor during recent years?

Personally, I have nothing but praise and admiration for an efficiently-administered system of hospital insurance. Prior to 1949 I was a Blue Cross subscriber and would say that if our Government can do as good a job as was done by their predecessors in hospital insurance, they can then say that they have fulfilled one of their most important obligations to the residents of this province. There is no excuse for all the bungling and confusion that has been so apparent in the Government-operated scheme and for which the public has been forced to foot the bill. Surely the brains and experience of the Blue Cross could have been procured to ensure a sound and workable system right from the very beginning.

If the individuals who have been made responsible for the establishment and operation of our hospital insurance service have proved themselves incapable of the task, then it is the duty of the Cabinet to see that they are replaced. This is the manner in which the situation would be handled by private enterprise, which is often spoken of so highly in Government circles.

INTERESTED IN CANADA

Sir,—Will you kindly allow me space in which to tell the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation that the average listener to Canadian radio still wishes to know what is happening in Canada and is also interested in what is taking place all over our great Empire.

We can easily obtain full details of happenings all over the United States from any American station, without reference to Canada or other countries of the Empire.

Why then should the C.B.C. give up at least half of every news bulletin to news and views from the United States? We have not so soon forgotten than ten years ago the British Empire stood alone, and that Canadian boys formed the spear-point of our resistance against Hitler's mightly war machine, and the Western world was thereby saved from a terrible fate. So, may we presume to tell the C.B.C. we are not ashamed of our country and Empire, and that we wish to hear on every possible occasion how our own people in every section of our great Empire are faring.

E. J. TURNER.

From Grongar Hill

See on the mountain's southern side,
Where the prospect opens wide,
Where the evening gilds the tide;
How close and small the hedges lie!
What streaks of meadows cross the eye!
A step methinks may pass the stream,
So little distant dangers seem:
So we mistake the future's face,
Eyed through hope's deluding glass;
As yon summit soft and fair,
Clad in colours of the air,
Which to those who journey near,
Barren, brown and rough appear;
Still we tread the same coarse way,
The present's still a cloudy day.

Thinking Aloud

". . . of shoes—and ships—and sealing wax—of cabbages and kings."

By TOM TAYLOR

ADD another first for Russia, intimates the Soviet Literary Gazette, this time the art of printing. Away back when, but it doesn't really matter when, a Russian inventor carved iron letters on copper plates—and history was made.

The admission that the inventor was court doctor to a grand duke is perhaps a little surprising in view of the liquidation of grand dukes, but possibly he was a proletarian doctor in disguise.

Printing, the steam engine, penicillin, jet planes, dynamite, radar—all these and many more, and doubtless many more yet to be named, the world owes to Russia and the Russians. The wonder of it takes one's breath away.

One recalls that Hitler formulated the theory that if a lie has to be told the thing to do is to make it a big lie. Hitler made it pay off—for a while. His example has been catching. No false modesty, apparently, will stop the Kremlin from discovering that Russia has produced the greatest inventors of all time. Certainly at inventing the inventors Russia is without peer.

Now that printing has been preempted we may expect to hear that the First Folio was written by Shakesopovitch and not by Shakespeare, and that Macawber waited in Sevastopol for something to turn up and not in London.

* * *

It is a curious business this, nevertheless, the megalomania that lays claim to the fount of almost every human endeavor. For it must be coolly cynical.

The Politburo, or whoever decides such things, must know that the Western world laughs at these grandiose claims. Since they themselves know the pretensions to be false they cannot expect to be believed outside their own country. Why, then, make fools of themselves?

One can only conclude it is to bolster the ego of the Russian people, who apparently after years of indoctrination will swallow anything. The fact that these fantastic claims can be advanced with a straight face is perhaps the most revealing thing in itself of what years of regimentation will do to a race. Only people warped by an insularity hitherto undreamed of could accept without suspicion the revelation that their countrymen had invented everything in the world worth inventing.

* * *

Even the best arrangers slip now and then, and Soviet intention to organize the field of advertising must mean they haven't been able to find a Russian whom they could credit with its creation.

The clue to this lies in Mr. Molotov's declaration that "we do not aspire to overtake the capitalist countries . . . because with them advertising is a means of shamelessly deceiving the consumer." No, Soviet advertising will be uplifting: "cultural and progressive" is the way Mr. Molotov puts it.

One wonders what they will advertise, since the state owns everything and Russia is such a paradise of equality there could be no possibility of such things as cut rates, loss leaders, or even, one supposes, a simple Spring sale.

As a matter of fact, though, the organization in Russia of advertising seems wholly redundant. Russians may not have invented this art, but the Soviet state is the most widespread advertiser known to man. Under another term, propaganda, it has successfully sold a bill of goods to millions of foreigners. Perhaps the falsity of that sale makes it unnecessary to falsify the invention of advertising.

The King's Health

By H. J.-J. SARGINT
North American Newspaper Alliance

LONDON.—People in London, particularly those in the entourage of the British Royal Family, are puzzled by the rumors which have been coming from abroad, especially from America, about a deterioration in the health of King George VI. These reports claim that there has been a recurrence of the circulatory ailment which led to an operation on the King's leg some time ago.

As a matter of actual fact, the King is today as well as he ever was and the difficulty which arose with his circulation has to all intents and purposes disappeared.

His Majesty has been taking his fullest possible share in the official life of this country and that means a very great deal of physical effort and the kind of endurance which a sick man could not possibly put forth. To mention only a few of the King's recent engagements, there was the state visit of French President Vincent Auriol which entailed the King's being on his feet practically the whole time; there was an investiture of orders and decorations on March 14 when His Majesty distributed the largest number of distinctions since the end of the war. On these occasions the sovereign stands throughout the ceremony and the King did stand for over two hours pinning crosses and medals on those he had honored.

The King has also been shooting at Sandringham and around Windsor Castle and spent a long and arduous day at Aintree near Liverpool where he watched the Grand National Steeplechase being run.

The Grand National is supposed to be the severest known test for horses over obstacles, and the King and Queen with Princess Elizabeth and other members of the Royal Family visited many of the jumps before the race and generally strolled about on foot over the long course.

The King will be at the Football Cup final at Wembley and before that will pay a long-promised visit to Shakespeare's birthplace in London early in May and then the London season will open.

The season centres around the Royal Family, especially the King. There will be three very large presentation parties at Buckingham Palace during that month at which young debutantes will make their first appearance at Court. At these parties, which last the whole afternoon, the King and Queen are on their feet the whole time, greeting their friends and receiving the curtseys of the young girls who that day are launched into society.

Later in the Summer, two garden parties will be held at the palace and at both of them the King will spend a whole afternoon walking about among his guests. A stroll lasting two or three hours over the palace lawns is not something that could be undertaken by any anyone with an affection of the lower limbs.

So far for the immediate future. It should be recorded also that the King and Queen have practically committed themselves to a visit to Australia and New Zealand in 1952. His Majesty has gone so far as to write to the governments at Canberra and Wellington that he and the Queen "hoped to visit the two dominions" the year after next. This, in official parlance, is almost a definite promise and is a formula on receipt of which the two governments will consider themselves justified in embarking upon the vast preparations necessary for a royal visit.

It is quite certain that if the King's medical advisers think that His Majesty can stand the tremendous strain which such a journey would entail, they cannot be very apprehensive about his health.

These Native Sons

(From Saturday Night, Toronto)

THE Native Sons of Canada are ardent in so many good causes that we can never quite figure out how they can be so ferociously bitter against everybody who lives in Canada but does not happen to be a Native Son. Very few of the members of the Order are North American Indians by racial origin, so that the ancestors, in quite a few cases perhaps the immediate parents, of most of them must have been immigrants to this country. Yet in the last issue of the Order's periodical Native Son we find a piece of verse which begins as follows:

"They come to us from far away,
And take our jobs for lesser pay,
A house or flat is soon their lot,
The people here can go to pot!"

We wish that the members of the Native Sons whose ancestors did not come to this country before, let us say, 1900 would ask themselves what kind of Native Sons they themselves would be if those ancestors had not braved exactly the same sort of contumelious treatment, meted out with exactly the same justification, as they are now meting out to the English, Scottish, Czecho-Slovakian, Polish and other immigrants who are now entering the country (in much more moderate numbers than the immigrants of earlier years). Some of the Native Sons, we suspect, have brothers and sisters who have gone to the United States, as a great many native Canadians have done at various times, and who are therefore not Native Sons but merely Immigrant Sons, or Adopted Sons, of that great Republic. There is nothing necessarily discreditable about that, and there is nothing necessarily discreditable about being an Adopted Son of Canada. Sir John A. Macdonald was one, and if the Native Sons think that he did nothing to enhance the glory of being a Native or any other kind of Son of Canada they are greatly mistaken.

The Packsack

By GREGORY CLARK

EVERY girl has had a plad skirt. Every man has owned a plad skirt. But there is no such word in the dictionary as plad.

It is plaid. And Scottish people shudder at the word plad. But apparently there is nothing they can do about it except shudder. For even the Concise Oxford dictionary gives as first choice, the pronunciation plad. And so do the American. As second choice, they give the pronunciation as "played," with the initials Sc. in brackets after it. Which is the polite English way of suggesting hill-billies.

Whatever may be the origin of the word plaid, in Scotland plaid is not a kind of cloth: it is a piece of cloth, a sort of shawl. It is still worn by Scottishmen, shepherds, farmers. But in the early pioneer days, every Scot who came ashore in Canada or America or Tasmania or Africa or wherever the Scots went as the standard bearers of Britain had either around his shoulders or rolled up in his bundle a plaid.

It could have been a tartan plaid. For tartan is a kind of pattern of cloth. It could be a shepherd's tartan of black and white check. Or it might have been any sort of homespun woollen cloth. But it was a garment, not a pattern. Many of them had a button-hole worked in one edge, and a button on the opposite edge, so that, when the plaid was folded triangular, like a diaper, and flung about the shoulders, it could be buttoned on the chest to hold it fast.

To this day, a plaid is the most useful garment for a sportsman. Around the shoulders it is warm, and keeps the rain off, while leaving the arms free. Folded, it is good to sit on. Wrapped around the legs, it is a comfort. On the bed, it is a cover.

And out of respect for it, we should refer to our fancy shirts and skirts as tartan, not plad.

May Modify Privileges Of U.S. Army at Bases

OTTAWA, April 5 (CP).—Canada has accepted full United States military control of three of the most important armed forces bases on her Atlantic coast, informed quarters said today.

But a moderation of certain privileges possessed by the American troops stationed at the bases in Newfoundland is expected to result from decisions by the two Governments within the next few months.

Proposals for settlement of the question of the civilian privileges, one of the bigger international issues to arise from Canada absorption of Newfoundland last year, are being placed before the two Governments shortly.

They are the recommendations of the permanent United States-Canadian Joint Defence Board which began some months ago to consider the question of the bases which were built by the Americans early in the World War under an agreement with the United Kingdom Government.

ADVISORY GROUP ONLY

The recommendations were finally approved at a meeting of the board in Montreal at the end of last month. They won't be made public because the board is an advisory group and has no executive powers.

The issue has revolved around certain judicial, taxation and customs rights granted the Americans while Newfoundland was a colony. Canada has taken the stand that those rights are not compatible with her national sovereignty and should be brought into line with the situation existing at other Canadian bases where Americans are stationed.

Berry Growers Get $371,512

OTTAWA, April 5 (CP).—The Government paid $371,512 to Consolidated Coast Growers of Abbotsford, B.C., for distribution to growers of that area for their berry crop for 1947 and 1948, C. E. Johnston (S.C., Bow River) was advised today in the Commons.

Robert McCubbin, parliamentary assistant for agriculture, also told Mr. Johnston the Government had recovered $100,000 through sale of the berries to the British Ministry of Food.

Mr. Johnston had asked what amounts were received by berry growers of Yarrow, B.C., and Mr. McCubbin said the total included what they received. It was not broken down.

Says U.S. Committed To Aid West Europe

—Interpreting the News—

By J. M. ROBERTS, Jr.
A.P. Foreign Affairs Analyst

John J. McCloy, United States High Commissioner in Germany, has warned Western Europe that an effective union, including Germany, is important to continued American interest and support.

"Today the United States is firmly committed to help Europe and has shown in many ways its hope for the development of a European community. Tomorrow that interest may decline from its present high level unless it is matched by the interest of others."

WARINESS IN LONDON

Returning to Europe after conferences with Washington officials, the high commissioner chose to make his statement in London, where there is a great wariness of European ties which might interfere with British Commonwealth commitments.

McCloy's speech was followed immediately by a statement from Secretary Acheson that the United States favors immediate steps to include Germany in a Western European organization.

United States policy is to hold off the pressure of the Soviet Union, use Germany's industrial potential for the benefit of all Europe, but at the same time to prevent Germany from ever renewing her threat to European peace.

FRANCE LESS INTERESTED

That's Allied policy, too, but approached from different angles by the British and French according to their differing positions. Britain wants to avoid too much German commercial competition. France is less interested in that than in security from her old enemy. The United States is urgent about economic recovery.

France is represented as willing to go ahead with the integration of Germany into a Western organization, but only if Britain stands at her side to make sure that Germany will not eventually wag the dog. Britain feels that she is less a European country than the centre of the British Commonwealth and that she cannot do anything to embarrass her freedom of action in that respect.

That the German problem is becoming increasingly pressing, however, is plain. The idea of making her a neutral buffer is being advanced by German rightists, particularly the Brotherhood, an organization of former German officers. Their idea seems to be to play East against West for their own benefit, and for the purpose of taking over Germany when the pressures have become too great for the Bonn Government. The neutrality idea is also receiving warm Communist support.

DEFENCE PRIME FACTOR

As the Atlantic Pact members begin to set up their military "table of organization," the defence of Western Germany becomes a prime factor. It has been put aside pending the first steps in other countries, and top Allied officials constantly deny plans for rearming the Germans. But the question keeps popping up. The Lower House of the Dutch Parliament voted only this week in favor of rearmament. Evidence of Russian rearmament of Eastern Germany arrives almost daily.

More about the whole thing will be heard at the London conference next month.

Order Check On Visitors For Smallpox

OTTAWA, April 5 (CP).—Health Department officials have ordered that all persons coming to Canada from the United Kingdom produce certificates showing they have been vaccinated within the last three years, Dr G. D. W. Cameron, deputy health minister, said today.

The order came into effect when an epidemic of smallpox was reported in Glasgow. Previously, persons from the United Kingdom were not required to have smallpox vaccinations.

Meanwhile in Glasgow, the fight against smallpox entered its critical stages today and the city was tense as it awaited the health verdict.

An epidemic of the virulent "Eastern smallpox" already has claimed two lives and sent 16 to hospital.

Medical Officer Stuart Laidlaw said when the first phase of the outbreak is over, possibly at the week's end, he will know if the disease has been localized. In the meantime, he was "very worried."

With the yellow fever flag hoisted, the 9,500-ton cargo ship Tregilsson returned to the Clyde today with suspected smallpox among its crew.

Bakeries Remanded For Trial

CALGARY, April 5 (CP).—Six Western baking concerns and one trade association today were remanded for trial on a charge of combining to lessen competition in the baking industry in Western Canada, at the conclusion of a 13-day preliminary hearing.

Magistrate G. H. Rose held there was "ample evidence" from which a trial judge could conclude "that agreements existed between the defendants and others to control the baking industry and to fix the prices."

The defendants were: McGavin Bakeries Ltd., Winnipeg, McGavin Ltd., Vancouver; McGavin Ltd., Edmonton; Canadian Bakeries Ltd., Calgary; Weston's Bread and Cake (Canada) Ltd., Winnipeg; Edmonton City Baking Ltd., and the Bakery Employers' Association of Alberta (formerly the Alberta Master Bakers' Association).

Hopes for Unity On Highway Deal

REGINA, April 5 (CP).—Highways Minister J. T. Douglas said today he hopes an April 27 conference in Ottawa will see completion of an agreement between the Dominion and the provinces on construction of the Trans-Canada Highway.

Britons Dote on "Personals"

Scope of 'Agony Column' Unparalleled in World

LONDON, April 5 (CP).—Reading the personal column of The Times is almost a hobby with thousands of Britons—a hobby that was especially popular with the famous storybook detective, Sherlock Holmes.

Some say the "agony column," as it is often called, is the most fascinating in contemporary literature and nearly as exciting as a detective thriller.

BITS ABOUT EVERYONE

There are bits and pieces in it about everyone from dukes to junk store dealers and temperance reformers in needy gentlewomen; ladies who want to sell mink coats and tiaras, young men with a future but no money; lovers making up quarrels and nursemaids wanting to go abroad.

In recent issues their have been notices about a missing heir, a man wanting a cure for alopecia, a Swedish woman desiring to live in England and a man advertising for a lake in Hampshire, Kent or Sussex.

Two French sportsmen appealed for tickets for the Grand National, a bishop asked for old clothes for a distress fund, the 34-year-old director of a West End business, "rather impoverished," appealed for a congenial home.

Then there was a man describing himself as "an English painter with traditional vision." He asked for a loan of £1,000 ($3,100) "to gain time to complete my technique free from distraction."

A young man who wanted to "see the world" offered to go into partnership with others similarly inclined in the purchase of a steam yacht. A girl "with melodious voice" offered to read aloud to anyone requiring her services.

Even a veteran newspaperman had his plea. He wanted a job as librarian in a "dignified home situated in congenial surroundings."

From Northern Scotland came an urgent appeal from a family wishing to live within a 20-mile radius of London—bungalow preferred.

The scope and variety of the announcements published in The Times "agony column" is probably without parallel anywhere in the world.

Anthony Eden Reviews Recent Voting

Conservatives, Laborites in Britain Reluctant to Fight Early Election

The writer is heir-apparent to leadership of Britain's Conservative Party and "Foreign Minister" in Winston Churchill's Shadow Government. The past dignities of this leader of the loyal opposition in Parliament, added to his present close attention to world affairs bring special authority to his comments on current developments in England and abroad in a series of articles for North American Newspaper Alliance, of which this is the ninth.—Editor

By THE RT. HON.
ANTHONY EDEN, M.C., M.P.

LONDON, March 28 (NANA) — We in Britain have always been ready to applaud our electoral system. Truth to tell, we have perhaps been a little arrogant about it. If it had any faults, then they were but minor blemishes gilding, rather than defacing, the lily. The parliamentary majority might often be greater than the electoral verdict justified, but this did enable a Government to be formed with sufficient authority to rule effectively. Other systems might reproduce the wishes of the electorate with closer mathematical accuracy, but ours at least did work.

GET RUDE SHOCK

These comfortable beliefs have now received a rude shock and it is a fair guess that in all our political parties there is some pretty hard thinking going on. Many of us had expected that the February election results would be close, but none had foreseen a majority so small as to deny effective control of the House of Commons to either side. Yet this is precisely what has happened, and for the first time since the days of universal suffrage neither of the two main parties has a sufficient margin to enact a controversial program.

Although vexing to party protagonists on either side, this is not necessarily an unmitigated disaster. The boast of our parliamentary system is that it can adapt itself to any given situation. The chances are that it will do so once again, and that this House of Commons will contrive to do some useful work even in abnormal conditions.

ANYBODY'S GUESS

But how long can the present precarious balance be held? The answer is anybody's guess, and an accident can at any time upset the best-laid plans. Yet probably both the large parties are, in their hearts, reluctant to fight another general election until the country has had a breathing space and an opportunity to revise its decision, if it should wish to do so. This is really sound political sense, for a second general election at an early date might well result in as narrow a verdict as the last, which could advantage no one. On the other hand even a modest variation in public opinion could tilt the existing balance either way, for a high proportion of constituencies were won on a very slender margin.

I myself have fought eight electoral campaigns and I can recollect none when voters of all ages and convictions have taken such a deep and eager — even studious—interest as in this struggle. You could almost feel the electorate making up its mind. This may have been due to the radio broadcasts which clearly proved to be the dominant instrument of the election. The meetings of all the political parties were remarkably well attended, but the total audience that even the most popular speaker can address during the whole campaign is a mere fraction of those who will listen to a national leader over the air.

BACKGROUND KNOWN

Men and women came to the public meetings with the background of radio debate by the principal party leaders. And so it was that the audiences were easily able to follow and to assess a value of the speaker's arguments, to put pointed and relevant questions, and to judge whether the answers were valid or not. This raised national discussion to a level above anything I have ever known. The electors were sincerely seeking for the truth. Mere party politics interested them but little, while personal abuse of opponents was generally resented.

In these days, scientific developments increasingly determine the whole course of political controversy. We are far from the end of that chapter. Candidates will have a new ordeal to face when television comes into its own, as it very soon must. Further technical arts will have to be mastered. The thought of visual electioneering on a national scale is enough to daunt the most experienced campaigners.

MANY GO TO POLLS

In the depth of Winter, 84 per cent of the voters went to the polls, and this figure does not allow for sickness or death since the last register six months ago. This is certainly a record in Britain for the days of universal suffrage. Of nearly 29,000,000 votes cast, little more than 2,500,000 went to Liberal candidates. Only nine of them were elected, although the Liberal party had contrived to put nearly 500 standard-bearers into the field.

Under British electoral law, every candidate has to deposit £150 ($4 20) at nomination. This regulation was introduced some years ago, and states that any candidate who does not obtain one-eighth of the votes polled must forfeit his deposit. More than 300 Liberals paid this penalty. And so it was that the Liberal Party, for all its immortal tradition and proud history, met disaster at the polls.

MANY CONJECTURES

The failure of the Liberals has inevitably brought in its train all manner of statistical conjectures as to the precise effect that Liberal intervention had upon the final verdict. In my view, all that is certain is that Britain is once again showing a preference for a two-party political system. Between these two main parties is a wide, and maybe a widening, ideological gap.

But what will be the influence of the election on Britain's position abroad, on her ability to play a full part both within the commonwealth and empire family and on the wider world stage? I do not consider that our friends overseas have any cause for alarm.

We have never had a bipartisan foreign policy as the United States has done. Whichever party forms the government represents us at every international conference. As against this, the broad lines of our foreign policy have displayed a certain continuity, and its principles are not challenged by either great party. They were never an issue during our election campaign although the measures to give effect to them certainly were.

Meanwhile, the casualties of the general election have been most severe among Ernest Bevin's critics within his own party, and our two Communist members of Parliament have lost their seats. Extremism was certainly not popular at the polls, and this should gratify those who wish to see our foreign policy broadly based and commanding national support.

While, therefore, there will be no parade of understanding across the floor of the House, there certainly seems no present reason for any weakening of our country's authority in foreign affairs. My own belief is that the even balance of parties will in fact encourage a firm and even imaginative approach to Commonwealth and world issues.

ALL SEEK PEACE

All parties are united in a sincere desire to secure peace and no one dissents from the view that this is the foremost task that confronts us. The immediate outlook is pretty bleak. Soviet Russia shows no sign of abandoning the cold war that she has been waging since 1946. The problems created by the atomic and the hydrogen bomb harass and perplex all peace-loving nations.

With such horrors threatening us, I would not myself exclude from examination any reasonable means of approaching Soviet leaders, at an appropriate moment, to try to work out some agreement upon these matters. This is no policy of appeasement. I have never in my life trodden that road. It is a line of action that might possibly yield new ground upon which Soviet Russia could elect to co-operate with the nations of the West. The circumstances which govern the conduct of international affairs are constantly changing. It would be foolish if we failed to seize every advantage which growing union in the West bestows. But it would be criminal not to continue to build up the strength of that union as the first priority of our own foreign policy.

I suspect that some of those countries who have deplored the effect of the election upon our ability to play a full part in the world affairs are in truth thinking less of foreign policy than of economic policy. It is true that the international authority of any nation depends upon its economic strength. In the last analysis, our usefulness as an ally depends as much upon our economic as upon our military efficiency, for the defence commitments of a nation in the modern world place a staggering burden upon its economic resources. The husbanding and future development of these resources are matters upon which there are, of course, sharp differences between the two great parties, but these are questions for settlement across the floor of the House in the cut-and-thrust of domestic debate.

PROBLEMS UNCHANGED

Meanwhile, the results of the election have in no way changed the nature of the giant problems that confront the world, nor modified the effort that is required of all of us to grapple with them. The need to show wise statesmanship has never been greater than it is today in Britain as in other lands. I believe that what kindly critics have called the "political genius" of our people can serve once again to surmount the difficulties and dangers that confront us all. I have faith that it can make a contribution also to the wider service of mankind.

JERUSALEM, April 5 (Reuters) The Christian churches in Jerusalem tomorrow will celebrate Maundy Thursday, the day of the Last Supper when Jesus gave His mandate (from which the day takes its name) to His disciples: from St John xiii, 34.

"A new commandment I give unto you, that ye love one another as I have loved you, that ye also love one another."

On this day separate feet-washing ceremonies are held in the churches.

The site of the Biblical ceremony of Christ and His disciples washing one another's feet is the Coenaculum, the traditional palace of the Last Supper in an upper room over David's tomb. The building near the Zion Gate in Israeli territory, is a Moslem shrine, for the Moslems regard David as a saint.

Though the Moslems guarded it for 800 years, the tomb now is protected by the Israeli Government and with as much, if not more, care as are the city's many Jewish and Christian shrines.

Christian pilgrims visit the Coenaculum at Easter and walk between massive pillars to view a table on which the Last Supper reputedly was set.

Thousands of pilgrims will go to the Mount of Olives in the evening to sit in the shadows of the Garden of Gethsemane and look out over the twinkling lights of the city.

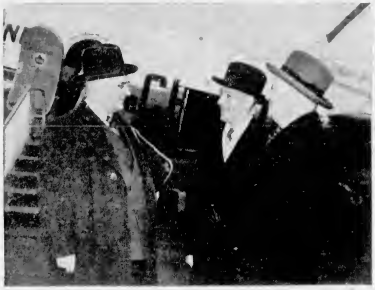
Mooney Arrives for Council Interview



George S. Mooney, Montreal executive, arrived in Victoria yesterday to be interviewed by City Council for newly-created post of city manager. Mr Mooney will meet council at special session at 10:30 a.m. today. Shown here as he stepped off plane at Patricia Bay airport, he was greeted by Mayor Percy George (centre) and Ald. H. M. Diggon (right).

Prospective Administrator Displays Firm Grasp Of Civic Affairs; Sees Coast as World's Centre

By LAURIE JOSLIN

Victoria should get a crackerjack administrator if the council asks George S. Mooney to co-ordinate civic government in the new office of city manager.

Mr. Mooney appears to have a grasp of civic affairs as firm as the very hearty handshake which he extends to friend and stranger alike

He arrived in Victoria yesterday morning and was greeted at the Patricia Bay airport by Mayor Percy George and Alderman Harold Diggon.

Despite the fact that he had been aboard a plane throughout the night and had little or no sleep for 14 hours, Mr Mooney consented freely to photographers snapping his picture, and took pains to answer a long list of questions fired by reporters who rode back to the city with him in the official city car.

TO DISCUSS SALARY

He will have his first introduction to City Council at a special meeting called for 10 30 today Mr. Mooney is expected to be questioned by aldermen on his experience in civic administration, and to discuss salary considerations.

The top contender for the city manager post has an alert and decisive appearance. He speaks in a clear, direct manner and chooses his words carefully He has a ready chuckle and a quick sense of humor which he displays in many ways

When the official car passed a bed of daffodils, Mr. Mooney smilingly took off his hat in mock salute, explaining his action was caused by delight at seeing flowers growing in honest-to-goodness ground since the only daffodils he ever saw in Montreal were in store windows.

Quickly turning serious, however, he disclosed that he was aware that a late Spring had delayed the Island's daffodil crop

NO COMMENT

The Mooney hat was raised again as the official car passed over the boundary of the city, but Mr. Mooney had no comment to make on the question of amalgamation.

In press pictures some people here have found a likeness between Mr Mooney and John L. Lewis. In real life Mr. Mooney does not resemble the union boss. He is on the short side and of a hefty build. As a youth he was a champion athlete in Montreal. Now his bushy hair is turning gray at the temples, iron gray on top. While his eyebrows are heavy they are not lowering like those of Mr. Lewis. Altogether, Mr Mooney is happier and more energetic looking than the man with whom he has been compared.

For the people who wonder why he would leave three top-flight administrative jobs in Montreal reportedly paying him upwards of $20 000 a year to come here for $12 000, Mr. Mooney attempted to put his reason into words.

CHALLENGING TASK

He believes that the first office of city manager to be established in British Columbia offers a very intriguing and challenging task

He says he is tired of living in the illusion of the bright lights of a big city where inhabitants are limited by environment and the ruts created by their habits, and where the citizens of a neighborhood on one side of the big town have no knowledge of a neighborhood on the other side.

"Victoria has its compensations," he said.

Wise men always come from the east to the west, he holds in lighter mood

NO SHAKE-UP

He says he does not intend to enter City Hall with the idea of shaking things up. If he comes to Victoria it will be with the idea of co-ordinating and integrating civic departments and carrying out efficiently the policies set by the Council

Mr. Mooney insists, however, that he will not expect interference from Council members as individuals in his administration. Direction from the Council as a whole would be normal, but not direction from individuals.

Up to this point he is offering no views in regard to the size of City Council Suggestions have been made that the council might be reduced in size with a city manager in office

Mr. Mooney promises to keep his office non-political and non-sectarian

"A city manager has no politics" he asserts "He must remain completely free and objective The moment you get a partisan city manager you have a political hotbed"

Task of a city manager should be purely administrative he maintains It is his duty to administrate the broad policy laid down by council

READILY ACCESSIBLE

Mr Mooney sees no threats to the democratic rights of citizens in the position of city manager. As far as he is concerned there will be no lock on the door of his office If he is appointed city manager citizens will find him readily accessible

Mr. Mooney was born 49 years ago to an old established Montreal family. He is married and has three daughters, Shirley, 24; Pat, 22 and Beverly, 12.

The two older girls are graduates of McGill University, while the eldest is to be married within the next few months.

Mr Mooney's wife is anxious to live in Victoria Mr. and Mrs Mooney have visited here on previous occasions when their interests were stimulated in general conditions affecting the city.

Mr Mooney plays what he calls "a poor game of golf" He is also a swimmer His hobby is collecting miniatures of all types

Boost in Price of Beef Seen in City Next Week

Beef may cost more in Victoria next week.

Two wholesalers said yesterday the wholesale price of beef will go up about one cent a pound next week. Retailers do not always immediately increase their prices, but absorb the wholesale increases for a time, then raise prices on some types of meat as much as five cents.

Prices on various cuts of "red brand" or top grade beef range from 30 cents to $1. They may go up from three to five cents on some cuts.

TAKING SLIGHT LOSS

One wholesaler said yesterday his company has been taking a slight loss since the live market price went up again. "We're now selling at 45½ cents a pound and we should be getting 46," he said.

Wholesale prices of meat have increased some three cents in the last month, five cents in the last two months. Retail price, lagging behind wholesale price, has gone up in jumps. Wholesale price in turn lags somewhat behind live price.

Cattle have been fairly scarce on the Calgary market because restrictions have been placed on trucks traversing Winter-damaged roads, cutting down the number of cattle brought to market. Heavy American bidding has been another reason for scarcity and higher prices.

MAY BE HEAVIEST YET

Seasonal price increase, which starts in Winter and continues rising until Midsummer, when grass-fed cattle start coming in, may be the heaviest in decades.

One Victoria wholesaler said he had heard reports that there would be "50-cent cattle" this month—meaning a price of 50 cents a pound wholesale for dressed carcasses.

This, he said, would be the highest wholesale price in his memory.

It would mean a retail price increase of more than five cents on some cuts.

New Technique May Detect Cancer Cases

A revolutionary new blood-testing technique that may spot cancer victims as surely as X-rays spot tuberculosis, is on the way.

Still in the experimental stage, the test has proved 100 per cent effective in hundreds of laboratory tests.

Difficulty of diagnosis is one of the biggest factors to be overcome in the fight against cancer. If cancer is spotted early enough, the victim can be saved in seven out of ten cases. But it's one of the toughest diseases to diagnose by ordinary methods.

MAY TEST EVERYONE

The new, simple blood test may mean that eventually everyone will be periodically tested for cancer, just as most people now take regular tuberculosis X-rays.

The blood test, of particular interest to Victorians during the current "Conquer Cancer" campaign, is described in the April edition of Coronet Magazine.

SCREENING PROCEDURE

The test is based on the speed of coagulation of blood albumen in the presence of iodoacetic acid. Blood of healthy persons coagulates twice as quickly as that of cancer victims.

The test is simply a preliminary screening procedure. It does not detect the location of cancer; it merely proves that cancer is present somewhere in the body.

Claims He Saw Sub Surfacing

ASTORIA, Ore April 5 (INS).—Adding fuel to reports two or three modern foreign submarines are manoeuvering off the coast of California was the story of a tuna vessel skipper making port in Astoria yesterday

Skipper Charles Drury of the Kiska reported sighting an unidentified sub surface in the Pacific Ocean last March 7, about five miles off Crescent City.

He said he studied it from about four miles west through powerful glasses, but since it was flying no flag and made no attempt to remain unobserved he thought it a United States submarine. He had not heard the reports of unidentified submarines in the area until today.

Drury has spent 40 years at sea, served ten years in the Royal Navy and during the last war commanded a freighter torpedoed by a submarine.

Clark Gable Ready to Make Texas Film Independently

HEARD IN HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, April 6 (INS)—Clark Gable is a happy man these days. Happy with Sylvia in his marriage and happy that any hour he will have a signed contract in his hand from M-G-M giving him permission to make an outside independent. That's what he has always wanted.

Clark and Producer Z. Wayne Griffin bought "Lone Star," an original by Borden Chase and Howard Estabrook (he won an Academy Award years ago for "Cimmaron").

Clark took "Lone Star" to Dore Schary with the request that he be permitted to make it himself. He explained it was to be serialized in a national magazine, and that he liked the story and the background—the annexation of Texas.

Credit goes to Richard Powell for agenting the deal and helping talk Dore into agreeing.

• • •

PROBABLY FOR M-G-M

Katharine Hepburn told me when I was in New York that if she makes another picture it will probably be for M-G-M although she is no longer under contract there. So, could that be "The African Queen," which John Huston has given her to read will be made at M-G-M, since Huston has a releasing contract there.

After "Asphalt Jungle," I suppose he can have anything he wants at that studio. I saw enough of the picture to believe it is going to be one of the best mystery melodramas of the year. Sam Spiegel and Huston went Katie for "African Queen" and I believe she will accept.

• • •

PURE CONJECTURE

Rita Hayworth's plans for making a motion picture are all just pure conjecture. She has not yet seen Jules Stein, who will see her and Aly Khan at their home in Cannes, possibly over the week-end.

Aly writes friends that he will be laid up for another two months, and Rita will not do anything until he is able to be up and around. That she plans to come to Hollywood eventually is evident in the month to month arrangement she insists upon for renting her house here.

She had a chance to get a long lease and this she turned down.

RANDOM SNAPSHOTS

Anna Roosevelt, who has been undergoing treatment for desert fever at Berkeley, is in town for a week. She goes back, however, for more treatment.

Doris Duke's pearls around her neck and down the side of her dress stole the spotlight the other night from the Charleston dancers at Mocambo. She was beaued by Harry Crocker.

Arrangements are being made to fly Alan Curtis from Rome back to this country. He is ill in Rome with cirrhosis of the liver.

M.C.A. has bought an interest in the London theatrical office of Linnit and Dunfee.

Garry Cooper had the best seat in the house at the Broadway opening of the Helen Hayes show, "Wisteria Trees." Gary was given a chair in the wings. He made "Farewell to Arms" with Helen, and "Fountainhead" with Kent Smith—that's how he rated all this.

Rhonda Fleming has been in San Francisco at the bedside of her father who is sick.

I suppose the penalty of fame is that one of our stars have their names associated with girls they have never seen. That happened to Kirk Douglas, who was supposed to be at the encore room with Gloria Jean Ferrin. "It's all a made-up story," said Kirk. "I've never met the girl."

Lloyd Nolan brought out a representative audience at the Biltmore to see him in "Silver Whistle." He brought a lot of charm to the role which Jose Ferrer played on the Broadway stage. The Louis Jourdans, the Robert Prestons, Henry Hathaway and many others applauded Lloyd and the New York cast.

Roy Rogers is going to make a lot of children happy Sunday. He's rolling the first Easter egg on the Ambassador Hotel lawn for the Los Angeles Crippled Children's Hospital.

That's all today. See you tomorrow!

Uncle Wiggily Story - - -

By Howard Garis

HOT SASSAFRAS TEA

"I couldn't croak."

Bunty the orphan rabbit was going to make some carrot pancakes in the kitchen of Uncle Wiggily's sky auto. But when Greenie, the frog, sitting on the running board, whispered to her in a hoarse voice Bunty dropped the bowl of carrot pancake batter and shouted:

"Uncle Wiggily! Uncle Wiggily!"

"Yes, Bunty, what is wrong?" asked the rabbit gentleman as he looked out of his bedroom in the sedan part of the sky auto. "Oh, I see what happened. You dropped the carrot pancake batter. Never mind, you can mix a new batch of batter."

"Oh, it isn't the carrot pancake batter, Uncle Wiggily," said Bunty. "It's Greenie, the frog."

"My dear Bunty! Don't tell me that you spilled the carrot pancake batter on our little croaking friend, Greenie, the frog!"

"No, Uncle Wiggily, I didn't do that," answered Bunty. "Greenie is all right—that is, he isn't exactly all right—but he's sitting on the running board of our sky auto and it's too bad."

"What do you mean—it's too bad?" asked Uncle Wiggily as he twinkled his pink nose. "Of course it's too bad that you dropped the carrot pancake batter, but you can mix more."

"Excuse me for interrupting you, Uncle Wiggily," said Bunty. "But it is too bad about Greenie. He can only speak in a whisper and he says there are no more croaking frogs. There will be no Jug a Lug Day."

"Why not?" asked Uncle Wiggily. He put on his bathrobe and slippers and hopped out of the sky auto. He saw Greenie sitting on the running board.

"What is this I hear?" asked Uncle Wiggily. "What is this I hear, Greenie?"

Greenie, the frog, answered something, but in such a low, whispering voice that Uncle Wiggily said:

"I can't hear you, Greenie. Please croak a little louder."

"I can't," whispered Greenie.

"You were croaking loudly enough last evening, Greenie."

"I know I was," whispered the frog. "But something happened last night, Uncle Wiggily."

"What happened, Greenie?"

"I-I c-a-u-g-h-t cold," answered Greenie. "I was splashing around in the puddles and swamp of our Green Meadow. I was practicing my loudest croaks for Jug a Lug Day. Then I went to sleep and when I woke up this morning I could only whisper. I couldn't croak loud at all."

"That's too bad," said Uncle Wiggily kindly. "Then I guess you can't take part in the celebration of Jug a Lug Day."

"No, I can't," whispered Greenie. "And none of the other frogs can, either. They all caught colds. They can't croak. They can only whisper. Oh woe is me! There will be no Jug a Lug Day."

"Isn't that terrible!" said Bunty. "It's almost as bad as me spilling the carrot pancake batter. No Jug a Lug Day! The king and queen will be so disappointed."

"No, they will not be!" bleated Uncle Butter, shaking his golden horns. "Greenie, you are going to croak! All the frogs are going to croak. I will cure their colds."

"With hot sassafras tea," bleated Uncle Butter. "I will make hot sassafras tea. I will give it to all the frogs with colds. They will get back their voices and croak before the king and queen. There will be Jug a Lug Day. Wait until I make hot sassafras tea."

What happened next will be told tomorrow if the rubber ball will please stop bouncing on the head of the pin instead of playing tag with the door mat.

Prairies Enjoy Sunny Weather

WINNIPEG, April 6 (CP)—Sunny weather is back on the Prairies today, but temperatures still are below normal.

Cold air and clouds massed in Yukon during the last two days, has pushed into the Peace River region, bringing temperatures down 18 to 20 degrees. Snow is moving in with the cold.

The cold air but not the snow, is expected to move into northern central regions.

Temperatures last night were Winnipeg 16, Regina 12, and Edmonton, 26.

Many Indians Fear Vote, Calder Says

DUNCAN, April 6—Frank Calder, Indian M.L.A. for Atlin, addressed Duncan Rotary Club at the weekly meeting. Mr. Calder gave his impressions of the House as a new member and outlined the political history of the Indians of this province.

Mr. Calder said: "The vote was given to the Indians out of the blue, totally unexpectedly, and as yet many Indians are afraid to register for the franchise. So much has already been taken from them that they are naturally a little suspicious, thinking perhaps they will have to pay for this gift."

He said that minority groups in other countries, and especially native minorities, usually take many generations to attain a political balance, but that the British Columbia Indians are for the most part quite able to equal the white man's living standard.

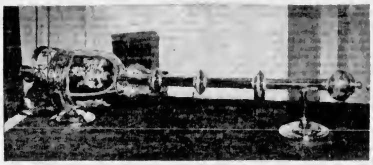
Mace From B.C. Welcomes Newfoundland Into Canada



Parliamentary mace, pictured above, was presented yesterday to people of Newfoundland by Finance Minister Herbert Anscomb on behalf of people of British Columbia. Made in this Province of sterling silver and gold plate, mace was presented to the Legislative Assembly of the new province during formal ceremony in St. John's.

Anscomb Welcomes New Province Into Confederation; Presents Mace

The people of Newfoundland were officially welcomed into Confederation by the people of British Columbia yesterday when Finance Minister Herbert Anscomb presented the new Province with the mace which he carried from Victoria to St. John's as a gift from this Province.

As he presented the mace to the Newfoundland Legislature, Mr. Anscomb also delivered a formal address on behalf of the British Columbia Legislature.

A copy of the address, hand-printed and illuminated on hand-made paper, and bound in royal purple suede leather in British Columbia, will be placed in Newfoundland's archives. A similar copy will be placed in the archives of this Province.

"We, of the most westerly Province of Canada, feel that your entry into the Confederate Family has been of particular significance to us, since you, like British Columbia, form one of the outer ramparts of this great Dominion," declared Mr. Anscomb.

"We, in British Columbia, felt that the most fitting memento to mark this historic event was the presentation of a mace—symbol of the Speaker's authority and thereby a symbol of the will of the people," continued Mr. Anscomb, who went to Newfoundland as acting Premier on behalf of Premier Byron Johnson.

Mr. Anscomb explained at length the design of the mace, which he said was made of sterling silver and gold plated, "both precious metals being the products of British Columbia's mines."

PROUD OF PROVINCE

"Knowing as I do the pioneering spirit of your people, the intense patriotism and loyalty that has inspired them at all times, the great sacrifices that they have made throughout the years, and more particularly during the last war, I say to you that we are proud to have Newfoundland as the eastern rampart of Canada, even as British Columbia prides herself in being the nation's bulwark in the West," declared Mr. Anscomb.

"You have in this mace, as we have in ours, a symbol of the will of the people," he stated. "I know that in entrusting it to your hands we do so confident that you will cherish it as such, and play your part as a member of a Confederate Family, forming an important part of the Commonwealth of Nations, which has been so richly endowed by the Motherland who gave us those liberties which we so highly prize."

While in St. John's, Mr. Anscomb will be the guest of Newfoundland's Lieutenant-Governor, Hon. Lt.-Col. Sir L. C. Outerbridge, C.B.E., LL.B., D.S.O.

George Warren Speaks

Easy to Cross Boundary Resort Conference Told

George Warren, commissioner of the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau, told the opening session of the third annual tourist and resort conference at Washington State College this week that "it is easier to cross the international boundary into Canada than it is to get from another state into California."

Mr. Warren addressed 60 early arrivals at a "pre-conference" dinner at the Washington Hotel. Representatives from Washington, Oregon, California, Idaho, Montana, Colorado, Michigan, Pennsylvania and Canada were in attendance at the affair.

The subject of his address was "What's Ahead for the Travel Business in 1950." He warned in his talk that all the Northwest must be on its toes to hold its own in the tourist and travel world. He told how nearly every country outside the Iron Curtain is making its own extensive campaign for the American tourist, offering an extensive variety of lures on a scale never known before. He said there was world competition for the tourist business.

The best possible approach, he believes, is the three C's—courtesy, comfort and cleanliness. "Perhaps in five years, the tourist may become first in dollar volume for the area."

He continued: "The trend toward labor unions getting two weeks vacation with pay for its members will be a tremendous boost to the tourist business. The greatest flow of traffic in the world over an international boundary line is between the United States and Canada."

Co-chairman for the conference, Professor Donald Greenaway, said that the purpose of the meeting was to take the widest possible view of the tourist and resort business and search out its problems.

The evening meeting at the mansion of President and Mrs. Wilson Compton was concluded with films shown by the vice-chairman of the Washington Parks commission, Mrs. Ruth Peeler.

Power Factor Causes Losses Says Engineer

Both power companies and industrial users of power are losing money because of "low power factor," Hugh Elliott, power sales engineer for B.C. Electric Railway, Vancouver division, told a meeting sponsored by B.C. Electric sales department and Victoria Electric Association.

DOES NOT REGISTER

Induction motors running with small loads absorb excess power which does not register on meters and gives poor efficiency in relation to power used, he said.

Low power factor causes thousands of dollars' loss in plant feeders alone, in addition to loss of capacity in utility transmission lines, Mr. Elliott said. Remedy is the use of capacitors, a type of condenser. The speaker augmented his lecture with a film, "Sittin' and Savin'."

George Langdon, president of the association, opened the meeting. Stan Roberts, B.C.E. sales supervisor, introduced the speaker. Earl Jarvis, secretary, and Gordon Roper, industrial sales, B.C. Electric, organized the program. Meeting closed with a question period and refreshments.

Judge H. H. Shandley presented each new citizen with his certificate and a letter of congratulations from the Secretary of State.

The 19 new citizens are:

To Cut Claims By Makers Of Cigarettes

WASHINGTON, April 5 (INS)—The Federal Government cracked down today on the "better-for-your-health" claims of some leading cigarettes and ordered makers of Camels and Old Golds to cease "false and misleading advertising."

In its decision, the Federal Trade Commission declared that all cigarettes contain "nicotine and throat irritants." FTC's "cease and desist" order is final as far as the commission is concerned but both firms may appeal to the Federal courts.

F.T.C. said it also is considering a trial examiner's recommended decision that the American Tobacco Co. be compelled to stop "misrepresenting" Lucky Strike cigarettes.

LONDON (CP)—During January Post Office telephone switchboards handled more than 18,444,000 trunk and toll calls as compared to 15,373,000 in the same period last year.

Amendments to Petroleum Act Placed in Effect; Will Encourage Exploration for Oil in Province

A proclamation has been issued making amendments to the Petroleum and Natural Gas Act, passed at the recent session of the Legislature effective from April 5, Lands and Forests Minister E. T. Kenney announced yesterday.

Amendments to the act were passed to encourage all companies to carry out exploration for oil in British Columbia. Provisions of the act were said to be hampering this type of work in the province.

The amendments provide for only one type of permit called a geological prospecting permit, it was explained. With this permit surface geology can be undertaken, but in the event that geophysical work is desired then it is necessary to obtain a geophysical licence.

PERMIT AREA CUT

The unit permit area has been reduced from 15,000 to 10,000 acres. Period of renewal has been increased.

The new licence provides for a minimum area of 320 acres to a maximum of 11,520 acres. Annual rental was dropped from 50 cents to 25 cents per acre.

Should petroleum or natural gas be discovered, it was explained, a lease must be obtained to cover from 160 to 5,760 acres. Not more than 50 per cent of the lease area can be taken from the operator, similar to regulations in effect in Alberta. Provision is made for reduction of lease rentals on natural gas fields.

Royalty on natural gas has been set at 15 per cent of its gross value at the well head.

A Crown reserve cannot be declared to cover any location "in good standing."

CHECKERBOARD PATTERN

Not more than 50 per cent of the area under licence may be leased by an operator and the remaining half of available lands reverts to the Crown on a checkerboard pattern, which is also provided for under Alberta regulations.

Maximum dimensions of a lease area are set at two miles by four miles, or three miles by three miles. The operator and the Lands and Forests minister make alternate selections in forming the checkerboard, with the operator having first choice. Lease areas held by an operator may only meet at corners.

The Lands and Forests minister stated that individuals and companies now operating within the province can elect to come under the new legislation within 60 days of April 5.

Pitkethley Given New Appointment

Andrew Pitkethley, British Columbia Hospital Insurance executive director, has been appointed superintendent of Provincial Government infirmaries under the scheme, it was learned yesterday.

Mr. Pitkethley is to have charge of the Province's three infirmaries, largest of which is at Marpole in Vancouver.

Quartette to Sing At Youth Rally

The Four Flats Quartette, Seattle Youth for Christ director Don Rood and Capt. C. F. Stabbert of the Gospel mission boat Willis Shank, will be featured at a special Youth for Christ rally Monday night in the Salvation Army Citadel on Pandora Avenue.

The Four Flats have been referred to as "the most unique quartette in America." For two consecutive years the boys have won the Northwest Barbershop Ballad contest and ranked high in similar international contests.

Book Listing B.C. Firms Now Available

The 1949-50 edition of the Regional Industrial Index of British Columbia is now available for distribution, Trade and Industry Minister Leslie H. Eyres announced yesterday.

The edition contains 312 pages and 38 pictures, showing many industrial operations in various sections of the Province. It is designed as a factual background for industrial planning on a regional basis. It is hoped the Index will assist boards of trade in each centre, prospective industrialists and others in assessing industrial opportunities that exist throughout the province.

USE NATURAL RESOURCES

Mr. Eyres stated it was his belief that the continued prosperity of British Columbia depends to a large extent on fuller utilization of the province's vast natural resources and extensive industrial facilities.

"Our economic progress and the creation of employment opportunities are geared directly to the expansion of existing industrial enterprise and the establishment of new business ventures in every community," he declared.

The Index is available from the Regional Development Division, Department of Trade and Industry at $1 per copy plus 3 per cent sales tax.

WEARS BLUE

The pretty bride, given in marriage by her father, was gowned in blue-grey jacquard crepe styled with cowl neckline and cap sleeves, and graceful skirt with unpressed pleats. Her matching half-bonnet was trimmed with lily of the valley and she wore a string of pearls and pearl earrings as her only jewelry. To complete her ensemble the bride carried an arm bouquet of blue iris and lily of the valley.

Mrs. W. Ian Anderson, matron of honor, wore a floral-print frock in Burgundy tone, styled similar to the bride's dress. Her hat matched her gown and she carried an arm bouquet of pink snapdragons and blue iris.

The bridegroom had Mr. John M Anderson as best man and ushers were Mr. W. Ian Anderson and Mr J. E. Marsh.

While the couple was signing the register, Miss Margaret Pepper sang "I'll Walk Beside You."

Saskatchewan Woman Prospector and Partner

CP Photo

This is Nan Morenus, believed to be Saskatchewan's only woman prospector, and her partner, John Albrecht. They have staked claims about 400 miles north of Prince Albert. They say it is a base metal prospect, but they cautiously refused to give any other information. Here they are seen working together.

Woman Detective Uses Laboratory To Solve Many Difficult Crimes

HUNTINGTON PARK, Calif., April 5 (AP).—A visitor dropped $2,500 in a gin rummy session at the home of a trusted friend.

The guest is a wealthy man; the loss didn't hurt him. But he's also a good gin rummy player, and he hadn't won a single game all evening.

He went to his host's house and told the maid he had forgotten his fountain pen. While searching, he pocketed card decks used the night before. Then he drove to this Los Angeles suburb and looked up a 48-year-old spinster named Frances Stilson.

She confirmed his fears And she retrieved his $2,500.

As a "private eye," Frances Stilson bears no resemblance to the hotshot radio and comic strip sleuth. In fact, she capitalizes on her lack of all the fictional qualities. She is big, broad-shouldered and deliberate. Her round, well-scrubbed face is devoid of makeup. She has heart trouble. And she deems laziness—of a certain sort—a distinct virtue.

Miss Stilson has been a detective for 18 years and has had her own agency for eight years. She is reputed to be one of the few outstanding feminine experts in fingerprint and handwriting analysis, and her chief interest these days lies in the identification of wills, deeds and other documents which tempt forgers.

WORKS IN LABORATORY

Having had her share of "triangle" cases, robbery investigations and even a few murders, she prefers now to confine her efforts as much as possible to her well-equipped laboratory, whence she seldom stirs until she is ready to present her evidence in court. Her staff does the leg work.

THE GIN RUMMY CASE

The gin rummy case was as tedious and exacting a job as she has undertaken in some time. First she had to determine that the cards were marked. They were, and very cleverly. Almost invisible lines were interspersed in the fan-shaped design on the backs of the cards. Once identified they could be detected by the naked eye.

Then she examined exhaustively every card in all the decks for fingerprints." She found as many as five sets on a single card. When she got through she had segregated the known players, and she had the prints of the host as well.

Confronted with this evidence, the erstwhile friend paid back his winnings. "The irony of it," said Miss Stilson, "is that my client could have given him the money—if he needed it."

Miss Stilson began studying fingerprint identification by mail as an antidote for boredom while she was bedridden for 18 months by illness. Well again and needing a job, she decided to put her hobby to work. A Detroit department store hired her, and for 10 years she was a sleuth in various stores.

Her heart condition, the care of an invalid aunt and the aftermath of a serious traffic accident limit her physical activities, but she has made assets of these handicaps. They have taught her to use her head instead of her feet, she says.

"You can get there first without rushing," she declared. "Give me an operative who is deliberate, every time. To be able to sit for three days and nights in a hotel lobby, for instance, without getting jittery and, above all, without going to sleep, takes a very special temperament. You might even call it laziness."

Celebrate Silver Anniversary

Mr and Mrs. Colin Gibson, Cowper Street, entertained recently in honor of Mr. and Mrs Ralph Fraser of Hamiota, Man., on the occasion of their 25th wedding anniversary. Mrs. A. L. Decker presented corsages to Mrs. Fraser and Mrs. Gibson, who was celebrating her 25th wedding anniversary. Mrs. Gordon Webb presented Mr. and Mrs Fraser and Mr. and Mrs. Gibson with gifts on behalf of the assembled guests.

Bridge was played, prizes for which were won by Mr and Mrs. Fraser and Mr. and Mrs. Decker. Refreshments were served from a table centred with a wedding cake made by Mrs. Gibson.

The guests included Mr. and Mrs. Ed Wray of Vancouver, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Homuth, Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Decker, of Victoria, Mr. and Mrs A L. Decker and Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Decker, of Decker, Man.

Guides Hold Open Meeting

The 1st Esquimalt Girl Guides held an open meeting recently at which parents and friends were welcomed Rev Dr and Mrs. H. Creal. Brown Owl, Mrs A Underwood with Brownies from Tillicum Pack and Brown Owl, Mrs. Harris and Tawney Owl, Mrs. A Rogers with the 2nd Esquimalt Pack, were among the guests.

Lone Woman Prospector Probes Ore Wealth in Saskatchewan

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask., April 5 (CP).—Men say that prospecting in the rugged northland of Saskatchewan is a man's job. But Nan Morenus, attractive redhead, thinks otherwise.

Nan, first an actress, then a writer, now believed to be Saskatchewan's only woman prospector, finds the search for minerals in the land of jagged rock, bushes and jackpine an exciting—and often profitable—way to earn a living.

She passed through Prince Albert recently with her partner prospector, John Albrecht. He was one of the major discoverers of uranium in the Black Lake and Stony Rapids regions.

They've staked claims north of Stony Rapids, about 400 miles north of Prince Albert and a short hop from the North West Territories

"It's a base metal," they say cautiously. "It's still too premature to say exactly where and what for."

Nan has spent about two years in the vast expanse of unknown Saskatchewan with a few Eastern trips to break the isolation. She is well aware of prospecting dangers.

Early last Spring, while mushing their dog team into the heart of Stony Rapid's treacherous terrain, Mrs. Morenus and Albrecht took to the lakes and streams even though the time for ice breakup was nearing Without warning, they found themselves, the dogs and the sled slowly sinking through the ice.

SWAM THROUGH SLUSH

"We were on crusted snow—the most dangerous and hardest to gauge of all ice," said Mrs. Morenus.

They "swam" ashore, by crawling with a swimming motion over the surface of slushy snow.

But the dogs—and the precious supply sled—were stuck 100 feet from safety. John Albrecht made two trips to pull the lead dog inch by inch to shore

BEAR DIET

Towards the end of the prospecting season last year, the pair, cut off from Stony Rapids by an early freeze-up, were forced to eat bear meat for more than a week

Albrecht, a veteran of the North, first started prospecting in the early '30s. He combined trapping and prospecting in the northeastern part of Saskatchewan, and worked northward to the fringe of the province.

In 1948, with Leroy Tobey, he made the uranium discovery that is being developed by Nisto Mines on Black Lake, one of the well-known properties in the north.

Uranium was the cause of the Morenus-Albrecht partnership. Mrs. Morenus wanted to stake claims in the area where Albrecht first found the radio-active mineral and asked him to accompany her.

Gives Aims Of League

At the Overseas League meeting held at the Windermere Hotel on Monday evening, Brig C. B. Cockburn opened the meeting by explaining the aims and objects of the league. He noted that His Majesty, The King is the patron and that other notable persons including Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Gloucester are vice-presidents and that Lord Mountbatten is president.

He stressed the importance of getting younger people interested in the league. He welcomed many new members.

Mrs R. L. Colby of the B C. Travel Bureau showed colored films of beauty spots in British Columbia as well as an industrial film.

Major R. Nation extended a vote of thanks to Mr Colby. Refreshments were served

Plan Banquet

Mrs. E. Cowndeo presided at a recent meeting of Princess Patricia Lodge No 238, Daughters of St. George, when Sister M. Carter, district deputy, made her official visit.

Final plans were made for the sale of work and tea to be held in the Hard of Hearing Hall, Douglas Street, on April 21.

Members from the sister Lodge No. 83 were welcomed, and arrangements were made for Lodges Nos. 238 and 83 to hold a joint St George's Day banquet on April 24 in the Lougheed Banquet Club, 1408 Douglas Street, at 6 30 p.m. Reservations can be made by phoning Mrs. J. Rutherford, G 6008 or Miss B. Currie at G 9008

Day Nursery in Toronto Kept Families Intact

TORONTO, April 5 (CP).—A day nursery in Toronto's West End has totted up its accomplishments for 1949. Besides the obvious task of caring for preschool children while their parents are out, the creche found it had solved many difficult personal problems.

The nursery enabled three fathers to keep their homes together after the deaths of the children's mothers, Director Margaret Lovatt reported. In several other cases the service meant the difference between broken homes and a chance for parents to begin again.

Other accomplishments: Regular care to children of 81 mothers who went to work because of death, illness or desertion of husbands; a daily average of 67 children, a day care total of 16,132 for the year; 320 families served.

But more day nurseries are needed, the report said. Applications of 267 families had to be refused.

Toronto's housing problem was reflected in the report. More than half the families who used the creche in 1949 lived in two rooms or less. The majority of self-supporting mothers of one or two children earned less than $25 a week.

Miss Lovatt reported the joy of one mother who said. "I've got a three-roomed flat — three rooms, mind you! And it has a sink; never in my life before have I had a sink."

You will be delighted with this fragrant tea

Looms in Demand as British Women Turn to Home Weaving Once Again

By MURIEL NARRAWAY

LONDON, April 5 (CP).—A homespun tweed called Sea Clover brings fame to Buckiyvie—a tiny village in West Stirlingshire, Scotland.

Ronald Paterson, one of London's Big Ten of fashion, used the material in one of his Spring suits. It was an instant success with overseas buyers.

The straight-skirted suit with loose hip-length jacket, wide sleeves and cuffed revers was combined with black accessories to set off the lovely shade of pink. The solitary slit pocket at skirt hip was accentuated by large tasseled motif in jet.

This fine worsted suiting is woven at Auchentroig Mansion, Buckiyvie, home of Mrs. Alastair Crawford, wife of an officer in the Scots Greys. A year after the war, Mrs. Crawford started a one-woman business which increased until she now employs five men and three women.

Mrs. Crawford is one of many women in Britain who has turned to home-weaving, which is making a notable comeback. There is a heavier demand for looms than the market has known for at least a century. They cost about £3 15s ($11.62).

At Worstead, Norfolk—the village that gave its name to worsted—a handloom has been installed in the village school.

Miss Dorothy Wilkinson and Mrs. Cecil Brown play important roles in this handicraft revival. They are partners in the London School of Weaving in Kensington and are trying to revive the ancient guilds of spinners, weavers and dyers.

The Queen, who shows a personal interest in this revival of handicrafts in the homes of Britain, will open the newly-formed Crafts of Great Britain April 17.

Crafts on view will include handwoven textiles, pottery, stained glass, wood and stone carving.

Hit by Wanderlust, Woman Travels Far

By MARTIN DIER

HAMILTON, Bermuda, April 5 (CP)—A 27-year-old Englishwoman, working her way around the world, will leave Bermuda soon on the next stage of her adventurous journey.

For the last six months, Joe St. Clair has been working as a waitress in a Hamilton tea shop. When she leaves, she'll have a ticket for the island of St Kitts in the West Indies, a traveler's cheque for her wages and the tips.

WILLING TO WORK

Coupled with her willingness to work, that will be enough, she believes.

She has traveled before without much money — to Canada, the United States and parts of the Near East.

After traveling through St. Kitts and other parts of the West Indies, Miss St. Clair hopes to visit Miami, New Orleans and New York and then on to Vancouver. After that she plans to visit New Zealand and South Africa.

Miss St. Clair says she is not afraid of roughing it. Her big regret is that when she joined the Auxiliary Territorial Services—the women's branch of the British Army—during the war, she was too young, 19—for foreign service.

"I always wanted to strike out on my own," she says. And she did.

Her early travels took her to Canada. Without money, she supported herself for part of a Winter in Montreal by shoveling snow. Later she looked after a child in Ottawa while the father was away. In Toronto she looked after three children.

Then the travel bug hit her again and she worked her way south to Bermuda.

Miss St. Clair said she plans to spend about two weeks in St. Kitts before visiting the rest of the West Indies. In British Guiana, she has made arrangements to work on a farm.

Official Visits Chemainus

CHEMAINUS, April 5. — The Ladies' Auxiliary to the Chemainus branch of the Canadian Legion observed the 4th anniversary at a well-attended meeting on Tuesday night, when the provincial president, Mrs. D. Swan of Victoria, was the honored guest.

Mrs. Swan commended the president and officers on the efficient manner in which the meeting was conducted, and on the fine community work done.

The president, Mrs. Floyd Bonde, was elected delegate to attend the provincial convention at Trail in June.

A donation of $10 was made to the hospital W.A. towards the purchase of a steam wagon for the Chemainus Hospital. Mrs. S. J. Andrews and Mrs. W. Paisley were appointed as the new visiting committee.

Following the meeting an old-time entertainment was held, and refreshments were served, including a birthday cake, complete with Legion W.A. crest.

TONGHAM, Surrey, England (CP)—Wire cages are to be installed around light fixtures in telephone booths here to prevent thieves taking light bulbs.

The first English Prince of Wales, the son of Edward I, was born in Caernarvon, Wales, in 1284.

Send Parcel

A food parcel valued at $5.35 has been sent to England, it was reported at a meeting of Gonzales Chapter, I.O.D.E., held at headquarters on Tuesday at which Mrs A. L. Chisholm presided.

Mrs. W. C. Nichol was appointed delegate to the Provincial Chapter meeting to be held in Vancouver.

Two instructive books, "Canada Produces" and "Canadians as Consumers," were given to Monterey School.

Tentative plans were made to hold a series of bridge games at the homes of the members. A sewing meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. J. B. Kay, 2540 Cotswold Road, on April 11, at 8 p.m.

Simple, Swift Recipe For Fluffy-White Cake

A fluffy, delicate white cake is yours with a simple recipe and a set of simple directions says Helen McCully. Writing in McCall's, she tells you to work with speed and care, and the results will be palate perfect:

WHITE CAKE

4 egg white
2¾ cups sifted cake flour
4 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
⅔ cup butter or margarine
1 cup sugar
½ cup sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
1 teaspoon almond extract
1 cup milk

Step 1. Get all ingredients. Note, it's important to bring eggs and butter to room temperature.

Step 2. Start your oven at 350 Fahr. or moderate.

Step 3. Separate eggs, putting whites in a large bowl.

Step 4. Grease evenly the bottoms and sides of three 8-inch cake pans. Then coat pans with flour by sifting a little into each pan and shaking vigorously so there is a film of flour all over bottoms and sides. Dump out any surplus. This device helps cakes to drop from pans easily.

Step 5. Sift flour. Then spoon lightly into a standard measuring cup and cut off excess to make level cup. Add baking powder and salt. Sift three more times.

Step 4. Work or cream butter or margarine with well-scrubbed hands until very creamy. Then work in 1 cup of sugar, a very little at a time, creaming constantly until mixture is very fluffy and all grains of sugar have disappeared. This chore will take you about 15 minutes but it's what makes a wonderful texture.

Step 7. Beat egg whites until they are stiff enough to stand up in points. Then beat in ½ cup of sugar, a very little at a time, sprinkling sugar over entire egg surface. Beat hard after each addition. As you beat, keep mixing the outside of the meringue into the centre so as to distribute sugar all through the egg whites. The finished mixture, which is really a meringue, should look like shiny, stiff, white satin.

Step 8. Combine vanilla and almond extracts with milk. Then add flour and milk alternately. Start with one-third of the flour and stir only until mixed. Then stir in ½ of the milk. Repeat, ending with flour.

Step 9. Fold or mix meringue into batter with a gentle hand. Make sure, however, batter is thoroughly mixed without any patches of egg white.

Step 10. Pour batter into floured pans dividing your batter evenly. Then bang pans once sharply on table top to distribute air equally through cakes and to prevent tunnels. Bake 25 minutes. Let cool 5 minutes then turn out on rack.

FROSTING

To frost. Combine 2 cups sugar, 1 cup water, pinch of salt, 1 teaspoon vinegar and stir over medium heat until clear. Don't stir further but cook until syrup makes a long, thin thread when dropped from tip of spoon. While syrup cooks, beat 2 egg whites until stiff enough to form points. Then add the syrup in a thin stream, beating constantly. Continue beating until frosting keeps its shape. Then beat in ¾ teaspoon vanilla extract. Frost between layers, around sides, then on top. Finish off with coconut, canned, frozen or freshly grated.

Pop Corn-on-the-Cob

Here's a new party treat for your youngster's next birthday or celebration. Try these novel ears of pop corn-on-the-cob and here's the easy way to make them. Pop enough corn to make six cups of popped corn (about two poppers full). Take 1 cup of sugar, ⅓ cup water, 1 teaspoon ~~vinegar, 2~~ tablespoons white corn syrup and ½ teaspoon salt. Cook above ingredients over slow fire, until a part, tested in cold water, forms a hard ball. Add one tablespoon butter or margarine. Pour this mixture over six cups of popped corn. While still warm, form into shapes of ears of corn. This will make about six ears of corn. For added fun, use green cellophane for husks, cutting cellophane into strips shaped like the leaves of the husks, and tie with string or ribbon at one end.

Deviled Shrimps Popular As Buffet Supper Dish

By THE CHEF

Italian devilled shrimps are a dish that holds a priority in my files. It has proved to be a most popular dish for a buffet supper.

Into a large ~~put put~~ ⅓ cup of butter and ⅓ cup of olive oil. When these are hot, put in 2 onions, chopped; 2 leeks, chopped; and a small clove of garlic, chopped. When these are golden colored, add 1½ pounds of fresh green shrimps, in their shells. When the shrimps are pink add a pint of dry white wine, salt, pepper and a little cayenne, and cook for [illegible] minutes over moderate heat. Take out the shrimps, and add a small can of Italian tomatoes and 2 level tablespoons of Italian tomato paste. Cook, at moderate heat for five minutes, then strain through a wire sieve into another large pot. Press with a potato masher or heavy spoon, working to force the material through.

Now add 2 bouillon cubes dissolved in ½ cup of boiling water. Let all boil until reduced one-third. It should be a rather thick sauce.

While the sauce is reducing, remove the shells from the shrimps, and take out the black intestinal vein. Put the shrimps into the reduced sauce, and add a tablespoon of minced parsley. Heat through, and add 4 tablespoons of butter. As soon as it melts, the dish is ready to serve.

This is rich, pungent and filling, but be sure to make plenty, for your guests will want seconds and maybe thirds. There should be Italian bread to dunk in the sauce—entirely permissible in this case—and a salad of crisp romaine and artichoke hearts in a very tart dressing would be a delightful offset to the rich shrimps.

These devilled shrimps were the specialty of the chef in a famous New York restaurant in the 20's. He never would give details about any of his recipes during his lifetime, but after his death the proprietor compiled a little book of the most famous ones, and presented them to his most honored guests. I was lucky enough to be in that category!

Ham at Easter Is Traditional Fare

Easter, the early Spring Festival of returning life always calls for some special recognition by the homemaker.

Just as turkey is traditional for the Thanksgiving dinner in this country, so ham is becoming the accepted choice of meat around which the Eastern dinner is planned.

A whole ham, baked and decorated, is a picture of elegance but unfortunately the average family will find it an expensive luxury. They need not, however, forego the enjoyment of ham for the special dinner for there are other cuts which will answer their purpose. A "picnic" ham, a cottage roll, a half ham or even a slice may be proudly served and enjoyed. A ten to 12-pound ham yields 20 to 24 servings. A four to five-pound "picnic ham" serves eight to ten persons. The "picnic ham" is first cousin to the genuine ham for it comes from the forequarter of the animal, but is cured and prepared similarly to the ham. Cottage roll, which is boned, rolled and cured shoulder, is sometimes a good buy.

Here are some suggestions for cooking and serving the various types of ham. The recipes have been tested in Canada's Kitchen by the home economists of the Consumer Section, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

PRE-COOKING

The time allowed for precooking depends on the type of ham purchased. Many processors are now partially cooking or completely cooking some of their meats. If the ham is uncooked it should be simmered in water to cover until tender, allowing 25 to 30 minutes per pound. If it is precooked it is best to read the directions on the wrapper and follow them carefully.

When ham has simmered or otherwise cooked until tender it may be glazed to improve appearance and add to the flavor. The skin should be removed and the fat surface scored in squares or diamonds then covered with the glaze. A whole clove stuck in each diamond is a nice touch, the ham is then baked at 400 degrees F. for 15 minutes or until nicely browned.

SUGGESTED GLAZES FOR HAM

Maple syrup, honey, corn syrup or fruit juice. Pour over ham and baste several times during the baking.

A mixture of 1 teaspoon dry mustard, 1½ tablespoons vinegar, 2 tablespoons sugar and 1 cup water or stock. Pour over ham and baste several times during the browning period.

A mixture of ½ cup brown sugar, ½ cup dry bread crumbs and 1 teaspoon dry mustard spread over the fat surface.

A mixture of ¼ cup brown or white sugar and 2 tablespoons flour rubbed into fat surface.

Honey spread over fat surfaces, then sprinkled with cinnamon.

A mixture of ½ cup of white sugar and the grated rind of an orange, spread over fat surface.

BAKED HAM SLICE

1 slice uncooked, smoked ham, 1 inch thick (about 1½ lbs.).
2 teaspoons dry mustard
¼ cup brown sugar
2 teaspoons vinegar
10 whole cloves
1 cup milk or fruit juice

Trim the rind off ham and place in shallow baking dish. Mix mustard, sugar and vinegar together and spread over ham; stick with cloves. Pour milk or fruit juice around meat. Bake, uncovered, in a moderately slow oven 325 degrees F. until tender—about one hour. Yield: six servings.

Double-Duty Sofas

A new bed idea for the small apartment or home is the combination of a 50" love seat and two tight, cushion-seat chairs. The back of the bed swings down to seat position and the seat swings out, making it unnecessary to pull the piece away from the wall. The two chairs, when moved into position at the foot, help form the 4'6" bed.

Salads Perk Up Spirits After Mid-Season Weather

By KAY REX

OTTAWA, April 5 (CP).—Plenty of salads are needed to perk up the spirits this dull mid-season weather, and fruit salads are ideal for the light luncheon dish.

Apple Cup Salad—Core the apples and scoop out the pulp to make apple cups. Fill a bowl with cold water and as each apple cup is made put the cup in the water. This prevents the flesh turning brown.

Dice enough celery to equal one-half the apple pulp. Mix celery and apple pulp with one cup cottage or cream cheese. Blend with salad dressing.

Dry apple cups and fill with mixture. Serve on crisp bends of lettuce.

Vegetable Salad—Ingredients: 1½ cups shredded cabbage; one cup celery; one-quarter cup chopped pimento; three-quarters cup small peas; three-quarters cup green beans; two tablespoons gelatine; one-half cup cold water; one-half cup mild vinegar, two tablespoons lemon juice; two teaspoons worcestershire sauce; two cups boiling water; one-half cup sugar, one teaspoon salt.

Soak gelatine in cold water about five minutes. Add vinegar, lemon juice, worcestershire sauce, boiling water, sugar and salt. Cool. When mixture begins to stiffen add remaining ingredients. Turn into wet mould and chill. When set turn out on bed of lettuce.

MUSHROOMS AND EGGS

There's nothing like scrambled eggs and mushrooms for a good supper dish.

Ingredients: Two cups sliced mushrooms, three tablespoons butter, eight eggs; two-thirds cup milk; salt and pepper to taste.

Saute mushrooms in butter until tender (two to three minutes). Beat eggs slightly. Add milk and seasonings. Pour into pan with mushrooms. Cook slowly, stirring constantly until mixture coagulates. Serve on toast.

SPANISH EGGS

Ingredients: Six eggs, two strips bacon; one small onion (chopped); one tablespoon flour; two cups canned tomatoes; one green pepper (chopped); one cup chopped celery; salt and pepper.

Cook eggs until hard. Remove shells and cut in half. Cut bacon into small pieces and fry until crisp. Remove bacon from fat. Cook onion in fat for a few minutes. Blend in flour. Add tomatoes, green pepper and celery. Simmer for 20 minutes. Add bacon and salt and pepper to taste. Pour sauce over eggs. Serves six.

ANSWER TO YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE

Modern Medical Work Saves Most RH Babies

A crumbling gravestone in Victoria's Pioneer Square graveyard tells a pathetic story of life and death in early Victoria, before the days of modern research.

The inscribed tablets are missing from three sides of what was once an imposing monument to settlers in Victoria, but the fourth tablet is still firmly fixed in place. It bears the following inscription:

"In memory of her beloved babes by their fond and forlorn mother, Ellen Carroll." Underneath is recorded the birth and death of three of Mrs. Carroll's children.

CHILDREN ALL DIED

George Washington Carroll was born February 22, 1860, and died the same day, John Thomas Carroll was born July 26, 1861. He lived only a few minutes. Mary Margaret Carroll arrived September 26, 1862. She also died the same day.

All three children would have lived to be normal, healthy youngsters had they been born in our time, city doctors feel. The Carroll children are believed to have been "RH babies," born with a blood condition unknown to doctors of the day.

MODERN SCIENCE HELPS

Modern medical practice has almost eliminated the deaths of children born of parents with the "RH factor." Complete or partial replacement of the infant's blood at birth usually results in a healthy child within a short time.

Red Cross Blood Transfusion Service supplies the blood without cost to the patients. The Red Cross also operates a clinic for testing the blood of expectant mothers for RH factor. This clinical service, also free, has typed the blood of over 30,000 prospective mothers since 1947 when the service was inaugurated.

A clinic for blood donors is being held in Victoria this afternoon and evening and Thursday afternoon, by the Red Cross mobile clinic.

Value of Group Games

By DR. J. B. WARREN

LICKED AGAIN!

Because they do not want their children to get hurt, which is natural, many parents do not allow them to play group games. By playing group games the youngster learns that he must play the position in the game that will help his team most, not the position he would most like to play. He learns thus to be unselfish. He learns that he must control his temper or be sent off the field for a time. He learns that he and his team must be licked sometimes, no matter how hard he tries.

These are the same difficulties he will meet later in life.

The Cutlass Empire

By F. VAN WYCK MASON

"For a fifth time the Spaniards, this time led by a Portuguese adventurer who names himself Manoel Rivero Pardal, have raided on our northern coast. At Caymanos he went ashore and slaughtered the inhabitants and burnt above 20 houses and hamstrung or slew all the cattle and horses he could find."

Modyford got no further because the door opened so patly that it could have been prearranged, and there shuffled in a gaunt, amber-faced fellow, the stumps of whose ears yet showed an angry red, and whose nostrils had been slit up the length of his nose.

He was invited to speak, and did so, readily. "'Twas the fourth of July, Yer Excellency, and I was attending my crops when I noticed a deal of smoke rising above Caymanos. Deeming some neighbor's house afire, I ran to the village and was captured."

In telling simplicity the farmer then sketched for the council a terrifying picture of horrors perpetrated by Pardal's men, of flames consuming stout Englishmen's homes and of his own mutilation. He had escaped solely through the drunkenness of his captors.

"—And that ain't the only time, Yer Honor," he averred. "Us on the North Shore, we're always in a sweat whenever we sights a sail. Why, there ain't a plantation in all St. James ain't lost men, cattle, crops or ships during the last two years. Please, Yer Honors, I — us can't go on like this."

The witness' fingers worked and his chin quivered. "Me, and my fellows we've worked real hard to clear our ten acres. Iffen ye think I'm lying—here's what I found nailed to a tree on my farm."

From a cowhide belt the mutilated man plucked a wrinkled sheet of parchment which both Modyford and Morgan already had seen; but they said nothing. At least half of the Council members arose.

"Let's have a look at that," growled Lieutenant-Colonel Richard Coape. Both he and William Ivey reached for the slowly unrolling document, but Morgan's broad hand closed over it first.

Impatiently, Morgan's fingers jerked looser a linen stock protecting his throat. Once the Councilmen had settled back in their seats, Morgan passed the missive over to Cot and directed, "Translate this for our benefit, and speak out so we can all hear."

Cot began to read in a voice which gathered strength as he proceeded:

"I, Captain Manoel Rivero Pardal, to the chief of the squadron of privateers in Jamaica. I am he who this year have done that which follows. I went on shore at Caymanos, and burnt twenty houses, and fought with Captain Ary, and took from him a catch laden with provisions and a barca longa. And I am he who took Captain Baines and did carry him prize into Carthegena, and now am arrived to this coast, and have burnt it. And I am come to seek General Morgan, with two ships of twenty guns, and having seen this, I crave he would come out upon the coast and seek me, that he might see the valour of the Spaniards. And because I had no time I did not come to the mouth of Port Royal to speak by word of mouth in the name of my King, whom God preserve.

"Dated this 5th of July."

Modyford's hand descended, crashing, onto the table. "Well, there is their defiance. D'you doubt now what we in Jamaica may expect? Does any one of you doubt that we must crush the Colonial Governors and their forces before they can be reinforced by that fleet from Spain?"

Morgan threw back his round, dark head. "God forbid! Sir Tom, all of you—know that we must scotch these vipers while they are yet in the hatching stage."

—Major Thomas Fuller, his cruelly powder-burned face an odd pattern of red and blue hues, wanted to know. Granting that to defend ourselves we must attack—just what have we got to fight with?"

"Suppose, Harry, you answer Tom's question?" Modyford suggested smoothly. "What can you accomplish against the Dons before their accursed fleet arrives?"

Morgan leaped up and with a violent motion of his left hand sent a stack of papers scaling across the room. "With any kind of support from you, gentlemen, I'll assemble enough of a fleet—stronger than any yet—and I'll twist the Spaniards' tails so hard their howls will be heard in Cathay! Aye, I'll smash 'em where they least expect it and, by God, I'll snap the spine of their power in two by taking"—he almost named his objective, but habit prevailed—"their major ports and destroying such yards and arsenals as they boast. Give me men, guns and guts and I promise I'll so terrify our enemies that there'll be no military force left to welcome a fleet from Spain."

Shirt torn open so far as to expose the bronzed muscles of his chest, Morgan flourished Pardal's defiance under Lieutenant-Colonel Ballard's pointed nose, then held the scroll so high that a sunbeam transformed it into a flashing symbol.

"You're right, Morgan!" Ballard finally took fire. "Call on me for what we want and, by the Lord Harry, ye'll have the pick of my ships, the pick of my bondsmen and —and, maybe, I can even find a little hard money!"

* * *

Odds blood! Not in years had he been so impatient. He was going to see Carlotta—and his son!

He checked his progress, commenced a little melody in honor of his new heir:

And dost thou smile? O, thy sweet face!
Would God Himself He might thee see!—
No doubt thou wouldst soon purchase grace,
I know right well, for thee and me."

There was something about the manner in which Morgan entered the baby's nursery, situated on the cool seaward side of the Barbadoes house, that gave Carlotta pause. In a way she found it frightening to witness how tenderness could so seize and soften this headlong, domineering man. "He does love the lad," she told herself happily, "and me, too. Ah, Seigneur Dieu, if he could be made to understand how much I adore him in return."

The crib, a magnificent affair of ivory and sandalwood, skilfully designed and gilded, stood near a carefully latticed aperture.

Because Carlotta essentially was warm-hearted and sentimental tears welled to her eyes at the sight of him whose very name inspired panic-stricken terror throughout the Spanish world shuffling ever so carefully over to the crib.

"Surely he is the strongest and most wonderful baby that was ever born."

"He's a very ugly little baby, if you ask me," Carlotta teased.

She shrank from the sudden fury in his look. "If that was a jest, it was a damned poor one."

Employing the delicacy of a marksman controlling the pressure of his forefinger on a trigger, Morgan barely brushed the infant's cheek.

"Harry! My own sweet son."

LEWES, Suffolk, England (CP).—Farmers on the coast here have been advised by their agricultural committee to grow higher hedges to reduce wind erosion.

Iron Mines Show Profit Of $1,477,273

STEEP ROCK LAKE, Ont., April 6 (CP)—Steep Rock Iron Mines, Ltd., had net profit in 1949 of $1,477,273 compared with a net loss in 1948 of $140,738.

Current assets at year-end were $3,416,144 and current liabilities $714,107, indicating working capital of $2,702,037. The previous year's statement showed current assets at $708,120 and current liabilities at $1,556,862.

The gross value of ore sold, 1,134,261 tons, was $6,950,153, compared with 886,091 tons valued at $4,615,390 in 1948.

D. M. Hogarth, president, in his report to shareholders, states that production in 1950 is expected to equal or exceed the 1949 level and that all the ore to be marketed during the year has been sold at higher than 1949 prices.

He added that the company's expansion program to increase production to 3,000,000 tons annually is proceeding on schedule.

Steep Rock's property is located here, 140 miles west of Port Arthur. The company was formed in 1939 and its development has included the draining of Steep Rock Lake under which its ores are located.

Oil Hunt Close To City Limits

EDMONTON, April 6 (CP) — A "little man" oil firm, promoted by a University of Alberta student, soon will bring the search for oil to within one mile of Edmonton's city limits. Drilling at the wildcat well is expected to begin before May 1.

The new firm is the Edmonton North Oil Co., Ltd., recently incorporated under the Companies Act of the province and now in the process of financing.

President and organizer of the new firm is William A. Moore, who this year will graduate with Canada's first class of petroleum engineers. An R.C.A.F. veteran, he is a native of the mining districts of British Columbia.

Vice-president is William Page, a druggist who came here from Winnipeg about a year ago. Secretary-treasurer is Harvey Metheral, well-known Edmonton race horse breeder and fur farmer.

Mine Institute Plans to Make Uranium Study

TORONTO, April 5—Finding the stuff that atom bombs are made of is a matter of keen concern to the Canadian mining fraternity and the men who have been entrusted with the task of maintaining the country's position as the world's second largest producer of uranium. Its importance looms so large that the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy has arranged to devote one whole day to a study of the subject at the three-day annual convention to be held in Toronto, April 17 to 16.

GREATEST CHALLENGE

"The prospecting and development of new sources of uranium presents one of the greatest challenges that the Canadian mining industry has ever been asked to meet," C. C. Huston, consulting engineer and chairman of the C.I.M. Toronto branch, said here today.

"Three years ago the Federal Government took the wraps off the search for radioactive materials and threw open the field to private enterprise. Our mining people have learned a lot about uranium since then, prospectors have turned up showings all over the country and some promising bets are under development. Nobody has yet brought in a new producer to add to the output of the Eldorado mine, operated by the Government at Great Bear Lake, but we are assembling the best brains in the country so that the industry will have at its disposal the most up-to-date information."

Leading the contingent from Ottawa will be W. J. Bennett, Eldorado president and formerly wartime assistant to Hon. C. D. Howe. He will discuss the Government's policy on purchasing uranium ores.

To Speak Here

STEWART M. SCOTT, C.L.U.

One of five outstanding speakers who will address some 60 Vancouver Island life underwriters at convention in Empress Hotel, April 12, is Stewart M. Scott, Canada Life Assurance Co., Winnipeg. He is member of his company's Millionaires' Club, has "persistency ratio" of 99 per cent.

CLAUDE F. DUNFEE, C.L.U.

Branch manager of Great-West Life Assurance Co., and president of L.U.A.C. at Vancouver, Mr. Dunfee will address Island life underwriters in Victoria April 12. In ten years as a Saskatchewan agent previously, he established $5,000,000 of new business. Other convention speakers will be Frank L. McFarlane, C.L.U., Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Co., Cleveland, O.; Harry B. Cadwell, superintendent of agencies, Mutual Life of New York, San Francisco; Leslie W. Dunstall, general manager, Life Underwriters' Association of Canada.

Howe Censures Scientist For Comments

OTTAWA, April 5 (CP).—Government disapproval of a Chalk River scientist's public discussion of the question of further Federal expenditures on atomic energy was indicated in the Commons yesterday by Trade Minister Howe, acting prime minister.

Answering a question about a speech by Dr. L. G. Cook, chemistry research director at the Chalk River atomic project, Mr. Howe said he was "surprised to find one of my scientists discussing financial problems."

ANSWERING DREW

He was answering a question by George Drew, Progressive Conservative Leader, about a speech yesterday by Dr. Cook, before the Ottawa Rotary Club.

Mr. Drew quoted press reports of Dr. Cook's statement that Chalk River "is at the crossroads" and the people should decide, through Parliament, whether Canada "should ante up with money and men" and stay in the world atomic race or whether "we should let our little fire run its course and flicker out?"

The fire is Chalk River's one radioactive pile or reactor.

London Market Loses Ground

LONDON, April 5 (Reuters)—Although the improvement in the United Kingdom's gold and dollar reserves created a favorable impression, early gains in British Government funds on the Stock Exchange were not held today.

Few buyers were forthcoming at the higher prices and the market eased to close around the overnight levels.

The industrial section was mainly a little better. First-class issues gained a few pence on small support particularly marked in textiles.

Oils were mixed with the Trinidad issues a few pence higher were altered.

C. H. Thurber Heads Bureau

MONTREAL, April 5.—The appointment of C. H. Thurber as manager of the Canadian Car Demurrage Bureau, which administers demurrage charges on behalf of all Canadian railroads, has been announced by W. M. Hugill, chairman. Mr. Thurber succeeds W. J. Collins who is retiring after 44 years' service with the bureau.

Mr. Thurber has served with the bureau since June 1, 1914, when he became a representative at Peterboro, Ont. He was appointed assistant manager at Montreal on January 1, 1945.

BOND TRADING QUIET

MONTREAL, April 6 (CP).—Trading was generally quiet on the bond market today.

Dominions continued quiet and unchanged, in face of rumors that the Dominion Government is preparing to make a large bond offering. Provincials and municipals were quiet and unchanged.

In the corporations, Interprovincial Pipeline improved by five points and Anglo-Canadian Oils advanced ⅛, while C.P.R.'s were off ⅛.

Demand for Aircraft Stocks, TV Issues Supports Wavering Market at New York

By The Associated Press

Demand for aircraft stocks propped a wavering market at New York yesterday.

Radio-television issues attracted buying support off and on, and a late flurry of demand spread to the motor division, and some chemicals and steels. Aircraft stocks, though, provided a backbone for the market through the session.

At the final bell gains outweighed losses by a modest margin. Changes were mainly less than a point.

SLOWEST FOR WEEK

Trading was the slowest for the past week or so, with turnover down to 1,430,000 shares from 2,010,000 Tuesday. Volume tended to expand when prices advanced.

Closing prices were at or near the tops of the day.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced .2 of one point to 75.3, just a shade under the highest point since August 1946. The industrial group did best, trailed by utilities. Rails on average closed lower.

A total of 1,086 individual issues changed hands, of which 431 advanced and 330 declined.

GAINS OUTNUMBER LOSSES

Gains outnumbered losses by a slight margin in active trading near the final hour.

Plus and minus signs were generally held to fractions, but a few issues showed larger changes. Industrial volume was 84,500 shares and mines had a turnover of 201,900 shares.

Papers and carriers were weaker in the selected group, but the industrial section, utilities, senior oils, beverages and steels were stronger. Base metals were mixed, while banks held steady.

Mines and western oils were irregular to firmer. Anglo-Canadian was up five cents at $4.65, General Petroleums declined eight cents at $1.12.

PRICES IRREGULAR

Prices moved irregularly in a narrow path on the Toronto Stock Exchange. Profit-taking pressure brought a two-day advance in industrials to a standstill and the remainder of the market was mixed. Volume was about 2,000,000 shares.

The majority of industrials trading were in the plus column but market leaders were among the losers. Utilities and papers tended lower while liquors and foods found strong support. Steels were mixed and refining oils showed balanced gains and losses. Golds bounced up from early losses. Seniors were in good demand.

Western oils established a new high in mid-session but slumped sharply towards the close. Heavy realizing on the four-week advance in the group pushed market leaders lower.

Base metals showed balanced gains and losses.

British, U.S. Experts Aid Canadian Advance

By The Canadian Press

Canada's industrial expansion in recent years has been greatly helped by the fact that she has been able to draw upon the technical knowledge and trained personnel of the United States and Britain.

These have given her quickly a "know-how" and virtually ready-made tradition in many lines which would have required years for her to obtain herself.

SOME COMPENSATION

This has been some compensation for the thousands of trained men she herself has exported in the past.

Trade Minister Howe deals with this phase in the current Commerce Journal, published annually by the University of Toronto Commerce Club. He says in part:

"We in Canada benefit from the graduate studies or scientific discoveries made by a Canadian in British university or in an American research laboratory. Canadian industry, and Canada generally, has benefited from American advances in the field of applied science which were in turn made possible through the fundamental research originally done in the countries of the old world.

"There is an exchange of scientific information between our countries, whether it is passed on from an American or British company to a plant in Canada or through the dissemination of scientific literature and continual intermingling of scientific personnel . . .

"Most of the professional people going across the border are recent graduates—well-trained it is true, but often lacking in experience. On the other hand we are receiving the benefit of some of the most expert advice to be found anywhere in the world.

HELPED IN ALBERTA

"Take, for example, the development of the Alberta oil fields . . . I wonder how long it would have taken if we had not had access to the technical knowledge and experience of Texan and Californian oil-field veterans . . ."

Mr. Howe said that it now is possible for professional workers to find good employment opportunities at home. Investigations on the distribution of graduates from four large Canadian universities show a declining trend in the number leaving the country.

He stated that in the case of the institution with the largest graduating classes, about 13 per cent of the science graduates went to the United States 25 years ago; today less than 2 per cent of recent graduate classes are reported as living in the United States.

Business Notes

NEW YORK, April 5 (AP).—Every major steel mill in the United States is booked to capacity for months ahead on all major products, The Iron Age says today.

"Steel is moving to customers on the allocation system developed during the hectic postwar period," the national metalworking weekly says. "Mills are being swamped with requests for steel faster than it can be turned out."

A drop in demand in the second half is to be expected, for mills now still are fighting to make up the 11,000,000 tons of steel lost during the steel and coal strikes, the publication adds.

* * *

TORONTO, April 5 (CP).—Sales and profits of Canadian oil companies Ltd., showed an increase in the first quarter of 1950 over the same period last year, W. Harold Rea, president, told shareholders at the annual meeting today.

Westerly Drilling Made by Goldvue

TORONTO, April 5.—A telegram received Monday from Martial Dumulon, directing operations of New Goldvue Mines, states that Diamond Drill Hole No. U14, drilled westerly from the west limit of 302 crosscut, has cut 22 inches of quartz about 200 feet to the west. This is at a point approximately 300 feet south of the intersection in Hole 20 which returned $87.15 over 20 inches and $15.27 over 12 inches. The new intersection could be the same vein. There are other quartz sections in the new hole, also. Samples have been sent out for assay.

BINGHAM, Nottinghamshire, England (CP).—The father of two boys summoned for killing a young swan, told the magistrate: "That is a wild goose. I will give £1 to the police orphanage if they can prove otherwise." Then he pointed to the bird's legs which were yellow and said a cygnet's are black. So the bird is in cold storage waiting for an expert to clear up the question.

Seek Stiffer Sentences For Drug Distributors

The Attorney-General's department is out to make it hotter for drug addicts and peddlers if appeals filed for the Victoria sitting of Appeal Court starting next Tuesday is any indication.

Although the Crown rarely appeals judgments in criminal cases a lengthy appeal list for the next sitting contains notices of four appeals by the Crown—two demanding stiffer sentences for men convicted of conspiring to distribute drugs and two urging conviction of men who were acquitted on narcotics charges in lower courts.

FLEE COUNTRY

Both of the acquitted men apparently have left the country or the province and cannot be reached immediately to be served with notices of appeal.

Main Crown case was one heard in Vancouver's County Court before Judge Bruce Boyd. In that case Leslie Lee, Charles Lee and Kenneth Bowman all stood charged with conspiring to distribute morphine.

Judge Boyd acquitted Charles Lee and sentenced the other two to 3½ years in the penitentiary.

Gilbert Hogg, Vancouver's special narcotics prosecutor will appear before court here to demand stiffer sentences for Bowman and Leslie Lee on grounds that the sentence is 'not commensurate with the gravity of the offence' and is out of line with other sentences handed down for the same offence.

In two notices of appeal signed personally by Gordon S. Wismer, British Columbia's attorney-general, the Crown will seek to reverse the lower court decisions that cleared Anthony Joseph Schlosser and Charles Lee of narcotics charges.

However since neither of the men have been located it is doubtful if their cases will be heard at this sitting.

May Enforce Law to Curb Oak Loopers

Oak Bay Council is considering enforcing the municipality's Noxious Insects By-Law in an effort to curb the damage caused every year by oak leaf loopers.

The subject came up for discussion at last night's meeting when Councillor George Murdock reported some residents have expressed concern over the problem.

If property owners do not co-operate in keeping their trees free of the insects, Reeve P. A. Gibbs explained, the municipality has the power to do the work and charge the cost to the owner.

Will Receive Pay Increase

Five per cent pay increase was granted to Victoria Public Library's 25 employees yesterday after discussions between the library board and a committee of the staff association.

The increase will add $2 565 to the library salary bill — estimated at $51 290 before the increase.

Contract with Otis Elevator Company for installation of two elevators in the library's four-story addition, at a price of about $30,000, was signed by the board. One will be a passenger elevator, the other a service elevator.

The contract was granted some time ago to Otis, one of three companies which tendered.

Waiting List Mounts

Two More Houses Ready For Veterans by Monday

Two more Central Mortgage & Housing Corporation rental homes for veterans will be completed by Monday, officials said yesterday.

The houses have not yet been allocated. The chosen occupants will move in some time next week.

Central Mortgage has a waiting list of more than 1 000 and the list is increasing at the rate of [illegible] a week.

The two houses now almost ready are the fifth and sixth in the corporation's 100-house project in the area.

Several more of the remaining 94 are in an advanced stage of construction.

Fine of $25 Set for Landlord Who Believed Rentals Correct

Fred Allen, 1214 Yates Street, was fined $25 and $2.50 costs in city police court yesterday after pleading guilty to several excess rentals charges.

Magistrate H. C. Hall fined Allen on the first charge and gave him a suspended sentence on the remainder.

J. A. Byers, Crown counsel, said Allen has made restitution, adding he would consent to a lenient sentence.

Defence Counsel James J. Proudfoot explained that his client had taken over the building from a couple and had continued to levy the same rentals, which he thought were correct. He reminded the magistrate that the former owners also had been charged for imposing excess rentals.

FINED

After pleading guilty Tuesday to a charge of creating a disturbance Ralph Savage, 2702 Asquith Street was fined $25 or in default five days in jail.

Rift in A.F.L. Ranks Settled at Special Talks

Theatened rift in the ranks of A.F.L.-affiliated Victoria construction workers supporting striking C.C.L. employees of Evans, Coleman and Johnson Ltd. appeared to have been closed at a special meeting late yesterday afternoon.

Support of the strikers, pledged last Friday by the Victoria Building Trades Council (A.F.L.-T.L.C.), was reaffirmed.

The meeting, called by international representative William Page, Vancouver, of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners (A.F.L.-T.L.C.), was attended mostly by business agents and representatives of local A.F.L.-T.L.C. construction unions.

RESPECT ALL LINES

They agreed to respect all picket lines established by the striking union, Vancouver Island Drivers, Division 234, Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees and Other Transport Workers, (C.C.L.) and to refuse to handle any materials normally handled by the struck firm.

A joint strike committee to work in co-operation with the C.B.R.E. was named. The committee includes Reg Atkinson, Vancouver, international A.F.L. Teamsters' Union representative, Robert Smeal, C.B.R.E. district representative; Victor Midgley, United Brotherhood of Carpenters' representative, Earl B. Allen, business agent of Victoria Local No. 1093 of the International Hod Carriers and Building and Common Laborers' Union, and C. A. Peck, business agent, United Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (A.F.L.-T.L.C.) and president of the Victoria Trades and Labor Council.

CLOSED MEETING

The meeting was closed to the press.

However, debate was reported stormy over a seeming split among unions supporting the strikers. Discussion is supposed to have centred partly around incidents yesterday and the day before involving gravel deliveries to the site of the new Provincial Government administrative buildings on Government Street.

The striking truckers have been picketing the job since last weekend, but at least three truckloads of sand and gravel have been delivered to the job within the last two days.

GAVE DRIVER ORDERS

The situation came to a head yesterday when Bill James, international A.F.L. laborers' union representative, appeared on the scene and instructed an A.F.L. Teamsters truck driver to dump a load of sand which the strikers had declared "hot."

Pickets and workmen who left their jobs in sympathy were puzzled. Mr. James declined to comment.

Earlier in the day, while pickets were around the building, a load of sand from Stewart & Hudson Ltd. was dumped at the construction site.

Shortly afterward a Heaney Cartage & Storage truck, driven by an A.F.L. Teamster, appeared on the job.

The driver was uncertain as to whether to dump his load. Pickets asked him not to, but James told him to dump it, on grounds that, if the C.C.L. driver could dump his load, so could the A.F.L. man.

C.B.R.E. officials said, however, that the first load had been dumped by mistake and that the Stewart & Hudson truck would be back to take it away.

The truck returned about noon, with G. J. Stewart, partner in the firm, in attendance himself.

Since, however, the second load had been dumped on top of the first, Mr. Stewart said he was not permitted to reload and C.B.R.E. officials agreed not to press the matter further.

C.B.R.E. pickets appeared puzzled.

Similarly, Tuesday, A.F.L. teamsters and laborers' heads complained of delivery of a load by another C.B.R.E. driver, this time of an Island Building Supply truck.

The manager of the firm said later that he did not know of the delivery and, further, that he would not risk trouble with the C.B.R.E. drivers by sending gravel to the project, which, until the strike, was supplied mainly by Evans, Coleman & Johnson Bros.

C.B.R.E. officials charged later that the delivery had been "rigged somehow," in that it coincided among other things, with appearance on the scene of a Labor Relations Board official.

A possible explanation of the incident lies in the fact that the striking union had been reluctant, for legal reasons, to openly picket construction jobs in the same way that it is picketing premises of Evans, Coleman.

Open picketing often involves speaking directly to persons appearing likely to cross the picket lines. On premises other than those of the single firm with which the union has the dispute, such talking might be construed as "watching and besetting," a legal offence under the circumstances.

ATTENDED EARLY MEETING

The Laborers and Teamsters Union representatives were among delegates attending the Building Trades Council meeting here last Friday, which promised not to handle materials declared "hot" and to respect picket lines.

But, judging from the incidents, James and the teamsters were insisting that "hotness" be defined by "all-out" picketing on the part of the strikers.

Meanwhile, yesterday, work continued on the project with A.F.L. plumbers, bricklayers and electricians working as usual and about 75 carpenters and laborers absent.

Growers Hard Hit

Daffodil Shortage Looms As Cold Delays Blooms

Eastern Canada faces a shortage of daffodils this Easter because of the Pacific Coast's rugged Winter.

The latest season in 30 years has seen Vancouver Island and Lower Mainland fields, normally masses of blooms, still green with Easter only two days away.

Growers estimate their collective loss this year will be $100,000.

BIG LOSER

Among the hardest-hit is Cordova Bay's William Mattick, the "Bulb King of Canada."

Mr. Mattick harvests between 4,500,000 and 5,000,000 flowers a year and sells them—largely in the East—for $60,000.

His crop, normally 10 days ahead of the Mainland harvest, is three weeks late this year.

STARTED IN 1923

Mr. Mattick, a former Qu'Appelle, Sask., wheat farmer, started his Island industry 27 years ago with 6½ acres and a green thumb.

Today it takes 10 men to manage his 340-acre holding all year 'round, and as many as 45 at peak seasons. He builds his own machinery. Last year he chartered a plane to fly out his blooms.

Besides daffodils, he grows thousands of iris, hyacinths, and tulips, tons of cabbage, squash and cauliflower.

But his prize crop is daffodils. And this year, with Eastern markets begging for flowers, Mr. Mattick can only blame "the hardest Winter I've ever seen here" for the lack of traditional Easter blooms.

Montreal Cagers Take Second Game of Series

MONTREAL, April 5 (CP).—Sharpshooting Y.M.H.A. Blues hung up an easy 47-34 victory over University of Manitoba Bisons here tonight to give the Montrealers a 2-0 lead in their best-of-five series for the Canadian senior basketball crown.

A capacity crowd of 2,000 saw the Montrealers go through a comparatively soft game as the Bisons appeared disorganized and practically faded out of the running in the second half of the contest.

Veteran Doodie Bloomfield was the star performer for the Montreal Blues, sinking four field goals and three free tosses for 11 points. He was closely followed by Sol Tolchinsky, who connected for five field throws.

BISONS CHECKED CLOSELY

The contest started out at a blistering pace, but the smooth operating Blues soon took over control and held the visitors in close check.

Bisons' star, Carl Ridd, who sank 25 points Monday night when the Blues defeated the Westerners 53-45, was held to 11 points, made up of four field goals and three free throws.

At halftime, Montreal held a 23-17 margin. From there on they came through with some superb passing combinations and strong defensive work that had the lanky Westerners backtracking.

CLEAN GAME

The game was cleanly played with 11 fouls called against Bisons and 13 against Montreal.

Montreal, shooting for its first Canadian senior crown, will likely end the series here tomorrow night in the third game of the series.

Jim Tang, Colonist sports editor, is in Kamloops covering the spring training of Victoria's baseball Athletics. This is another in the series of guest columns being used during his absence.

Today's guest columnist is a former Canadian Olympic sprinter and one of Canada's best known track and field coaches. He returned only recently from the British Empire Games in New Zealand, where he handled the Canadian track and field team. He writes about running and adds some interesting comment about life "Down Under."

By BRUCE HUMBER

When you watch a well-trained runner or jumper it may seem that he merely starts a race, runs it and finishes it. But there is more to running than meets the eye.

Track is a sport in which the competitor spends more time preparing for less actual competition than almost any other sport. Take the case of a sprinter who runs an average of six 100-yard dashes a season. He will spend around 72 hours practising to compete for about 60 seconds. The more he practices, the less he will compete because he will be running faster.

From this you can see that track is a sport which requires an athlete to be a perfectionist. He is in competition for so short a time that absolute perfection is necessary for him to achieve his best performance. There is no time for a mistake either physical or mental. The man who eventually runs the four-minute mile or the nine-second hundred will make no mistake in judgment or reaction. That is why you will see a sprinter practising start after start—or a miler trying day after day to learn perfect pace.

Track is also a sport in which you cannot depend on your teammates. You must depend on yourself. After the gun barks you are on your own—you either win or lose and there is nobody to blame but yourself.

Track is also a paradox—runners who really love the sport often hate it just before a race. They would do anything not to have to run it—the tension is terrific—but they always come to the mark and they always run. Every runner acts differently before a race. Some act nonchalantly—talk a lot—others cannot talk to anyone the whole day of the race. Still others are physically sick just before a race, but they never quit once they have the bug. I have never known a champion runner who did not go through this feeling of tension before a race.

About New Zealand

New Zealand is a country of fewer than 2,000,000 people with a terrific national pride . . . Steak and eggs for breakfast seems to be the standard diet. There are no restaurants as we know them—if you want a meal you go to a hotel . . . At Rotorura, the thermal region of New Zealand, you can sink a shaft 80 feet anywhere in the city and have free steam heat for your house . . . The Maoris' standard greeting is to rub noses and say Kio-Ora, which means thrice welcome . . . All Maori villages and most other towns have names that end with two syllables the same, but since the Maori is lazy he only pronounces one—example, Otahuhu is just Otahu . . . Nearly all houses in New Zealand have tin roofs painted red—"rain on the roof" is just that . . . Wharf laborers are so slow the birds nest in the funnels of visiting ships—or so say the local cartoonists, who caption their cartoons, "How did they know the ship would be here that long" . . . Street cars, or trams, are still going strong and if you thought Victoria street cars were ancient, these are their grandfathers . . . The country was of volcanic origin and the city of Auckland has 31 extinct volcanoes within its boundaries . . . There is a 40-hour week. Everything stops from Friday to Monday . . . Seats in movies are stalls and must be reserved. Shows do not run continuously but at stated times with an intermission after the second reel for tea . . . Although customs are different, people are not. Being much like ourselves, they really know how to make visitors to their shores feel at home . . . Canada will have to start now if she hopes to do the kind of job on the Empire Games in 1954 that was done by this little country in the South Pacific.

Proposes Expansion Of Major Leagues

DALLAS, Tex., April 5 (INS).—R. W. (Dick) Burnett, oil wealthy owner of the Dallas Eagles, today proposed that the two major baseball leagues should be expanded to ten-team circuits.

Under the Burnett plan, Dallas, Houston, Los Angeles and San Francisco would be taken into the big leagues.

"The major leagues might as well face it," he said, "we're ready down here for big-time baseball and so is the West Coast."

Flashy Tars Take Commercial Title

Sailors Outskate Co-ops for 7-3 Victory In Deciding Game of Best-of-Five Series

Navy's hard-skating hockey club won the Commercial Hockey League championship at Memorial Arena last night by downing Fishermen's Co-op 7-3 in the fifth and deciding contest of the final series.

Once again it was speed and better all-round balance that turned the tide of victory in favor of the sailors. Skating at top speed throughout, they gradually wore down their older opponents as their three attacking units alternated in rapid succession.

KEPT TRYING

Although beaten, the Fishermen gave nothing away in gameness and never stopped trying even in the dying minutes when their cause appeared hopeless. Taking longer shifts on the ice than the Tars, Co-ops were unable to get back on many occasions and opposing forwards were unmarked in front of the goal time and again.

Play in the second and third periods matched anything seen in the Commercial loop this season for sheer speed and excitement and breath-taking saves by the goaltenders. After Ed Varga tied the score midway in the second, the teams flashed from end to end in a brilliant crowd-pleasing display with Ivan Wood counting the only other tally to give Navy a 2-1 lead at the end of the session.

TERRIFIC PACE

The clubs set a terrific pace in the final period with the Navy supporters howling with glee as their favorites boosted the score to 5-1 on tallies by Steve Harris, Neil Standley and Johnny Neve.

Jimmy Neilson set Varga up for the neatest score of the game at the 15-minute mark only to see George McMorris drive in a long shot to regain the four-goal Sailor lead. Varga and Ivan Wood traded goals in the dying minutes.

At the conclusion of the contest, the jubilant winners swarmed around their brilliant goaltender, Norman Jones, in tribute to his outstanding play during the series. Players of both clubs shook hands all around and the bitter feelings of the past two weeks were apparently all forgotten.

Although declining to comment on his trip to Vancouver to arrange an exhibition game with the winner of the Vancouver mercantile loop, there appears to be a strong possibility that arrangements will be completed.

SUMMARY

NAVY 7, FISHERMEN'S CO-OP 3

First Period — 1, Navy, Neve 16 07. Penalties—H. Harris, Oberg 2, McMorris, Johnson.

Len Noren May Rejoin Athletics

Back in Victoria yesterday to clean up some business details, Business Manager Reg Patterson disclosed that there was a strong possibility that Outfielder Len Noren would be sent back to the Athletics this year.

Noren joined the A's in mid-season last year and proved to be one of the classiest centre-fielders in the Western International League. He batted .316 and drove in 64 runs in 70 games. His 95 hits included 18 doubles and eight home runs.

Also in the baseball news yesterday was an unconfirmed report that Vic Buccola, flashy first baseman with the A's last year, will appear in the livery of the W.I.L.'s new Tri-City entry this season.

Royals Down Vancouver For 2-1 Lead in Series

NEW WESTMINSTER, April 5 (CP).—Normie Kirk ended a Pacific Coast Hockey League play-off marathon tonight at 8:04 of the second overtime period as New Westminster Royals downed Vancouver Canucks 4-3 to lead the best-of-seven Northern Division final 2-1 in games.

End-to-end play that could have seen either squad win marked most of the contest which promises to leave two spent squads at the end of the series.

New Westminster held an edge in the first session, were pressed hard by Vancouver in the second and then battled on even terms the rest of the 43 minutes.

There were only seven penalties in the game while Ron Pickell in the Royal goal and Lucien Dechene in the other net were tops throughout, Pickell having more to handle for the outbumped Royals.

The teams return Friday night to Vancouver and return to New Westminster Saturday night. New Westminster can sew the series then. Tonight's contest was the second overtime match in as many games between the two deadly rivals.

SUMMARY

First Period — 1, New Westminster, Valenti (Evers, Ullrich) 4 04; 2, New Westminster, Dorohoy (Dufault, Lavall) 12 18. Penalties: Valenti, Paul, Janes.

SHAMROCKS PRACTICE

A workout for players of Victoria's inter-city box lacrosse club will be held in the recreation hall of the city police station tonight at 7 o'clock. All players are requested to attend.

Tough Fight Likely

All-Star Game Will Help Younger Soccer Players

Victoria's younger soccer players will be the beneficiaries when Victoria United and the Victoria and District Football Association all-stars clash at Royal Athletic Park tomorrow in the feature attraction of the Juvenile Day program. All proceeds from the stellar attraction will go to the Lower Island Junior and Football Association for the promotion of soccer amongst young players.

FACING TOUGH TASK

A definite contender for Coast Soccer League honors this year, United will face no easy task in the All-Stars. No definite starting line-up has been named for the "rep" squad but selection will be made from a mixture of 18 veterans and youngsters. Coach Charlie Lewis may press any or all of the following players into service: "Moon" Evans, Dave Mayne, Elmer Henry, Jack Robbins, Stan Wiseman, Cliff Robbins, Jim Turner, Arnie Ferguson, Tim Walker, Stan Thompson, Don Robinson, Ron Woolcock, John Kennedy, Ron Pearce, Noel Morgan, Gordie Hobson, Dick Bell and Norm Richards.

The game will start at approximately 3 45 p.m. and will be preceded by provincial Division I juvenile final between Veterans of France and Western Supply of Vancouver at 1.00 o'clock. The Division II provincial final will also be played in Victoria with Tillicums meeting H. Price of Vancouver at Lower Beacon Hill at 10 30 a.m.

GO TO VANCOUVER

Two other Victoria juvenile squads will go to Vancouver to seek B.C. crowns. Careys, Division II titlists, will meet Marpole and James Bay will oppose the Mainland winners for the Division IV championship. Members of the traveling teams are asked to meet at the C.P.R. dock at 12 30 p.m. today.

Hogan, Snead, Jones, Demaret Share Masters' Golf Tournament Spotlight

By PAT ROBINSON

NEW YORK, April 5 (INS) — The spotlight will shine on four men in the 13th renewal of the Masters' golf tournament in Augusta, Ga., tomorrow.

These four are Ben Hogan, Sammy Snead, Bobby Jones and Jimmy Demaret and each will draw a gallery for different reasons.

Demaret, who probably is the world's flashiest dresser, will attract attention from both sexes if for no other reason than to learn what is new in the way of fancy golf togs.

DIZZY OUTFIT SURE

He is sure to come up with a dizzy outfit. He may show up in a pink shirt with green stripes and yellow polka dots, a pair of purple pants and a red hat. The one sure bet in the tournament is that no matter what Jimmy wears it will be unlike anything else under the sun and only he would have nerve enough to wear it. On him these fantastic clothes look natural.

Jones, of course, always draws a throng although he can no longer play tournament golf. A serious operation decided that for him. But the old-timers like to talk to him and get his opinions on anything and everything pertaining to golf.

Snead, the man with the perfect swing, will attract the experts to whom Sammy is always a pleasure to watch and the duffer who wants to find out just how his and Sammy's swings differ.

Sammy has been complaining about a sore back but we have a hunch that Sammy's ailment is like those which are always hitting Luke Appling, veteran shortstop of the White Sox. When Luke complains most bitterly his teammates know he is in for a big day.

Sam won the Masters once and he is eager to be the first man to repeat in the tournament. He could do it because he has all the natural equipment necessary. A Snead victory is never a fluke.

Sammy is co-favorite with Cary Middlecoff.

Hogan is an enigma. Little more than a year ago an auto accident put him in hospital for months and almost cost him his life.

He made a gallant comeback in California, but then had a relapse. Many of Ben's friends think he should hang up his clubs. But we disagree. Golf has been his life and he probably would do himself more mental harm by remaining idle than he would by playing.

Ben's legs are his main problem. If they stand up he has the stuff with which to win the Masters, which, by the way, is about the only major tournament victory that has eluded him.

He shot a five under par 67 over the 6,900-yard layout yesterday which is a fair indication that there is nothing wrong with his game. The only question is: Will his legs hold up?

Call Issued for Caddies

Additional City Golfers Enter Empress Tourney

Derek Rhys-Jones, manager of the Colwood Golf Club, disclosed yesterday that the actual number of out-of-town entries in the hands of the Empress Hotel golf tournament committee is somewhat below the number indicated earlier by the Canadian Pacific public relations department in Vancouver.

However, Rhys-Jones stated that additional local entries had raised the number of Victoria entrants to 28 and many more applications were expected from both city and visiting golfers with the final total going well beyond the 200 mark.

ENTRIES NOT POSTED

Although not all have posted entries to date, several of the city's leading shotmakers have expressed their intention of stepping to the first tee when qualifying play begins at the championship Colwood layout on Monday.

Vic Painter, three-time victor in the men's open division, rates an excellent chance to repeat over his home course while another Colwood performer, Billy McColl, ranks as a strong contender for top honors along with Harold Lineham, H. L. English and J. R. Potts.

A request has been issued by the committee for as many caddies as possible to be on hand for the 20th annual event. Services of caddies are also expected to be in demand on Saturday and Sunday when many visitors will be familiarizing themselves with the greens and fairways.

Local entrants who are driving their own cars are being asked to contact Mrs. Helen Crowe at the Empress Hotel each morning of the tourney to assist in solving transportation problems of visiting performers.

The Sportlight

By GRANTLAND RICE

The question before the House of Golf today is this: Who will win the Masters at Augusta?

It takes class to handle this big show—such class as the past has shown with Byron Nelson, Gene Sarazen, Jimmy Demaret, Sammy Snead, Horton Smith, Henry Picard, Craig Wood and others who have helped to write golf history.

This is a tough, but beautiful course, where par rides high. The return to arms of Ben Hogan and Nelson, the brilliant Texans, adds further interest to a tournament that has already become a national fixture, largely because of the name of Bob Jones, the character of the contestants, and the able manner in which the Masters is run.

Bob will be back again, recuperating from a spine operation, but probably the keenest spectator around the course.

Speaking of spines, if Snead's back is O.K. this week-end, he will be the man to beat.

After a slow start last April, I saw Snead finish with two 67's—10 under par for the two closing days. The Augusta National should be his course. The Virginian with the golden swing has the needed length with wood and iron to knock over the par-5 holes and also to bring his deadly wedge into play on the drive-and-pitch tests. If his putter happens to get warmed up, Sam will be hard to handle for, on this course, the putter can play a winning part over the rolling, tremendous greens.

The Field to Beat

The Masters show is always a matter of rugged opposition and it will be that way again this year.

In the line of march we have Ben Hogan, Nelson, Cary Middlecoff, Jack Burke, the most promising of the younger entries; Johnny Palmer; Demaret, twice winner; Sarazen, acting for the veterans; Lloyd Mangrum, Clayton Heafner, Dutch Harrison and many other seasoned competitors who have the dust and mud of several thousand miles sticking to their shoes. Hogan will naturally be one of the featured people. Ben has now completed a long and needed rest after his violent outbreak in California where he rather overdid an amazing comeback.

Ben has never won this tournament and he is now keener than ever to add his name to the Masters' list. He lost one in a play-off against Nelson and blew another by missing a two-and-a-half-foot putt on the final green.

In his training period for this competition Hogan has been playing brilliantly again. He has broken 70 more than once. Fifteen pounds above his old-time weight, he is hitting the ball as well as he ever did and is just as straight. Ben is still one of our best putters and, like Snead, he has the length to handle those 500-yard, par-5 holes.

Nelson has discovered what Bob Jones found first—that you can't lay off, play once a year, and have much of a chance. Nelson is still a great golfer, but his few tournament stands haven't been any too happy the last few years.

If you must reach in the bag for another name you might as well come up with Middlecoff, United States open champion. The tall, pleasant Memphis dentist got away slowly this late Winter and early Spring. But he came back with a rush later and is now in stride again. Middlecoff is one of our best younger golfers with the length and control needed to mingle with the elite.

Young Jack Burke will bear more than casual inspection. The curly-headed favorite of the Bobby-Soxers started 1950 with a rush and is now well up on the money side. Burke has worked long and hard to reach the top and he is almost certain to get there before his career is over. He uses his head well and has the determination needed to move up.

Cleveland Indians Appear Set To Make Strong Bid for Flag

SAN ANTONIO, April 5 (AP)—Even though Manager Lou Boudreau still has a couple of worries, Cleveland Indians appear to be real pennant contenders.

The world champions of two seasons ago are hitting vigorously again and their pitching has been much the sharpest shown by any of the six clubs which trained in the West. They must be counted right in there with Boston, New York and Detroit in the American League race.

Luke Easter, the team's giant new negro rightfielder, deserves much credit for the Indians' resurgence. Luke's hustle, his genuine brilliance afield where little was expected of him, and his tremendous power at the plate seem to have combined to instill a winning spirit in his team-mates.

INSECURE AT THIRD

Only at third does Boudreau really feel insecure. It appears that Ken Keltner, one of the main stars of the '48 team, is not going to come back and that either Al Rosen or Leo Thomas will have the job.

Otherwise, the only point in the line-up which resembles a question mark is first base. The veteran Mickey Vernon looks no better than fair.

Boudreau looks great, as though he might have several more years of top play in his system.

Joe Gordon also seems like his old self, which is to say the best second baseman in the American League. Johnny Bernardina and Roberto Avila offer extremely good infield replacement.

Ray Murray, a big raw-boned 21-year-old brought up from Oklahoma City, has added power to the Cleveland catching staff. His distance hitting has won him a starting berth alongside the competent Jim Hegan.

SET FOR BIG YEAR

Larry Doby, fleet negro centrefielder, is revived in spirit after an unhappy sophomore season and appears set for a big year.

The third member of the Tribe's all-southpaw-hitting outfield is Dale Mitchell, the only regular who hit over .300 last year. When he chooses to play the percentage against lefthanded pitching, Boudreau can insert three talented righthand swingers in Allie Clark, Bob Kennedy and Thurman Tucker.

If Bob Feller can take up where he left off last season, when he won eight of his last ten games, the Indians' pitching should be something to gawk at. They don't come any better than Bob Lemon, and Mike Garcia. Gene Bearden and Early Wynn fill out a sterling five to compare with any in the league.

Mechanical Hurler Pitches 8-0 Win

RALEIGH, N.C., April 5 (AP)—A mechanical pitcher that does batting-practice duty for Wake Forest College pitched an 8-0 victory for the Deacons over North Carolina State College today in an exhibition baseball game.

The game was run off as an otherwise-regulation affair, with umpires making the calls on the machine pitcher. The mechanical hurler was charged with seven walks, and one wild pitch. It struck out one State player.

See James Bay Returning To Boxla Loop

A strong possibility that J.B.A.A. would return to the local senior "B" lacrosse league was disclosed at a special meeting of the Greater Victoria Box Lacrosse Association Tuesday night.

Tom Carney, spokesman for the J.B.A.A., indicated that the Bays' entry was practically assured and that an application would be in the hands of the association secretary before entries close on April 15. The club did not operate last season after being a fixture in city lacrosse circles for many years.

The session was called by President Ed Popham to clear up any misunderstandings among the clubs and to pave the way for the loop's activities. Due to persistent rumors of dissatisfaction in Victoria boxla circles, Popham called for, and received, a vote of confidence in his office without a dissenting ballot.

RETAIN ENTRANCE FEE

Teams voted to retain the existing entrance fee in the league and raised the protest fee to five dollars from the former two. The raised protest fee was passed over the negative vote of the Foul Bay delegation.

In the event the Arena is available for league contests, it was decided to set an admission price of 35 cents for regularly scheduled games. Andy Ovcharick was appointed referee-in-chief with power to select officials for all games and any persons interested in officiating in the Victoria league were requested to contact him.

Next meeting of the association was called for April 18.

Better Golf

By SAM SNEAD

High up in the list of the ten most important rules of good golf I would place this one: PLAY YOUR OWN GAME. I have seen too many golfers of all classes defeat themselves by attempting to imitate, in some respects, the good play of opponents. Think the shots out for yourself. Then make them. Every golfer at some time or other has had the temptation of trying to match, let's say, his drive with the long powerful drive of some opponent. Don't do that. Play YOUR game. And you'll score better. Now to the picture. In the effort to apply more power than can be controlled with rhythm too many players start down fast from the top. The picture shows you the slow area. Up there start the hands down slowly. You should "gather" your stroke as the clubhead moves with ever-accelerating speed from the top down through the hitting area into the ball. Start slow, gather speed as the pivot arms and hands flow into the stroke. And prefer, always, rhythm to power.

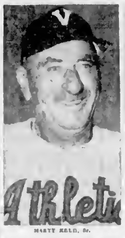
Marty Krug Started, Finished Baseball in Infield; Hindered Through Career by Series of Injuries

By JIM TANG



MARTY KRUG, Sr.

KAMLOOPS, April 5.—It was time to start doing thumbnail sketches of the new members of the Victoria Athletics and it was only natural that I started with Manager Marty Krug. Four hours later, I had enough material for a serial. Reminiscing as only a man with 40 years in baseball can, Krug turned off the main path dozens of times to recount as many interesting sidelights, but established these facts, which clear up the conflicting stories of his diamond career:

1. He was not an outfielder, but started and finished baseball as an infielder, playing shortstop and second base.

2. He did not play in the 1912 world series but was a member of the winning Boston Red Sox, missing action because of an injury.

3. He is 62 years of age.

GOOD BALL PLAYER

Krug was never a big league star but he was a good ball player. A succession of injuries at crucial points in his career kept him from realizing the most out of his baseball ability. A Winter in the Cuban League was directly responsible for his first chance in the big time in 1912, but an injury forced him back into the minors the following season. Ten years later, after becoming one of the youngest managers in baseball in a four-year stint at Omaha, he came back to the majors to play a season at second base with the Chicago Cubs. He never played with the Cincinnati Reds as has been reported.

PRO OFFER IN 1909

Krug was born in Germany in 1888 and was only 18 months old when his father, a brewmaster, brought his family to settle in Cleveland in 1890. Krug grew up and went to school in the Ohio metropolis. It was when he was 21 years of age, in 1909, that he received his first pro offer, accepting a bid from the Dayton club of the Central League. He had been playing with a Cleveland semi-pro team.

He recalls that his start in baseball was hardly a rousing success. It was the first time away from home and he admits he even skipped meals because he didn't know how to order meals in a restaurant and was too shy to make a forthright approach to the problem.

"Boy, I was really a busher," he laughed.

Less than two weeks after joining Dayton, Krug was back in Cleveland. Homesickness had the best of him and he just took French leave. He remained home for the balance of the season, but received a chance to go to Paris, Kentucky, to play in the Bluegrass League in the Spring of 1910.

It was his decision to accept the Paris offer that gave him the name he still carries. The family name was actually Krieg and his brother retains that spelling. Because many Americans pronounced it Craig, he was signed by Dayton under that name. When he went to Paris, he had no release from Dayton and adopted Krug on the suggestion from the manager.

Krug was at Columbia, South Carolina, in the South Atlantic League in 1911. In mid-season, the Columbia club received a letter from New Haven stating that New Haven had purchased a player from Dayton named Craig and that there was reason to believe that Craig and Krug were the same person. Krug immediately wrote to the Dayton club and persuaded the owner through a hard-luck story to sell him to Columbia, which paid $200 for his services.

Late in the 1911 season, Joe Sugden watched Columbia play while taking in a league game in the regular course of duties as a Red Sox scout. He put in a good report, although Krug recalls making four errors that game, and the Boston club acquired his services.

Krug accepted a chance to play in the first Cuban League to the Winter of 1911-12, performing on the same club as Mendez, known as the "black Mathewson" and one of the great pitchers of all time. Krug's Cuban baseball stood him in good stead at the Red Sox training base at Hot Springs, Arkansas in 1912. Fighting with three other players for the utility job which was open, Krug had a big edge in condition and his opposition fell by the wayside one by one, developing sore arms in an effort to keep up with the pace he was setting.

Krug had no chance to oust Heinie Wagner, the regular Red Sox shortstop, and it was past mid-season when Manager Jake Stahl decided to rest Wagner for a few games and try his rookie infielder.

Krug broke in at Detroit and probably few rookies had a rougher start. In his second game, Joe Wood was pitching for Boston and trying to extend a winning streak which had reached 16 consecutive games. About mid-game, Ty Cobb came to bat with two out and the bases loaded and the Red Sox ahead. Cobb lifted a high fly to short left field and Krug dropped it.

"It took a bad hop," he explained.

The error gave the Tigers the lead but the Sox went ahead again, only to lose later when Joe Engle, filling in for Manager Stahl at first base, booted one. However, the newspapers gave Rookie Krug the blame for ending Wood's bid for a new major league winning streak.

After the game, Wood, then an established star, walked back to the hotel with the erring rookie in a fine gesture which left a lasting impression on Krug.

Stahl left his rookie infielder in the line-up and Krug was going good when he received a badly-sprained ankle at St. Louis trying to upset the second baseman when out by a step on an attempted steal. He had a .312 batting mark at that time. It was almost ten years later before he played his next game in the majors.

"I think I was 'in' then," Krug says now. He was still unable to play when the Red Sox downed the Giants in an eight-game series, finally decided on the famous muff by Snodgrass which defeated Christy Mathewson. Boston was led by the Tris Speaker-Duffy Lewis-Harry Hooper outfield, generally rated the best flyshagging threesome of all time.

Krug was sent to Indianapolis in 1913, threw a hip out while stealing, and injured his throwing arm when hit as he was trying to complete a double play. He was sent down to Omaha to the Western League for the 1914 season and was made manager in 1915. He was only 27, an almost unheard-of age for managers in those times. Omaha won the pennant in 1916 in his second season. He stayed through 1917 and went to work in a shipyard when the United States entered the war in 1918.

Salt Lake City, then in the Coast League, purchased his contract in 1918 and he played there through the 1920 season and in Portland to 1921.

Chicago Cubs found themselves needing a second baseman for one year before the start of the 1922 season, and their scouts recommended Krug as the player most likely to help. He was bought from Portland and became the regular second baseman that season.

Sent to Los Angeles in 1923, he was unexpectedly made manager before the season opened. Krug remained at the helm of the Angels through 1923-24-25-26-27 and 1928 but was relieved by Jack Lelivelt in 1929 although his club was in first place at the time of the change.

Then came ten years as a Detroit scout, a job which ended when the Tigers cut their farm system following the Landis purge which freed a large number of their better prospects. Krug hooked on with Hollywood as a scout but spent two seasons on the coaching lines helping out Manager Charlie Root. He became West Coast scout of the Philadelphia Phils in 1946. He remained with the Phils through 1948 and was out of baseball in 1949 until signed by Victoria late in the year to manage the 1950 A's.

Salem Senators' Program of Hustle Aimed at Better Standing This Year

By FRED E. ZIMMERMAN
Salem Capital Journal

SALEM, Ore., April 5 (AP)—Salem Senators, sixth place finishers in Western International League competition for the last two seasons, are determined to do a better job of it this year.

And, judging by the crop of candidates now in training on the Oregon State College campus at Corvallis, just 35 miles distant, there seems to be some basis for the optimistic attitude.

For one thing the Senators are committed to a program of hustle. Ad Liska, player manager, former No. 1 pitcher for Portland Beavers, indicated at the outset that the candidate who didn't put everything he had into the training schedule would be the first to be cut loose, regardless of previous record.

Liska, a submarine pitcher, believes he is good for a number of wins in W.I.L. competition, although he found Pacific Coast hitting a bit too rugged last year. The balance of the mound staff will include a number of last year's hurlers, plus several strong-armed lads from other circuits.

NEW LEFTHANDERS

Lefthanders will include Ken Wyatt, former Salem and Portland chucker, who spent last season in Alaska, and Ludwig Lew, once the property of Cincinnati Reds. Stan Olson, a star performer for Klamath Falls of the far west loop in 1949, has joined the Senators, as has Gene Valentine, a good-looking chap from Minnesota. Valentine was with Portland Beavers in their Riverside, Calif., training camp and is in excellent condition.

Other prospective pitchers are Ken Courtin, formerly with Idaho Falls of the Pioneer League; Bob Stevenson, back with Senators after being out of service last season, Walter Lord and Victor Wilejto, two recruits from Burns Lake, B.C., proteges of George Norgan, owner of the Portland and Salem clubs, John Surak and Dick Waibel. Surak joined Salem late last season and showed considerable promise. Waibel is a rookie.

Bill Beard, last year's player-manager, is expected to carry most of the catching load. An experienced receiver, Beard's hitting suffered last season because of his managerial chores. Currently striving for backstopping assignments are Frank McMillan, a member of the 1949 club, and Bob Courage, who was farmed out for greater experience after a brief spell a year ago with the Senators.

Although there are numerous candidates for infield positions, it is virtually certain that the lineup for the first game will find Dick Bartle at first, Wayne Peterson at second, Nick Muti at short and Bob Haddock at third.

Peterson replaced Al Spaeter in mid-season last year when the latter was traded to Tacoma. Bartle, a University of Oregon product, spent last season with Medford of the Far West League where he hit .365. Muti clubbed out a strong .375 for Vallejo and Modesto of the same loop in 1949. Haddock was with Pittsburgh of the Far West League, where he drove in 104 runs.

WASLEY IN OUTFIELD

In the outfield will be Mel Wasley, stubby fly chaser who blasted 23 home runs last season with the Solons; Harold Zurcher of the Boise club of the Pioneer League and Claude Buckley. Zurcher and Buckley were with Salem for short periods last season but were turned over to lower classification circuits to gain more experience.

UNBALANCED WHEELS ARE DANGEROUS AS A COBRA
In addition to uneven tire wear unbalanced wheels generate these troubles!

1. Vibration affects the steering mechanism.
2. Shock absorber links may be loosened.
3. Frame and body of car may be loosened.
4. Grease and oil are pounded out.
5. Uniform and effective brake application is impaired.

WE HAVE JUST INSTALLED THE LATEST IN WHEEL BALANCING EQUIPMENT

NEW CAR PRICES MAY FALL BECAUSE

Peak high prices of new cars, and the stiff down payments required, together with cut-rate prices offered on trade-ins, may result in new-car prices backing up still more and before long the 1950 new cars may remain on showroom floors for a long time, all over the country . . .

BECAUSE

Money is tightening up, and good used cars have become cheap now — we believe they have reached bottom for the Summer. In fact the fine Spring weather may force the prices back up temporarily.

Now is the time, if you want a car, to get one.

IT'S AN ILL WIND — $7250

It blew one of our clients into demanding that I sell her property at a bargain price. Owing to unforeseen circumstances she must give up her home as soon as possible. The price being asked is $3,000 below what it cost her eighteen months ago. Situated on a fine boulevarded street, this property is a gift at the price asked. From a fine hall you enter into a large living-room, the dining-room is guest-size. All this is a modernized cabinet kitchen; two very good bedrooms and a three-piece bathroom; full basement and drive-in garage. Good garden with fruit trees and fish pools.

Take My Word For It
By Frank Colby

WHAT'S THE ORIGIN OF THE NAME CANADA?

Q We've searched our college library for the origin of the name Canada, but without success. Please set our minds at rest, will you?

A. I am indebted to the office of the Ambassador of the Dominion of Canada for the information in this article.

The exact origin remains in doubt, but the name Canada is believed to be a word of the Huron-Iroquois language meaning, "a collection of lodges," hence, an Indian village.

In a narrative describing his second voyage to Canada in 1535, the French explorer Jacques Cartier (zhak kar-TYAY) wrote: "Ils appellent une ville—Canada" they (the Indians) call a village "canada."

There is an amusing theory, now held to be groundless, that before Cartier began his voyage to the New World, some Spanish or Portuguese adventurer, finding no gold there, vented his wrath by shouting at his Indian guides: "Aca nada!" ("nothing here!") pronounced: ah-KAH NAH-dah. The Indians picked up the phrase and later repeated it to Cartier to indicate their country.

Nothing is certain except that Canada is of Indian origin. Whatever its original meaning, early French explorers took it to be the native name of the country. In 1763, Canada and its dependents were ceded to the British, and the name was retained, coming into official English usage in 1791 when the country was divided into the provinces of Upper Canada (now Ontario) and Lower Canada (now Quebec).

Belvidere: What is the meaning and origin of the word baccalaureate, and how is it pronounced—W. A. McG.

Answer: In American usage, baccalaureate relates to the college degree of bachelor; it also designates the baccalaureate sermon at commencements. The word is a corruption of the Latin bacalaris, which originally meant "a tenant farmer," and from which the word bachelor evolved. Say: BAK-uh-LAW'ree-it.

Your Health and Your Weight

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

OVERWEIGHT HEART PATIENTS

When a middle-aged man or woman puts on excess weight, his physician may discover that his blood pressure is high and that the punch or power behind the heart beat has increased so that it may soon tire or weaken the heart muscle. This means then to prevent the blood pressure increasing to supply blood for the extra fat on the body, he must reduce his daily food intake.

While reducing weight by eating less food and letting the excess fat on the body supply some of the daily food need, the foods usually prescribed are bulky foods such as cabbage, cauliflower, lettuce and other leafy vegetables. These are good foods because they are rich in minerals and vitamins, giving the individual a "full" feeling, but the food value is so low that the overweight feels weak and discouraged. He feels the need of more concentrated foods such as meat, eggs, butter and bread. Unfortunately, also these bulky foods with low fuel value cause flatulence (gas). Gas pressure must be avoided by all heart or high blood pressure patients, as gas interferes with proper heart action. The problem then is to eat nourishing food, reduce weight, and be as free of gas pressure as possible.

In the book, "Practical Dietetics in Health and Disease," Dr. Sanford Blum, San Francisco, gives some practical suggestions for overweight middle-aged men and women with high blood pressure and early signs of a failing heart. Among the suggestions are: Do not eat when hot or excited. Do not overeat. Do not eat rapidly. Take small meals of solid foods. The day's diet may include a small quantity of meat twice daily, but it is preferable to substitute eggs or fish or poultry for meat, once daily. Eat simple foods, avoiding such mixtures as very hot and very cold, or sweet and sour, food at the same meal. Have foods prepared plain, omitting sauces, gravies, condiments.

Meats should be boiled, steamed, broiled, baked or roasted. Eat steaks, chops, roast beef, mutton, chicken, white meat of turkey, game, lamb, boiled ham.

Avoid cooked fats, tongue, corned beef, liver, goose, sausage, bacon, pork.

Eat oysters raw and avoid all other shell fish. Eat fresh white fish, but avoid preserved, salt or canned fish, also avoid salmon, herring and mackerel. Fish should not be fried or cooked with sauce.

Eat all light cooked vegetables—peas, string beans, carrots, tomatoes. Avoid starchy vegetables—corn, turnips, beets. Avoid onions, cabbage, cucumbers, garlic and raw vegetables. Do not eat condiments—mustard, catsup, tabasco.

Eat fresh and stewed fruits. Salads should contain no oil.

Avoid hot breads, rolls, muffins, pancakes.

THE VARIOUS REDUCING DIETS

When an overweight depends entirely on some "medicine"—dinitrophenol, benzedrene sulfate, dexedrine sulfate, thyroid and other gland extracts — to reduce his weight, instead of reducing his food intake, he fails to remember that even if he gets some reduction in weight, he'll always have to use medicine to keep his weight down. On the other hand, if he gradually reduces his weight by reducing his food intake he will acquire the habit of eating less food, will feel lighter in body and brighter in mind, with no need of the "boost" that is given by medicines such as benzedrene sulfate and desedrine sulfate.

Now that overweight is considered a disease or ailment needing the services of a physician, it is interesting to study the reduction diets as prescribed by outstanding specialists in nutrition and weight reduction.

I have spoken before of the various systems to reduce excess weight outlined in "Handbook of Therapy" issued by the American Medical Association. In the Banting system the proteins — meat and eggs — are increased because these foods are body builders, give strength and a more "satisfied" feeling than other foods; in fact, have more "dynamic" energy. In the Banting system also there is a great reduction in fat and starch foods. In the Epstein system the usual or normal amount of proteins is allowed, and, strange to say, considerable fat allowed, but a great reduction in starch foods — sugar, bread, potatoes. In the Von Norden system the proteins are increased and the fats reduced, with very great reduction in starch foods. In the Oertel treatment the proteins are increased, the fats reduced, and the starch foods greatly reduced. In the Hirschfeld treatment all kinds of foods are greatly reduced. The Karell treatment is an absolute milk diet, the amount depending on the condition of the patient. In the Schweninger treatment the intake of fluids is greatly reduced.

From the above it can be seen how much alike are the various systems of reducing weight; no decrease, even a slight increase in protein foods and a reduction in all other kinds of foods—fat, starches, liquids. It has been well said that no one can get fat on food they do not eat.

The banana diet as outlined some years ago by Dr. George Harrop, Philadelphia, consists of six bananas and a quart of skimmed milk to be eaten in the three meals or more spread apart according to the habits of the individual. Buttermilk made from skim milk may be used instead of the ordinary skimmed milk. Lettuce and cabbage with mineral oil dressing may be taken with one of the meals each day. Where the healthy overweight is willing to take some exercise, the above diets will all be sufficient to maintain health, and he will get rid of his excess fat in less time. Even a daily walk will be helpful, not only in reducing weight, but maintaining the circulation of the blood and strengthening heart and lungs.

FOOD NEEDS OF TEEN-AGERS

Parents often marvel at the great amount of food eaten by teen-agers and wonder why all the food eaten doesn't "show" as many of them are so thin. What parents forget is that approaching puberty (12 to 14 in girls and 14 to 16 in boys), there is more growth than at any other period, in fact about twice as much for the same length of time.

In measuring the amount of food needed by the body to learn if the thyroid gland is normal, the surface measurement of the skin is taken. It can be seen that boys and girls growing into manhood and womanhood are going to need as much food, according to these skin or surface measurements, as their parents. Added to this is the fact that the boy and girl need extra food for growth and development. So if boys and girls at this age are not eating as much as their parents, then it is likely they are not getting outdoors enough to develop an appetite. In some cases, at the puberty age, despite the extra food eaten, there is no gain in weight because the thyroid gland at this time is overactive and burns up the food rapidly. On the other hand, some youngsters grow fat and "tubby" because the thyroid, sex, and other glands are underactive. Fortunately, in the majority of cases, the end of the puberty years finds weight and development to be in normal condition.

As puberty may be early or late, parents should consult their physician if there is not the normal growth and development at this time. In "The Journal of the American Medical Association," Dr. Joseph A. Johnston (Henry Ford Hospital, Detroit) emphasizes the variations in time of onset of puberty. Though 13 is the average time for menarche or puberty in girls, it may "normally" occur at any time from 10 to 18. Just before it occurs, the thyroid gland may become overactive (hyperthyroidism). During this growth spurt the food elements used in making muscles and bones (nitrogen in meat, eggs, fish; calcium in milk and green vegetables) must be stored in increased quantities and therefore must be eaten in increased quantities. To meet the needs of girls (and boys also) at this time they must have a daily diet of one quart of milk, one serving of cereal, three slices of bread, two large servings of meat, fish or cheese, soup containing milk, and a dessert containing egg and milk (custard). In cases where the thyroid gland has been underactive, the boy or girl will increase in weight; sometimes there is a very great increase. Instead of cutting down to any extent to keep down the weight, many physicians prescribe small doses of thyroid extract, perhaps only ¼ to ½ daily, which helps to use up some of the excess fat.

How It Started

By JEAN NEWTON

THAT WORD "FABRICATE"

A fabrication is a lie only incidentally. The person who tells a lie is said to "fabricate," because this word means to build, to construct, to form a whole out of parts—and this is what occurs when one tells an untruth. It is an extension of meaning of the primary sense of to "fabricate," whose derivation is from the Latin "fabricare," to build, to frame, to forge.

What is perhaps most interesting about this verb, "fabricate," is that it draws attention to the less obvious word "fabric." This is a more complicated term, with something of a surprise to reveal for the person who regards "fabric" as first of all a kind of cloth, another name for yard goods.

"Fabric" is, of course, a textile term. We speak of a beautiful fabric or a long-wearing fabric and there can be no doubt of the word's significance. What is incorrect is the assumption that an allusion such as "the whole fabric of society" is in the nature of metaphor. For fabric as the structure of anything is the essential of the word, its primary meaning, and the reference to cloth or silk fabric an extension of this.

"Fabric" has this sense of structure of anything from its source in the Latin "fabrica," which also accounts for the word "forge." And, like the lie which is a "fabrication" because it is something "made up," so fabric is a cloth because this is woven or knitted—made!

Culbertson on Bridge

(Copyright, 1950, by Ely Culbertson)

After a recent duplicate game, a well-known expert had to take quite a ribbing for what had happened to him on the following board:

South, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable

NORTH

SOUTH
♠ 9 5

♣ A Q

At most of the tables South became declarer at four hearts, usually on this auction:

South	West	North	East
1 ♥	Pass	2 ♥	Pass
4 ♥	Pass	Pass	Pass

At a few tables North took over the play at three no trump, but regardless of the final contract, only one North-South pair failed to score game on the board—and that pair included the disgruntled expert referred to above!

At his table the contract was four hearts, with himself declarer, and West made the same lead that several other Wests chose, namely, the spade deuce. At these other tables, however, South could not go wrong. Whether East, after taking the first trick with the spade queen, shifted to diamonds or clubs, the declarer was forced to finesse (or surrender), and the success of this finesse was in effect the success of the contract. South could knock out the spade ace and discard a loser on the established third spade in dummy.

Our well-known expert, however, had rougher sailing! East at his table unhesitatingly put the spade ace on dummy's ten at the first trick, and shifted to a low club!

Consider the "fixer" that this was for South! Apparently, all he had to do was put up the club ace, draw trumps, take the "proved" spade finesse, discarding the club queen on the spade king—and then a favorable position of the missing diamonds would let him give up only one trick in that suit and make five-odd. Whereas, if South took the club finesse at the second trick, it would (apparently) do him no good if it won, and would cost an important overtrick if it lost.

So naturally, South declined the club finesse. He put in the ace, drew trumps, and confidently led his remaining spade to the jack. East could not quite restrain a chuckle as he won the trick and cashed the club king — and the chuckle spread when South still had to give up a diamond and actually go down at four hearts!

Improvements Started on Wharf Site

—Colonist Photo

A substantial start has been made on major improvements to Federal Government wharf site, located immediately adjacent to Johnson Street bridge. Buildings seen at right in above picture are to be removed from wharf and placed on area seen in centre—where preparations are under way for placement of concrete foundations. Entire wharf at right, is to be torn down and rebuilt. Wharf facilities are used by Federal ships, including William J. Stewart, hydrographic survey vessel, and C.G.S. Estevan, lighthouse tender. Wharf contract was recently awarded to Pacific Pile Driving Co. Ltd.

Crew of Hydrographic Survey Ship Busy Preparing for Voyage North

—Marine News—

By RAY WORMALD

Activities are humming aboard the Federal Hydrographic Survey ship William J. Stewart as men make preparations for departure from this port on a trip which will take them into northern British Columbia waters for about six months.

Since completing her last year's survey work last October the 228-foot vessel has been tied up at her Government jetty immediately adjacent to the Johnson Street bridge.

William K. Willis, district engineer for the Dominion's Department of Mines and Technical Surveys in Victoria—under which the William J. Stewart operates—said yesterday the ship would leave on or about April 17.

NEWLY OVERHAULED

Just recently she completed an extensive annual overhaul at Victoria Machinery Depot Co. Ltd., and prior to sailing north for the season will undergo various tests and trials in the Strait of Juan de Fuca. The test trip is scheduled for April 13.

Most of the survey ship's work this year, reported Mr. Willis, will be done in and about Queen Charlotte Strait, and Squally Channel. The latter waterway is located between Gill and Campaign Islands. (In this rugged area is located Princess Royal Island where a large search was conducted in February for 17 airmen from a U.S. bomber which was ditched in the vicinity.) The ship spent considerable time in that area during last year's operations.

CREW COMPLETE

Her crew is now complete, Mr. Willis said, and the ship will carry her normal complement of about 62 officers and men.

Capt. George Billard of Victoria is master of the ship.

The smaller hydrographic survey ship Parry, which has been undergoing an overhaul at V.M.D., is due to commence her season's work around April 19. She will function in "inside waters" of the British Columbia coastline. Her first survey project will take her to Whale Channel, between Princess Royal and Gill Islands. The survey project there started last year.

Study Halibut, Whales

Extraction of commercial quantities of insulin from halibut and whales on the Pacific Coast is being given serious consideration by the Federal Fisheries Department.

"Trade News," a Fisheries Department publication, reports its Pacific experimental station—located at Nanaimo—is looking into the question.

Canadian scientists looked for new sources of insulin in view of the fact demand for the product has doubled every five years since 1930—while the normal supply, from beef pancreas, is reasonably fixed.

"From investigations made during the Summer of 1945," the department states, "it would appear that the most promising sources of insulin on this coast are to be found in halibut and whales."

How to preserve those sections of the fish from which insulin is extracted is one of the many problems involved. In current experiments the fish are frozen almost immediately after being caught.

Ship Aground Off New York

NEW YORK, April 5 (AP)—One ship ran aground and another vessel was rammed and badly damaged in the pre-dawn fog outside New York Harbor early today. No one was reported hurt.

A 8,214-ton freighter, The Hurricane, went aground on a sand bar near Fire Island, a resort spot in the Atlantic off the southern shore of Long Island.

The ship was described as "riding high" out of the water. A Coast Guard cutter was standing by, while a tug was ordered to the scene to try to dislodge the stranded freighter.

In the other mishap, a 91-foot schooner, the Edith Boudreau, was rammed in a dense fog about 15 miles southeast of the harbor entrance by an unidentified vessel.

The schooner, a gaping hole punched in its bow, limped into New York Harbor under its own power, while the crew worked to prevent it from taking on more water.

DREDGING COMPLAINT

NEW WESTMINSTER, April 5 (CP).—The Federal Government is not ignoring the Fraser River, says Chairman K. K. Reid of the New Westminster Harbor Board.

He was replying to criticism from President W. B. Lanigan of the Pacific Coast Terminals Co. Ltd., who said the Government was doing more dredging in the St. Lawrence than in the Fraser.

The Public Works Department is continually dredging the river, Mr. Reid said, even to the extent of hiring an extra dredge. The Government was spending $2,000,000 for south jetty construction at Steveston, which would make a permanent improvement in the channel.

In 1947 the port had a record total of 362 deepsea ships. The drop to 290 the following year was due to the Fraser River flood. Last year the total was 330.

B.C. Coast Guard Plans Remain in Study Stage

Almost a year has passed since it was proposed that a coast guard service for the British Columbia Coast be inaugurated through use of practically all Government agency vessels on the coast, and yesterday Hon. R. W. Mayhew, Minister of Fisheries, reported the matter was still being given active consideration.

In a telephone interview, the Minister, in Vancouver, made it clear nothing definite had been done to date. Serious consideration had been given to the plan over the past several months, he said, but there was much work to be done yet before the coast guard plan would be actually functioning.

NO DATE SET

He couldn't say whether the service would be in effect within six months, or even a year. Nor had it been decided where headquarters of the service would be located, although reports from Ottawa dating back to last October indicated in a definite manner that Vancouver would be the site.

In answer to a question about the headquarters, Mr. Mayhew said he had not actually recommended Victoria as its location, but he added: "Can you think of a better place?"

The whole coast guard plan, he claimed, was "still in its formative stage." It would be quite a time, he said, before completion of plans was reached.

Under the proposed coast guard plan, Federal and Provincial ships of the coast, police craft, the R.C.A.F. and R.C.N., and even private vessels would be available for service in assisting any ship in distress.

CO-ORDINATING CENTRE

It is understood headquarters of the service would include a central co-ordinating room similar to operating rooms of the R.C.A.F. and R.C.N. during wartime. This room would be equipped with charts showing the location of all available vessels. In time of distress, the central authority would be empowered to direct the nearest ship to the scene of any marine disaster or vessel in difficulty.

Separate Coast Guard Held Unlikely

OTTAWA, April 5 (CP).—Measures for developing some form of coast guard service for Canada still are under study by a Federal interdepartmental commitee, Government sources said today.

A report to Cabinet is expected shortly from the committee, which is in the final stages of a survey that has been under way for several months.

Well-posted officials indicated there was little likelihood of a committee recommendation for the creation of a separate coast guard at this time.

More likely, it was suggested, would be proposals for co-ordinating existing Government facilities for search and rescue at sea and inland waters, which now are scattered through several departments.

At Vancouver yesterday, Fisheries Minister Mayhew was quoted as saying that "the coast guard is well on its way to being organized" and would be "in partial operation this year."

Heading for Northern Waters

Federal Government's hydrographic survey ship, William J. Stewart, pictured above at her jetty by Johnson Street Bridge, is to leave city shortly for survey project in Northern British Columbia waters which will keep her away until next October. Most of her crew, numbering about 62—are from Victoria. Ship has been tied up here since finishing last year's season.

Comox Site Considered For Sea Cadets' Centre

NANAIMO, April 5.—The possibility of a second large coastal sea cadet training camp at Comox is under consideration. If it comes about it will be a Navy project and will train cadets from Port Arthur westward.

This news was given to the Vancouver Island Division of the Navy League of Canada, which met here Monday night, by Commander Douglas Elliott, Dominion naval sea cadet officer.

The suggestion has been made by President Forrest Shaw that the Division assume the responsibility for the camp, a course which Commander Elliott warned against because of the great cost involved. He made it clear there was nothing definite as yet but the Comox camp was receiving serious consideration.

President Shaw pointed out there had been some criticism of Camp Latona because of its isolation and the fact that winds there were not always favorable. Commander Elliott pointed out that the Vancouver Division Navy League had heavy financial interests in Camp Latona, and would have to be consulted.

REPORTS ENCOURAGING

The Division heard encouraging reports of sea cadet work from Victoria, Port Alberni, and Nanaimo. Port Alberni had made great strides in providing a headquarters, now valued at over $7,000. Victoria has done considerable in fostering junior cadets 12 to 14 years, as a basis for the senior corps and the expansion of these junior corps was considered by delegates to be valuable.

Warm tribute was paid to Nanaimo's commanding officer, Lieut. Taylor, and to the local corps for carrying on with high attendance despite lack of any permanent quarters.

OUTLINES AIMS

Commander Elliott outlined the basic objectives of the sea cadets, told of a national sea cadet committee set up by the Navy League, with a national administrator who was expected to be his deputy. Lieut. Commander K. E. Grant, the objective of 10,000 for the corps; change of the cadet badge from red to white in the same design, change in the cadet "flash" to white with a maple leaf and the cap tally to the spelling out of the corps name. He announced a leaders' course for the East Coast for 150 and an officers' training course for 100 at Winnipeg; also that six sea cadets will train in Sweden this Summer.

Victoria announced that maintenance of Prince Robert House in Victoria was being kept up and provided many services for naval men from across Canada. A branch assessment from across the Dominion was assisting.

President Shaw epitomized the value of cadet training with the thought that "atom bombs will destroy but they will never capture anything . . . the navy and the infantry will still be needed."

Mr. Shaw was re-elected president of the Division.

Other officers elected were: J. C. Dakin, Nanaimo, vice-president; Col. Thomas Moore, Victoria, secretary, and E. Stoneham, treasurer.

Campbell River School To Be Opened April 28

Special to The Colonist

CAMPBELL RIVER, April 5.—Hon. W. T. Straith, Minister of Education, will officiate at the formal opening of the Campbell River elementary junior-senior high school at 2 p.m. Friday, April 28.

This was announced at a meeting of school trustees for District 72.

Several applications have been received for use of the new school auditorium. A scale of charges has been worked out for non-profit organizations.

UP TO SCHOOL BOARD

Hiring of the auditorium will be left to the discretion of the school board.

Board members agreed that a 5½-acre site for a new school at Whaletown be purchased for $500.

In a letter, Mrs E Luoma, representative for Granite Bay, reports that the school there, built in 1911, is worn out and obsolete and residents are asking for a new school. The board is taking the matter into consideration.

TOASTMASTERS MEET

Campbell River toastmasters met at a dinner meeting in the Willows Hotel, Tuesday. Toastmaster for the evening was Richard Whittingham. John R. Caldwell acted as table topic master, and his topic was "Capital Punishment."

Main speaker was Carl O. Thulin, who gave an interesting account of the early history of Campbell River.

Victor Heller gave an impromptu speech; Leonard Rossiter delivered a very humorous reading; Herb Hiquebran, William Carlyle, and Arthur Clinton, each gave five minute talks. General evaluator and critic for the evening, was Cpl. J. D. L. Gray, of the B.C. Police.

Somass Legion Criticizes Alberni M.P.

Special to The Colonist

PORT ALBERNI, April 5. — The Canadian Legion Somass branch held its regular monthly meeting in the Legion Hall at Alberni on April 4.

Highlights of the meeting came from the floor where the Federal member for Comox-Alberni was criticized for asserted non-fulfillment of promises made at joint meetings of the Alberni and Port Alberni branches of that body. He had promised, members said, to fight and support the legislation for the retention of the veterans' committee in the House at Ottawa.

COMPLAIN OF INACTION

A letter from the Courtenay branch of the Legion also complained of this alleged inaction on the part of Mr. Gibson. Newspaper reports and Hansard had not shown any action on Mr. Gibson's part. They regretted Mr. Gibson's action but had asked the member to correct this information if it was wrong.

After much discussion, of the matter a motion came from the floor of the meeting, inviting Major-General Pearkes, V.C., to visit the Alberni Valley and address all veterans in the district regarding legislation on Veterans' Affairs at Ottawa since the House convened.

NAME WELCOMED

The mention of Gen. Pearkes name met with the approval of the meeting and was greeted with applause. The veterans hope if possible to have Gen. Pearkes address them during the Easter vacation.

Gen. Pearkes is the Federal member for Nanaimo and The Islands and has taken an active part in Legislation affecting veterans.

Fishing Not Good But Boys Get Deer

COURTENAY, B.C., April 5 (CP).—It wasn't just what they were after, but the catch two local boys made was the biggest of their career.

In fact, they had to get an adult's help to get the thing off the hook. They had snagged a full-grown deer.

Hatchery official Ian Inglis cut the hook from the deer's ear and it trotted off into the woods.

Official Ceremonies to Mark Opening Of New Biological Station Monday

NANAIMO, April 5.—Official ceremonies on Monday, April 10 at 2 p.m. will mark the opening of the large addition to the Dominion Biological Station near Nanaimo.

Here for the opening of the 120 by 40 by 43 foot structure will be Hon. R. W. Mayhew, Dominion Fisheries Minister; Dr. G. B. Reed, chairman of the Fisheries Research Board; Prof. J. R. Dymond, vice-chairman and D. H. Sutherland, secretary and executive director; Major-General G. R. Pearkes, V.C., M.P., and many other official visitors.

The Biological Station, which started in 1908 with a staff of one man and commenced expansion in 1924, now has a staff of 35 scientists. In addition there are administration personnel. Director of the station is Dr. J. L. Hart.

ADDS 32 ROOMS

With the present development the station will add 32 office-laboratories, equipped with laboratory bench, sink and running fresh water, with adequate space for all other office equipment. Third and fourth floors will both contain one large laboratory with running fresh and salt water, gas and compressed air.

Each office-laboratory is assigned to one scientist or two technicians since it is the concensus of opinion that separate quarters for each scientist increases efficiency of work.

The two general laboratories are assigned essentially to Summer volunteer workers when office laboratories are not available.

The second floor contains the main entrance and on the north are eight office-laboratories and on the south three executive offices, main administration office, and reading or conference room.

NANAIMO, April 5.—"Every progressive step in history has had to hurt some one," said an elderly lady of the Brechin district when she phoned Mayor Earle C. Westwood following the ratepayers meeting in that area on city extension.

She told the mayor she had five lots and not much money and would have to pay more if city extension goes through. However, she said, the city must expand and "whatever happens to me I will vote for it."

Mayor Westwood was commended by Ald. P. J. Piper for the manner in which he handled the meeting at Brechin.

City Council and mayor are scheduled to meet Harewood ratepayers on the extension question on Wednesday night.

NANAIMO, April 5.—The lighting around the Scout Hut on Comox Road was discussed when directors of Nanaimo Rotary Club held an informal discussion on juvenile delinquency.

John Hart, past president of Rotary Club, wrote city council to tell them of the dark and difficult approach to the hut and to inform them that some younger boys had been bullied on the way to and from meetings. He suggested that two lights at the approach would be a good investment. The matter was turned over to lighting committee for investigation.

David Challenger, Campbell River High School, "San Francisco," Mary Grace Casenave, Tsolum High School, "Improvements Needed at Tsolum High School."

The speakers showed a thorough grasp of their subjects and Miss Golicz and Miss Petersen in particular dealt with abstract questions in a manner which indicated much study.

In charge of the contest was Rotarian William Booth, who presented the winner with the club's trophy. A special presentation saw club president Dr. Bruce Gordon hand over to Tsolum school principal J. T. Duncan Will Keep Tax Rate Steady Council Decides at Budget Meeting

DUNCAN, April 5.—Taxes in Duncan will not be raised this year. At a special meeting of the city council, at which the estimated budget was read, it was decided that no increase over the present 52 mills was necessary.

It was estimated that the total expenditure for this year will be $183,409.

Mayor J. O. Wragg told the council: "If it is at all possible, leave the mill rate where it is. We have a lot of pensioners and other people in this city who cannot easily face a tax increase." After the council had voted to retain the present rate, the mayor said: "You've done an excellent job on this council through the year, one that should serve as a fine example to other city councils in Canada."

NO BIG CUTS NEEDED

The question arose whether or not to cut down on maintenance throughout the city in order to hold the tax rate down but no major cut was found necessary. Expenditures on streets and sidewalks will have to be watched more closely this year, perhaps, than in other years, it was decided. The higher cost of schools was largely responsible for discussion on raising city taxes. The schools now take 54 cents out of every tax dollar, or 28 mills out of 52.

Tenders were received and read on construction of new sidewalks and Adanac Construction Company was awarded the contract.

Council endorsed a Chamber of Commerce proposal that the Postmaster-General institute mail delivery in Duncan. Council was divided on the question of whether mail delivery would hurt business in the city.

Cheque Charge Withdrawn

DUNCAN, April 5.—The charge against Thomas George, retired railway worker who cashed an Unemployment Insurance cheque that was not his, was withdrawn today in police court on authorization from the Attorney-General. The cheque, which was for $102.80, was given George by the post office. It had been wrongly made out with the intended recipient's name in two separate lines. The Post Office Department, and George, mistook the real owner's surname on the cheque for code letters.

Mr. Dobinson is retiring after 34 years of service with the company. The agent, Miss Doris Lawson, on behalf of the guests, presented Mr. Dobinson with a wrist watch, and a toast was proposed by the senior operator, Miss Gladys Work.

Reeve Urges Portage Inlet Canal

A canal from Portage Inlet to Esquimalt Harbor to cleanse the inlet and the Gorge was urged by Saanich Reeve Joseph W. Casey in a speech to Camosun Toastmasters' Club last night at its meeting to Strathcona Hotel.

The canal is urgently needed because of pollution of Gorge and Portage Inlet waters by sewage, septic tank overflow and debris from the Inner Harbor, the reeve said.

The Dominion Government, which has charge of tidal waters, should finance the project, which would cost an estimated $150,000, Mr. Casey said. He suggested the Provincial Government, which is concerned because of the menace to health and the fact that 50 per cent of Portage Inlet shore land is Provincial, should put pressure on the Dominion.

Also, he added, the province's mental home dumps its sewage overflow into the Colquitz River and thence into Portage Inlet. A small percentage of Esquimalt territory and a fairly large amount of Saanich territory are involved. The city is also concerned because of Inner Harbor pollution which flows into the Gorge.

The canal would lead from the inlet to Thetis Cove in Esquimalt Harbor. There would be two locks, one on the canal and the other at the Gorge Narrows at Curtis Point. Purpose of the locks would be to force the water to flow in from relatively clean Esquimalt Harbor, out into the Inner Harbor, so as not to suck in refuse. Small boats would be able to pass through the locks.

He mentioned that bathing in the Gorge, suspended for some years, might be restored if the canal were cut.

Other guests of the club were Herbert Durham, J. B Priestley and Maurice Shaw. The club welcomed one new member, George Olson.

Oak Bay May Regulate Erection of Antennae

An amendment to Oak Bay's Fire Regulation By-Law regulating the construction of radio and television antennae is being discussed by Oak Bay Council.

Although details of the plan are lacking, it is understood the amendment is aimed at reducing fire hazards, presumably from lightning, and lessening the hazard to firemen combating house fires.

Firemen in the past have experienced considerable trouble from elaborate aerials and their guy lines. If the amendment goes through, it is probable that antennae would have to be approved by an inspector.

The council is obtaining legal advice in the matter.

SUBDIVISION NAME

A. S. O. Musgrave, municipal engineer, suggested the name "Carnarvon Park" for the area set aside as park inside the old exhibition grounds. He said Carnarvon Street has always been the entrance to this particular section.

"I do not quite see how we can name the area generally. Certainly, it cannot be done officially, but it might be known as Carnarvon Subdivision. Carnarvon Heights, he said, would be a misnomer as the land is not really rising ground.

The engineer stressed that it was only a suggestion, and felt the idea of having a school children's contest was good. The matter was referred to the parks committee, under the chairmanship of Councillor Jack Ruttan.

COMPLAINS

George Phelps, 677 St. Patrick Street, complained to the council about a bus stop in front of his house. He claimed the buses stop there for ten minutes with engines running. The complaint is being handled by the transportation committee.

Untidy Lots In Oak Bay Criticized

Mrs. H. Barnard, 916 Island Road, complained to Oak Bay Council about untidy vacant lots and backyards.

"The war is over. How long will taxpayers have to be pestered by vacant lots and some people's backyards allowed to be seeding beds for every noxious weed," wrote Mrs. Barnard.

She complained of containers stuffed with dirty wrapping paper at the rear of houses, adding that the situation produced a fire hazard.

"Let the fire chief or anyone in authority walk along the rear lanes anywhere around Oak Bay and see the amount of cleaning up waiting for tenants and landlords. Here is a job for the Boy Scouts, and charge the land owners with the expense," concluded Mrs. Barnard.

Council referred the complaint to the fire chief.

Submit Report to City

Publicly-Owned Utilities Asked by Labor Council

A report recommending study of the advisability of municipal ownership of public utilities is being submitted to City Council by the Victoria Trades and Labor Council.

The report, based on studies of other Canadian cities where publicly-owned utilities have become a major source of municipal revenue, was endorsed at a meeting of the Labor Council last night.

A T.L.C. delegation, comprising C. A. Peck, president; Percy Rayment, secretary and Tom Gooderham will also approach the city regarding the implementation of a recent arbitration award of a 7½-cent hourly wage increase to city outside workers.

"PROVE GOOD FAITH"

The meeting endorsed a resolution calling on the mayor and council to "prove their good faith" by granting the increase awarded.

The city had "refused to honor its own signature" declared a delegate from the Civic Employees' Protective Association, bargaining agents for the outside workers.

The civic employees, originally seeking wage parity with Vancouver workers, had bound themselves to acceptance of the arbitration award, which, largely as a result of muddling on the part of the arbitration board chairman, was no longer considered binding by the city, he alleged.

CONDEMNS CABINET

The meeting also passed a resolution condemning the Provincial Cabinet for failing to reopen the I.C.A. Act during the last session of the Legislature.

Referring to recent statements by the Labor Minister that he wished to become further acquainted with the workings of the act, Fishermen's Union delegate, Elgin Neish, declared: "If he can't get acquainted with the I.C.A. Act in the time he's been in office, I think he should resign."

City Barrister Will Visit Ward Family

Victoria barrister Patrick J. Sinnott is related to a member of the family of the Hon. Peter Ward, whose rumored engagement to Princess Margaret Rose was reported by London newspapers.

Mr. Sinnott is a cousin of Hon. Mrs. Anne Ward, Peter Ward's aunt.

Mr. and Mrs. Sinnott and their daughter plan to visit the Ward family when they travel to England this Summer.

No official announcement has been issued on the rumored engagement, which is the latest in a series of reports about marital plans of the princess.

Peter Ward, now 24, attended Shawnigan Lake School from 1939 until 1942. He was among thousands of British children evacuated during the "blitz."

LONDON (CP).—For the first four years after the event, babies christened at St. Michael-at-Bowes, North London, receive a birthday card from the church.

Council Names Political Group

A committee for political action, similar to the one formed recently by the Vancouver Trades and Labor Council, was named hastily toward the end of last night's meeting of the Victoria Trades and Labor Council.

Idea of the committee was approved by a substantial majority, a number of whom, however, subsequently declined to serve on it when asked by council president C. A. Peck.

Named chairman was Wilson Money. Other members include Jack Driscoll, Elgin Neish, Gordon Graham and John Aubrey.

Formation of the committee followed criticism of the Provincial cabinet for failure to re-open the I.C.A. Act during the last session of the Legislature.

Crown Stays Proceedings In Theft Case

Joseph B. Clearihue, K.C., Assize Crown prosecutor, yesterday entered a stay of proceedings in the Crown's case against Gordon W. Rice, seaman.

Rice was charged with stealing a watch from Agnes Sawyer, 593 Johnson Street, and was committed for trial in city police court last October.

Charged with him was another youth, subsequently freed of theft charges after a third man, not charged, testified under the Canada Evidence Act that he had stolen the watch.

The third man was later charged with the theft but the charge was dismissed in county court.

In entering the stay of proceedings and asking Mr. Justice A. D. Macfarlane to release Rice's bail, Mr. Clearihue said the Attorney-General's department had given Rice permission to ship out of Canada on a freighter.

Son of Founder Takes Over Garage

Operation of the Uplands Garage and Motor Company, 2590 Cadboro Bay Road, has been taken over by Albert Coupland, son of the man who started the business 25 years ago.

A veteran of the Royal Canadian Navy, Mr. Coupland has been employed since his discharge in the Dockyard garage. The changeover was effective April 1. Mr. Coupland said yesterday he intends to retain the present staff.

Ice Arena in Oak Bay, Amalgamation Opposed in Letters From Residents

Opposition to construction of an ice arena in Oak Bay was voiced to a letter to Oak Bay Council last night by C. B. Reid, a former resident of the municipality who is in the process of returning.

"Whatever site should be proposed for such a purpose would be contrary to the policy already laid down (by the council) and would depreciate property values and impair the amenities of a large part of the municipality," stated Mr. Reid.

He wrote that the declared policy of the council at the time of purchase of the exhibition grounds was to develop Oak Bay as an entirely residential municipality Mr Reid contended that those with whom he has discussed the proposal are opposed unanimously to it and trust it will receive no encouragement from the council.

Council received and filed the letter.

AGAINST UNIFICATION

Support to Oak Bay Council's cold attitude toward amalgamation was given last night in two letters from residents to the council.

Albert A De Meary, 933 Foul Bay Road, said he was firmly convinced that the majority of Oak Bay residents are against any attempt at amalgamation which may result in the bringing of Oak Bay under the jurisdiction of the administration of Victoria.

"We feel content that the interests of our municipality are far better served as an independent corporation and we do not wish to share the burdens of Victoria and the irresponsibility of its administration.

ARENA REMINDER

"The history of the Memorial Memorial Arena will remain a painful reminder to all those people able to make logical conclusions. It is unquestionably provable that Oak Bay has nothing to gain but much to lose by an amalgamation . . ." stated Mr DeMeary.

Wrote B. R. Berrick, 1387 St David Street. "I regret to read in The Daily Colonist a recrudescence of the Greater Victoria amalgamation proposal in which it seems to be suggested that the Oak Bay representatives were in favor of reconsidering the position.

"While I realize that this report may purposely have been couched in such terms as to create an impression that the attitude of the Oak Bay councillors is more favorable to the other side than is actually the case, I hope that you may see your way to give an assurance, in some form, that would allay the apprehensions of myself . . "

Council received and filed the letters.

GRANT

A grant of $500 has been placed in the 1950 estimates for the Greater Victoria Celebrations Association.

Council decided to consider in committee applications for the position of medical health officer. Only applicant last night was Dr. David Longridge, 2418 Cranmore Road. Dr. Neil Stewart recently was appointed temporarily to the post.

Silent tribute was paid by the council to Dr W P Walker, former medical health officer, who died last week Dr Walker had been doing work for the municipality for 38 years.

TAG DAY

The Woman's Auxiliary to the Royal Jubilee Hospital was granted permission to hold a tag day May 6.

Condition Poor After Tumble

Condition of Miss L. M. Forbes, 1040 Burdett Avenue, injured in a fall Tuesday, is poor, Royal Jubilee Hospital authorities reported last night.

Miss Forbes received head injuries and multiple fractures of the right arm when she tumbled down a flight of stairs at 1006 Government Street. She is 70.

Saanich Seeks New Engineer

Saanich Council has instructed Municipal Clerk John B. Tribe to take steps to obtain a new engineer for the municipality.

H. D. Dawson, present engineer, is planning to resign some time after June when the municipality's large road program and reservoir are completed. Council has accepted his resignation with regret.

It is expected the municipality will make inquiries for a new engineer and also advertise.

Ducharme Case Among 18 Criminal Appeals Filed to Date

Appeals from convictions for murder, attempted murder, armed robbery, theft and forgery are among notices of appeal already filed in preparation for Tuesday's opening of Victoria sitting of the British Columbia Court of Appeal.

So far notices of 18 criminal appeals and seven civil appeals have been filed with Appeal Court clerks as the first step toward being heard before the Province's five highest judges headed by Chief Justice Gordon McG. Sloan.

Frederick Roger Ducharme of Vancouver will be battling to escape the gallows when he appeals from his conviction for the False Creek murder of Fern Blanche Fisher on or about the morning of last November 8.

His conviction followed a spectacular trial before Mr. Justice A. M. Mansen that ended March 22.

Nikola Pribick, also of Vancouver, will be appealing from his conviction for attempted murder handed down at the Vancouver Assizes on the grounds that there was no evidence to support his conviction.

Leo Tinant and Robert William Barber will tell Appeal Court that they were "denied the natural requirements of justice" in their trial before Magistrate Mackenzie Matheson in Vancouver. They were sentenced to two years in the penitentiary for stealing a car.

Leslie John, sentenced to five years and ten lashes on two counts of armed robbery and two of theft, will appeal his conviction by Magistrate L. Beevor-Potts. Three of his four alleged victims were women.

In two of the cases Appeal Court will be asked to quash lower court convictions on the grounds that new evidence has been turned up since the original trials were held.

In one of the cases a Vancouver Assize jury convicted Cuthbert Thomas Higgins of forgery. In the other William John Martin was sentenced to one year in jail for retaining property stolen from a Burial Cove logging camp.
